PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT.

ROAD CESS.

Dated Calcutta, the 28th October 1910.

RESOLUTION.

Receipts and Expenditure of the District Road Funds in the districts of Darjeeling, Singhbhum and Sonthal Parganas during 1909-10.

READ—

Annual Reports and Accounts for the year 1909-10.

Read again—

Annual Reports and Accounts of the District Road Funds for the previous year and the review thereon.

The opening credit balance of the year was Rs. 60,856, and the total receipts of the District Road Committees from all sources amounted to Rs. 2,81,159. The total amount available for expenditure was thus Rs. 3,42,015, of which Rs. 296,829 was spent, leaving a credit balance of Rs. 45,186 only at the close of the year. The closing balance in the districts of Darjeeling and Singhbhum was excessive, while in the Sonthal Parganas it was low. A number of bridges were built, several new roads constructed, and existing roads improved at a cost of Rs. 89,345.

2. The total expenditure on repairs was Rs. 1,01,515. One thousand four hundred and forty-five miles of district roads and 51 miles of village roads were maintained.

3. Rupees 1,051 were spent in planting and maintaining trees on road-sides and in nursery gardens in the districts of Singhbhum and the Sonthal Parganas.

4. The expenditure on establishment amounted to Rs. 31,669.

In the Darjeeling district no Engineer is employed. All the works and repairs in the hills of the district and most of these in the Terai, were executed by the members of the Committee and other private gentlemen to whom the thanks of Government are due for their assistance.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of this Resolution, together with the Annual Accounts of the District Road Funds, and abstracts from the reports of the Chairmen of the District Road Committees, be published in Part II of the Calcutta Gazette.

Ordered, also, that a copy of the Resolution, together with the Annual Accounts of the District Road Funds and abstracts from the reports of the Chairmen of the District Road Committees, be forwarded for information to the—

Commissioners of the Bhagalpur and Chota Nagpur Division;
Superintending Engineers of the Northern and Western Circle;
Accountant-General, Bengal;
Board of Revenue, Lower Provinces;
Financial Department of this Government.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

A. S. THOMSON,

Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

Extract from letter No. 407L.S.-G., dated the 5th July 1910, from H. C. STREATFEILD, ESQ., I.C.S., Commissioner of the Bhagalpur Division, to the Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Public Works Department.

* * * * * * * *

2. The lapse of the Government grant of Rs. 60,000 in 1908-09 made it impossible for the Committee to work according to the sanctioned budget estimate for 1909-10. The payment for works and repairs done in the previous year, which in the ordinary course of things, would have been made before the close of that year had no lapse occurred, had to be postponed till the year under report, and a great part of the funds for 1909-10 had thus to be diverted to clear outstanding claims of the previous year. A complete recasting of the original budget thus became necessary, and the Chairman has now submitted a statement showing expenditure incurred in excess of the budget allotments under several heads, which I have just admitted.

3. The closing balance of the year was Rs. 8,232, of which Rs. 3,000 represent private donations for the Ghoramara Bridge. The Road Committee has done its best to utilise the money at its disposal.

4. Working of the Committee.—The attendance at meetings shows a falling off, which is to be regretted.

Abstract of the Report by the Chairman, District Road Committee of the Santhal Parganas, on the operations of the District Road Fund of the district for the year 1909-10.

Vide letter No. 166P W., dated 30th May 1910, from H. Ll. L. Allanson, Esq., I.C.S., Chairman of the District Road Committee of Santhal Parganas, to the Commissioner of the Bhagalpur Division.]

1. The Local Self-Government Act was not in force in this district, but the Cess Act is in force in some selected portions of the district, fresh areas being every year brought under valuation on the completion of the settlement operations therein.

2. Working of the Committee.—There was no change in the constitution of the Committee. It consisted of eight members in place of nine in the previous year, the place of one deceased member not having yet been filled up. Out of the eight members three are ex-officio and the rest non-official. The Committee held 18 meetings during the year against 19 in the previous year. Of these seven were special and the rest ordinary. The average attendance of members was 4·22 against 5·57 in the year before, and the percentage of average attendance was 52·75 against 55·78.

RECEIPTS.

3. The year opened with a cash balance of Rs. 423. The income of the Committee from all sources amounted to Rs. 1,45,599 and the expenditure to Rs. 1,37,790, leaving a closing balance of Rs. 8,232. The balance is not heavy considering the fact that out of Rs. 8,232 about Rs. 3,000 represents private donations for Ghoramara Bridge set apart for the purpose. The road cess was levied at the maximum rate of 6 pies in the rupee, and the actual collection was better by Rs. 4,337 than the provision in the budget. The following table compares the receipts under several heads of the year with those in the previous year:—

	1908-09.	1909-10.
	Rs.	Rs.
VI.—Provincial rates—
Cess on lands	13,990	31,337
XII.—Interest—
Interest on arrear collections ...	48	123
XXV.—Miscellaneous—
Fees, fines and forfeitures ...	367	204
Miscellaneous	78	122
XXXII.—Civil Works—

Receipts from staging bungalows	489	1,169
Contribution from private persons	...	7,689

Deposits	5,462	1,863
Earnest-money on tenders ...	150	...
Total Receipts ...	79,741	1,45,599

4. Provincial rates.—The actual receipt is more than double that in the previous year and the increase is due to the completion of valuation of several important estates. There is also a proportionate increase in the "Interest on arrear collections."

5. Miscellaneous.—Rupees 204 shown against "Fees, fines and forfeitures" represents the amount of fine realised from contractors and others for bad work and damage to the property of the Committee, and Rs. 122 shown against "Miscellaneous" represents the amount realised from sale of tender forms, of stationery boxes, and that credited on account of difference in the interest on the Provident Fund deposit and other miscellaneous receipts. The decrease in the former and the increase in the latter are purely incidental

6. Civil works.—The receipt under "Ferry tolls" falls short of that in the previous year. The proceeds from ferries depend largely upon rainfall. It is only on occasions of high flood that people take to ferry boats for crossing the rivers. The receipt under "Staging bungalows" is more than double the amount realised in the year before. The increase is due to Rs. 628 paid by the Moheshpur Estate on account of arrear rent payable by the estate officials for the occupation of the Moheshpur inspection bungalow. Rupees 7,689 was realised from private sources for specific works during the year. Of this, Rs. 4,207 represents the amount paid from the Hiranpur Cattle Market Fund for improvement work on the Pakur-Heranpur road. Of the balance, Rs. 1,500 was paid by Mr. Grant, zemindar, Dumka Estate, for constructing Ghoramara Bridge near Sahebgunge and Rs. 1,672 was realised as contribution for the same work from the Sahebgunge people. The remaining sum of Rs 250 was paid by one Guru Prosad Sha of Nunihat for a culvert on Bhagalpur-Suri Road. The thanks of the Committee are due to the gentlemen who thus helped them in executing works of public utility. The large increase under "Miscellaneous" is due to refund of Rs. 481 charged on certain works in the year before. The amount was really advance, although charged to final heads, and the unspent balance has since been refunded.

7. Grant from Government.—The increase under this head is due to receipt of the annual grant of Rs. 60,000 for road works which was withheld in the previous year (1908-09).

EXPENDITURE

8. The following statement shows the expenditure under several detailed heads incurred in 1909-10, as compared with that in the previous year:—

Deposits	1,180	2,450
Earnest-money on tenders	750	...
Total Disbursements ...	1,52,785	1,37,790

9. The total expenditure under "Land Revenue" was Rs. 32,112 against Rs. 28,681 in the previous year. The bulk of the amount was spent on original works, the work of improvement of several important roads being in progress at the sacrifice of the maintenance allotment of the listed roads. Withholding of the grant of Rs. 60,000 in the previous year led to the curtailment of the maintenance grant, in order that the money might be available for carrying on improvement work already begun Rupees 274 shown under "Miscellaneous" was spent on the establishment and contingencies of the Sahebgunge Cattle Market. The fluctuations in the expenditure under "Agricultural" and "Sanitary Improvements" are trifling and need no explanation.

10. Provincial rates.—Rupees 159 was spent on valuation charges. The decrease is due to the fact that the work proceeded only for a short period during the year.

11. Administration.—The total expenditure under "Establishment and Contingencies" of Committee's office was Rs. 1,391 against Rs. 1,443 in the previous year, excluding Rs. 27 paid as grain compensation allowance against Rs. 45.

12. Medical.—There are no medical institutions under the Committee. Rupees 40 was, however, spent through the Civil Surgeon, Dumka, in payment of transit charges for the despatch of quinine packets from the Central Store to District depôt and from the latter to mufassal vendors in connection with the new scheme for popularising the use of quinine in malarial tracts. Moreover, Rs. 766 shown under "Land Revenue" has been spent towards improvement and repair of certain Damin dispensary building and Hospital Assistant's quarters.

13. Veterinary charges.—Rupees 264 was spent against Rs. 150 in the previous year. The increase is due to the payment of a sum of Rs. 96 as Committee's annual contribution towards entertaining an itinerant veterinary assistant at Sahebgunge.

14. Superannuation allowance and pension.—The increase under this head in the previous year was due to the payment of arrear pension to Babu Bonwari Lal Banerji, late Sub-Overseer, from the date of retirement up to the date of sanction. The increase under "Provident Fund contribution" is due to the payment of contribution on the back salary of certain officers confirmed in their respective appointments during the year.

15. Stationery and Printing.—The expenditure under this head was Rs. 494 against Rs 351 in the previous year. The increase is due to (1) the purchase of some level books for Famine Survey work and (2) payment of cost of printing the annual reports for the two preceding years and payment of cost of certain envelopes charged for the first time by the Forms Department, Bengal.

16. Civil buildings—New works.—Out of the total amount of Rs 1,477 spent under this head, Rs. 1,313 was expended towards constructing three Upper Primary school buildings in Jarmundi, Patjore and Jasbidih, out of the grant placed at the disposal of the Committee by the Education Department, and the balance (Rs 164) was spent in materials collected for re-roofing the Road Office building with Ranigunge tiles.

17. Civil buildings—Repairs.—A nominal sum of Rs. 33 was spent in payment of the Municipal tax and in stopping roof leaks of the Road Office buildings.

18. Communications—New works.—The expenditure under this head is Rs. 32,939, against Rs. 34,053 in the preceding year. The money was spent chiefly on the works in progress from the preceding year. The works of most importance carried out during the year under "Land Revenue" and "Road Fund" are noted below with the amount spent on each :—

19. Communications—Repairs.—The total expenditure was Rs. 34,109 against Rs 44,585 in the previous year. The decrease is large and is due to a number of unimportant roads having been only partially repaired through lack of sufficient funds There was no increase in the mileage of scheduled district and village roads under the Committee during the year. Out of the 45 scheduled district roads, that numbered 21, Kumrabad Road, was as before maintained by the Belpatta zemindar Of the others the most important ones were kept in thorough repairs, and only patch repairs could be done on the rest as far as funds would permit. The total mileage of district road was 852 as in the previous year, of which 16½ miles were metalled and the rest unmetalled. The improvement of several important roads, namely Hansdiha-Godda, Dumka-Madhupur, Dumka-Rampur Hat, Dumka-Pakur, Pakur-Hiranpur, Amrapara-Mararai, etc, commenced in the previous year, were either continued or completed during the year.

20. The total number of scheduled village roads was the same as in the preceding year. Four roads with a total mileage of 33 were maintained at a cost of Rs. 523 against Rs. 609 in the year before. Besides the above roads the non-scheduled Damin roads were maintained in passable condition out of the money annually placed at the disposal of the Committee from the Estates Improvement Fund. The expenditure on repairs is classified in the following table:—

21. Railway feeder roads.—The work of improving the feeder roads, such as Amrapara, Mararai, Tinpahar-Borio, Sahebgunge-Banjhee and Bahwa-Barheit were continued without abatement during the year, and large amounts were spent for the purpose as noted in paragraph 18. This will be of great public utility when completed.

22. Famine relief.—No famine relief works were undertaken during the year. A sum of Rs. 403 was paid to the wholetime clerks and servants as compensation for the dearness of provisions. The work of improving Godda-Pirpainti and Mundro-Boarijore roads were started in the previous year with a view to provide work for the people in the localities where there appeared to be some likelihood of distress. Both the works were kept in progress till completed during the year, and large sums of Rs. 5,108 and Rs. 2,255 respectively spent on them.

23 The receipts and expenditure of the three dâk bungalows under the Committee are compared with those of the previous year in the following table:—

	1908-09.	1909-10.	1908-09.	1909-10.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
Dumka	137	162	10	126
Rajmahal	116	91	667	494
Sahebgunge	80	102	116	604

24. Establishment.—The expenditure was in excess of that in the previous year. The increase is attributable to the following main causes:—

(1) The payment of charge allowance to the Supervisor while he officiated for the District Engineer.

(2) The increased payment on account of salary of four Damin Sub-Overseers who were entertained throughout the year, while in the previous year they worked only for a portion of the year (Rs. 3,459 against Rs. 2,789).

(3) The increased payment for temporary establishment employed for the Damin Road Improvement works (Rs. 1,216 against Rs. 682).

(4) The payment of Rs. 120 on account of the establishment entertained for improvement of Pakur-Hiranpur Road out of the contribution made to the Road Fund from the Hiranpur Cattle Market Fund.

25. The following table shows the amount spent on establishment and the percentage of its cost on the expenditure on Civil Works:—

YEAR.	Outlay on works and repairs.	Outlay on establishment employed on works.	Percentage.
	Rs.	Rs.
1908-09 ...	1,10,411	24,036	21·76

Total	...	1,00,396

† Establishment and contingencies chargeable to Civil Works.		24,107
Provision for dearness		376
Total	...	24,483

The cost on establishment is thus within the limit prescribed by Government on that behalf.

26. Village sanitation.—The scheme promulgated by Government for improvement of village sanitation was not given a trial in this district during the year, and so no money on that account was spent, except in excavating some wells and bandhs in the Damin, which indirectly helped the village sanitation by providing sources of comparatively pure and wholesome water for drinking purpose. The standard of village sanitation prevailing in this district is far higher than most of the districts in the province: this may of course be due to the fact that the country is thinly populated. This statement does not apply to the thickly populated villages in the low and narrow strip of country to the east of the Pakur and Rajmahal hills, the inhabitants of which set all sanitary laws at defiance. The Santhals keep their villages very neat and clean, whereas the Dikkus do not. The Behari and Bengali village sites are usually in a filthy condition, whereas the Santhal villages have a far higher standard of sanitation. There is nothing objectionable in walking in and about a Santhal village. Very reverse is the case with Dikku villages, and no one has a better opportunity of appreciating the difference than the Settlement Officers whose duties carry them into all parts of a village.

27. Tools and plant.—The expenditure under this head was Rs. 853 against Rs. 1,088 in the previous year.

28. Arboriculture.—Rupees 714 was spent on arboriculture against Rs. 104 in the year before. No definite working plan was followed, as attention was particularly directed towards filling in gaps of the existing avenues on the main roads. The nurseries for young plants exist at suitable intervals along the principal roads, and 10 new nurseries were established during the year in the compounds of the Damin bungalows in Rajmahal subdivision; each of these is in charge of a mali. It is reported that 2,709 plants were planted along road sides during the year, all of which are being protected by bamboo or mud gabions.

29. Water-supply.—There was no expenditure on water-supply from the District Road Fund; but Rs. 2,24[illegible] was spent from the Estate Improvement grant in sinking wells and excavating new tanks and bandhs and improving the existing ones in the Damin. It is reported that the water-supply is sufficient throughout the district and that the existing sources are enough for ordiary purposes. A statement showing the thana totals of water-supply (form No. I) from several subdivisions is appended below:—

DUMKA,
The 29th May 1910.

ABDUL BARI,
Vice-Chairman.

H. LI.. L. ALLANSON,
Chairman, District Road Committee, Sonthal Parganas.

Extract from letter No. 406L.S.-G., dated the 5th July 1910, from H. C. STREATFEILD, ESQ., I.C.S., Commissioner of the Bhagalpur Division, to the Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Public Works Department.

* * * * * * * *

2. The special attention of the Deputy Commissioner and Chairman of the Road Committee was drawn to the remarks made by Government last year about the large balance standing to the credit of the Road Fund. As a result the closing balance has been reduced from Rs. 39,974-15-2 at the close of 1908-09 to Rs. 22,650-15-1, which is so far satisfactory. The closing balance is, however, still too large, and the Deputy Commissioner's attention is again being called to it.

3. No special remark seems called for with regard to the working of the Committee.

Abstract of the Report by the Chairman, District Road Committee of Darjeeling, on the operations of the District Road Fund of the District for the year 1909-10.

[Vide letter No. 65E.F., dated 30th May 1910, from H T. S Forrest, Esq., I.C.S., Chairman of the District Road Committee, Darjeeling, to the Commissioner of the Bhagalpur Division.]

1. Working of Committees—

(a) District Road Committee.—There were 18 members of the Committee—6 official and 12 non-official. Four meetings were held during the year. The average attendance was 8·75 or 48·61 per cent. at a meeting.

(b) Kurseong Branch Committee.—The Committee consisted of 8 members—2 official and 6 non-official. Four meetings were held during the year. The average attendance was 4·75, or 59·37 per cent. at a meeting.

(c) Terai Branch Committee.—There were 18 members of this Branch Committee—4 official and 14 non-official. Six meetings were held during the year, including one at which there was no quorum. The average attendance was 6, or 33·3 per cent at a meeting.

2. The year opened with a cash balance of Rs. 39,974-15-2 and an outstanding advance of Rs. 19,383-12-2. This differs from the last year's figures, as a mistake of Rs. 28-5-5 was discovered in the advance account and corrected afterwards. The total sum of Rs. 96,408-10, including the unadjusted advances of Rs. 19,383-12-2, was available for expenditure during the year. The actual expenditure during the year 1909-10 was Rs. 64,839-7, excluding the outstanding advances of Rs. 8,918-3-11. The actual cash balance on the 31st March 1910 was Rs 22,650-15-1. The closing balance was more than one quarter's kist ; but, as a special case for this district it has been permitted by Government in its No. 5106R.C., dated 26th September 1892. A part of this sum was spent during 1909-10, but no account having been received, it could not be adjusted during the year.

RECEIPTS.

3. Provincial rates.—The road cess was levied in the district during 1909-10 at the maximum rate of six pies in the rupee. The total collection under the head "Cess on lands" during the year was Rs. 22,746-6-8 against Rs. 22,710-7-5 of 1908-09. The slight increase was due to revaluation.

4. Miscellaneous—A sum of Rs. 4 only was credited under this head on account of cost of calling for revaluation records of certain Terai jotes.

5 Contribution—(a) Grant from Government.—Rupees 7,180-8 was received under this head against Rs. 11,925-3-4 of the last year (1908-09). The decrease was mainly due to the decrease of the amount granted by Government during the year on account of augmentation of resources, and also to the fact that a portion of 1¼ per cent. grant on the collection from Government estates during the year was not credited within the year.

(b) A contribution of Rs. 7,119 was received from the Darjeeling Improvement Fund on account of communications and share of the cost of the joint Cess and Tauzi establishment.

(c) No contribution from private persons and other sources was received during 1909-10.

EXPENDITURE.

6. Repairs—Rupees 52,454-7, as per details below, was charged under this head against Rs. 17,647-6-6 of the preceding year. The increase is mainly due to the construction of a bridge over the Hurlea River on Road No. 40 (Dumriguri Inspection bungalow to Phansidewa vid Bagdogra Hât and Hurlea Bridge) and to the metalling of Road No. 32 and improvement of certain roads:—

7. A total length of 9 miles, out of 9 miles of metalled roads, and 318 miles, outof 362 miles of unmetalled roads, and 12 miles, out of 14 miles of village roads, were actually repaired and improved upon by the Committee during the year at a cost of Rs. 29,744 or 3,304·88 per mile, and Rs. 22,440, or 70·56 per mile, and Rs. 271 or 22·56 per mile, respectively, including Rs. 2,735, Rs. 29,249 and Rs. 2,937 on account of Hurlea bridge, metalling of first six miles of Road No. 32 (Naxalbari to Debigunge vid Khoribari) and repairs of certain important bridges thereon respectively. The increase in the cost per mile of the metalled and unmetalled roads is due to the circumstances stated in paragraph 6 above. The increase in the cost of village roads is due to certain improvement of Road No. 5 (Chel river to Neora).

8. List of roads.—The total number of district roads, metalled and unmetalled, was 55, and that of village roads 5. The total length of 8 miles 6 furlongs and 87 yards metalled roads, 361 miles 5 furlongs and 26 yards unmetalled roads and 13 miles 5 furlongs and 8½ yards village roads were maintained by the Committee during 1909-10.

9. Staging bungalows.—There were no bungalows under this District Road Committee. Bungalows in this district are under the Public Works Department and Darjeeling Improvement Fund.

10. Arboriculture.—There was no expenditure incurred under this head, as this is attended to by the Darjeeling Improvement Fund.

11. Water-supply.—It is attended to by Government and the Darjeeling Improvement Fund; hence there was no expenditure under this head.

12. Loans.—No fresh loan was taken during the year 1909-10. Principal Rs. 4,683-10 and interest Rs. 2,627-7-8 were paid during the year according to the terms of the loans granted by Government for the restoration and repairs of road cess bridges destroyed and damaged by the cyclone in September 1899.

13. Public Works Establishment.—There was no District Engineer under this Road Committee during 1909-10. All the works in the hills and the most part of those in the Terai were, as usual, executed by the members of the Committees and by the managers of tea gardens and private gentlemen. The thanks of the Committee are due to them for their valuable assistance. The important Road Cess bridges were repaired by the Public Works Department as in the previous years, at the cost of the Road Fund. A sum of Rs. 1,081-8-3, including contingencies, or 2·06 per cent. of the total outlay on work, was spent for the entertainment of an overseer and a peon under the Terai Branch Road Committee at Siliguri. The pay of the overseer was Rs. 60 plus a fixed horse allowance of Rs. 20 and that of the peon was Rs. 7 per mensem.

14. Administration.—There were two Branch Committees, viz., Kurseong and Terai, under the District Road Committee. Mr. W. M. Crawford, the Deputy Commissioner, was ex-officio Chairman of the District Road Committee and of the Terai Branch Road Committee till the 23rd of March 1910. Mr. H. T. S. Forrest held these offices during the remaining few days of the year. Mr. F. G. E. Piffard, the senior Deputy Collector, was the Vice-Chairman of the District Road Committee during the whole year. Messrs. H. E. Spry and J. Byrne, the Subdivisional Officers of Kurseong, were ex-officio Chairman and Vice-Chairman of the Kurseong and Terai Branch Committees respectively during the year. Dr. A. D. Humphry, the Civil Medical Officer of Kurseong, was the Vice-Chairman of the Kurseong Branch Committee. The works of the District Road Committee as well as those of the Branch Committees were performed satisfactorily. The thanks of the Committee are due to the abovenamed gentlemen and other members of the Committees for the care and interest they took in their duties.

15. Audit of accounts.—The Examiner of Local Accounts, Bengal, has audited the accounts up to June 1909, and the members of the Audit Sub-Committee have audited for the whole year.

DISTRICT ROAD FUND OFFICE:

DARJEELING,

The 1st May 1910.

Extract from letter No. 804J., dated the 15th June 1910, from E. A. GEAKE, ESQ., I.C.S., Commissioner of the Chota Nagpur Division, to the Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Public Works Department.

* * * * * * * *

2. I observe that only 9 meetings were convened during the year against 12 in the previous year, and that out of these 9 meetings one was adjourned for want of a quorum. The Chairman reports that meetings at monthly intervals were not held as there was not always sufficient business to place before the Committee. If the members of the Committee take proper interest in this work, it is hardly possible that sufficient business would not be forthcoming for their consideration and disposal.

3. The average percentage of attendance of the members of the Committee at meetings was 37·03 against 32·77 in the previous year. This shows a slight improvement, but still leaves much to be desired. The attention of the Chairman is being drawn to this and to my remarks in the preceding paragraph.

4. The Committee, with their present District Engineer, appear to have made a good use of the funds at their disposal during the year, which closed with a credit balance of Rs. 14,303 against Rs. 20,458 in the previous year.

5. During the year no work was undertaken of which the estimate had not been previously sanctioned.

Abstract of the Report by the Chairman, District Road Committee of Singhbhum, on the operations of the District Road Fund of the district for the year 1909-10.

(Vide letter No. 55R.C., dated 1st June 1910, from A. W. Cook, Esq., I.C.S., Chairman, District Road Committee, Singhbhum, to the Commissioner of the Chota Nagpur Division.)

1. Working of the Committee.—There were 15 members of the Committee—5 official and 10 non-official. Nine meetings were held, out of which one was adjourned for want of a quorum. There being no business, meetings at monthly intervals were not convened.

2. The accounts were, as usual, audited by the Finance Committee appointed under section 174 of the Act. The accounts for the periods from 1st July 1907 to 31st August 1909 have been examined and audited by the local auditor.

RECEIPTS.

3. The road cess was levied at the maximum rate of 6 pies in the rupee. The opening balance of the year was Rs. 20,458 and the total receipts from all sources amounted to Rs. 50,477. The total amount available for expenditure was thus Rs. 70,935, of which Rs. 56,632 was spent, leaving a credit balance of Rs. 14,303.

EXPENDITURE.

4. Original works—Communications.—During the year a sum of Rs. 28,769 was spent under this head. Out of Rs. 5,000, received from Government for the construction of inspection bungalows in the Kolhan Government Estate, a sum of Rs. 3,875 was spent during the year in addition to Rs. 550 spent last year.

5. Repairs—Communications.—The total expenditure on repairs was Rs. 9,279. Two hundred and fifteen miles of district roads and six miles of village roads were maintained.

6. The following statement shows the length of district roads (metalled, unmetalled and village roads), the amount spent on the maintenance of the roads and the cost per mile :—

NOTE.—The total number of unmetalled roads shewn in this District schedule is 32, inclusive of the 6 village roads comprising a total length of 459 miles 7 furlongs and 204 yards. Of this 14 roads comprising a total length of 272 miles as shown in columns 7, 9, 13 and 14 were actually undertaken during the year. The cost in column 9 excludes Rs. 3,875 spent over bungalows in the Kolhan.

No roads are maintained by the District Road Committee from Public Works funds.

7. Arboriculture.—Two hundred and eighty-two new trees were planted during the year. These, together with 1,025 unestablished plants of the preceding year, were maintained at a cost of Rs. 337-8-6, the allotment being Rs. 350.

8. Nursery.—There are four nursery gardens as reported in the preceding year. The garden at Chaibassa on the south bank of the Jubilee tank contains 400 plants, Boea 25 plants, Jorappukher nil and Gamaria 5 plants.

9. The following statement compares the cost of maintenance during the year of several classes of roads with that of previous year and the average cost per mile:—

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground. The rainfall reported on any day is for 24 hours preceding 8 A.M. of that day.

RESOLUTION—By the Government of India, Department of Commerce and Industry.

THE Governor-General in Council is pleased to direct that the following rule shall be substituted for rule 5 of the revised rules for the supply of articles for the public service, which were published with the Resolution in this Department, No. 4941-4988-102, dated the 14th July 1909:—

When serious inconvenience to the public service would be caused by waiting to obtain an article from England through the Director-General of Stores, or when, owing to the greater promptitude of supply, an economy can be effected by purchasing in India articles which under the foregoing rules should be obtained through the Store Department, the purchase may be made in India, subject to rule 13, provided that the articles are already in India at the time of order; but in such cases, if the value of the articles exceed Rs. 50, the sanctioning officer should place on record the reasons which make the local purchase desirable. A signboard written in bold letters in the Persian, Urdu and Guzarati characters shall be displayed at the place, to be approved by the Inspector, at which stores are dispensed, announcing that food can be procured there. At the same place shall be posted a table of the rations of food and water in Persian, Urdu and Guzarati, and a price list in the same languages of the articles of food offered for sale.

33. Excepting fuel and water, which shall always be found by the ship, the articles in the foregoing scale need not be provided for those pilgrims who have satisfied the officer appointed in this behalf under section 18, that they have on board food sufficient for their own use.

34. Every pilgrim ship shall, in addition to the requirements of the two last foregoing rules, have on board, either as cargo or stores, food sufficient, in the opinion of the Inspector, to provide for the pilgrims in the event of an accident to the ship's machinery.

35. (1) Every pilgrim ship shall be provided with caboose accommodation sufficient to cook for the total number of pilgrims on board, and such accommodation shall in no case consist of less than two cabooses or cooking ranges placed on deck, properly housed and covered, to which the pilgrims shall have free access between the hours of 6 A.M. and 9 P.M.

(2) All cooking ranges shall be made of substantial plate-iron lined inside with bricks and raised at least four inches from the deck, with an outlet or chimney at top for the escape of smoke. Each range shall contain five or six cooking places, and the master shall see that fires adequate for cooking are kept lighted at them from 6 A.M. to 9 P.M.

* Calvert's powder in the proportion of 10 per cent. should be used.

An additional range shall be provided for every 200 pilgrims carried in excess of 100. Cooking on board in pilgrims' private stoves is prohibited.

(3) The Inspector may require the master to provide such number as such Inspector may think necessary of Muhammadan cooks, not exceeding three per hundred pilgrims (exclusive of pilgrims who have on board their own supplies and desire to cook for themselves).

36. The crew of the ship shall not be allowed to use the cooking ranges or latrines set apart for pilgrims while pilgrims are on board, but shall be provided with a separate cooking range and latrine.

37. Each ship shall be fitted with a condenser or distilling apparatus of sufficient capacity to produce at least one gallon of drinking-water a day for every person on board of whatever age, including the crew.

38. No certificate under section 13 shall be granted unless the condenser cannot only supply the minimum quantity of water prescribed under rule 37 for each person on board, but also yield every 24 hours 500 gallons of pure, cold water fit to drink.

39. The tanks for storing drinking-water on board shall not be placed near the latrines. They shall be protected from all filth, and shall be so closed that the distribution of the water can be effected only by means of pumps or from taps with lock and key fitted to the tanks.

40. The water of any tank pronounced bad by the medical officer of the ship shall be immediately rejected and pumped out and the tank cleaned out before being re-filled.

41. If there is any doubt as to the quality of the drinking water stored, or as to the possibility of its pollution, either at its source or in the course of the voyage, it shall be well boiled, and it shall be thrown into the sea as soon as it is possible to obtain a purer supply.

42. Every condenser or distilling apparatus shall have a separate engine for working the circulating cold-water pump, and under no circumstances shall this engine be used for any other purpose than that of feeding the boiler of the condenser.

43. The arrangements for discharging the circulating water from the condenser shall be such that it can be delivered into buckets or connected with a hose for the purpose of washing decks, or extinguishing fire, as well as discharging over the ship's side. A suitable hose and connection shall also be provided.

44. Either upright or horizontal boilers may be used for condensers. Each boiler shall be furnished with a steam-gauge indexed to double the working pressure, a glass water-gauge and two separate gauge cocks, one safety-valve and two mud-hole doors for the purposes of cleaning.

45 The boilers and all machinery connected with condensers shall be properly covered in, and every wooden bulkhead in the vicinity of the boilers of condensers shall be covered with sheet lead weighing 4½ lbs per square foot and securely fastened to such bulkhead.

46. All the piping in connection with the condenser, especially the main suction and the condensed water discharge-pipe, shall be laid in position safe from accident or otherwise securely encased.

47. The Inspector shall satisfy himself by actual experiment that the condenser is capable of performing the work required of it.

48. The Chief Engineer or some other competent person, to be approved by the Inspector, shall be appointed to have charge of the distilling apparatus and machinery connected therewith during the voyage.

No petroleum as defined in the Petroleum Act, 1899 (VIII of 1899), or explosive as described in the Indian Explosives Act (IV of 1884), nor any inflammable oils, spirits, jute or coal (except such coal as is required for the voyage and the return voyage to India), nor any commodity likely, by reason of its quantity, quality ,or mode of stowage, to be prejudicial to the safety of the pilgrims, shall be taken as cargo or part of the cargo.

Allotment of upper deck space.

51. No cabin shall be provided for any pilgrim on the upper deck unless space remains unallotted on that deck after providing the accommodation required for the permanent and temporary hospitals, latrines, and six superficial feet for every pilgrim carried in the between-decks. Such space as remains unallotted after making provision for these requirements may be reserved for the accommodation of pilgrims in cabins containing not less than 12 superficial and 72 cubic feet of space. No pilgrim shall be furnished with reserved accommodation on the upper deck except in a cabin.

52. The deck space may be distributed between the first and second class pilgrims as the master or owner may desire. Provided that each pilgrim of the lowest class has six feet of deck space provided for him, and provided that no part of a pilgrim ship shall carry more pilgrims than the number which that part of the ship is capable of of accommodating in accordance with Notification No. 2145, dated the 17th September 1897.

Amount and distribution of baggage.

53. Pilgrims' heavy baggage shall be deposited in the hold before the ship leaves her moorings. Pilgrims shall be allowed to keep with them only such articles as are absolutely necessary: Provided that the articles so kept do not exceed one maund (82 lbs.) in weight for each adult pilgrim, or in the case of pilgrims who, in accordance with the provisions of section 18, are allowed to provide their own food for the entire voyage, one maund and a half.

Hospital accommodation, medical stores, and arrangements for maintaining health, cleanliness and decency.

54. (1) The hospital accommodation required under section 21 shall be provided where convenient. A permanent hospital shall be provided for 5 per cent. of the pilgrims on board and containing not less than six bunks, and having a deck area of at least 32 superficial feet and dimensions of not less than 192 cubic feet per head. On every pilgrim ship on which there are 50 or more female pilgrims, there shall be a separate permanent hospital, containing not less than two bunks with a deck area of at least 72 superficial feet and dimensions of not less than 432 cubic feet, which shall be reserved for the use of women and of children under 12 years of age. The hospitals shall be lighted and ventilated to the satisfaction of the Inspector and shall be provided with raised floors or platforms at least 4 inches off the deck when situated on an iron deck. If on deck they shall be made as secure as any other deck-house, and the roof shall be well caulked and covered with painted canvas.* No case of small-pox, cholera, yellow fever or plague shall on any account be treated in a permanent hospital. Permanent hospitals shall be used solely for the accommodation of sick pilgrims, and in so far as they are not required for the accommodation of such pilgrims, shall remain unoccupied.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard construcoted and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground. The rainfall reported on any day is for 24 hours preceding 8 A.M. of that day.

RULES.

CHAPTER I.

Time and place of examinations.

1. The times and places at which examinations are held are shown in Appendix A, page 1567.

How to apply.

2. Candidates for examination must fill up a Form of application (Form Exn. 2) at the Port Office. The Form properly filled in, together with the Candidate's testimonials and discharges, must be lodged with the Port Officer of Calcutta, not later than the day before the day of examination, and the Candidate must conform to any regulations in this respect which may be laid down by the Government. The discharges and testimonials should be handed in, together with the Form of application, as many days as possible before the date of the examination which the Candidate desires to attend. In the absence of the necessary verification the Candidate cannot be examined. The Port Officer should be particularly careful to ascertain that there are no gaps in the Candidate's service which are not properly accounted for before he is allowed up for examination.

How to apply in special cases.

3. In cases where the services of the Candidate require verification, or where he is in doubt whether his service complies with the regulations, and wishes to submit his case for special consideration, all Certificates, discharges, testimonials, &c., together with the Form of application* properly filled in, should be submitted to the Port Officer of Calcutta. If necessary, the Port Officer will, after seeing that all the required information is clearly set forth in the papers, forward them with his observations to the Government who will deal with the case, or transmit it to the Board of Trade for decision.

Inquiries.

4 All other inquiries regarding examinations should be made and dealt with in the same way. The point on which information is sought should be clearly stated, and Certificates, discharges, testimonials, &c., should be forwarded when they are material to the inquiry.

Nature of service determined by actual position on board ship

5. Sea service cannot be regarded as qualifying for examination for certificates of competency unless it can be verified by reference to the articles of the ship on which it was performed, e.g., service claimed by testimonial or otherwise to have been as mate when the actual rating as shown by the articles was only that of boatswain or other petty officer will not be accepted where officer's service is required. Where service as first (or second) mate it required to qualify for examination the candidate must actually have held the executive position next (or next but one) to the master.

Candidates who represent themselves as having served in a higher capacity than that actually held in the ship render themselves liable to prosecution under Section 104 of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894. (See paragraph 7.)

In this connection examiners should remember that it is a common practice for officers to be rated on ships articles as "second mate" although in reality they were only third or fourth mates and acted in one of those positions on board ship.

In every case where a candidate for a Master's certificate of competency claims service as second mate, he should be requested to make a declaration in Divn. H of the Form Exn. 2, to the effect that during his service as second mate he had only one officer over him, or if more than one, that a third and fourth mate were also carried.

If the service claimed is as "auxiliary second mate" the candidate should be required to state the number of officers serving in a junior capacity.

A candidate with first mate's service should make a declaration that he was the senior officer under the Master, or, if not, he must comply with the requirements of para. 113, as it has been found that in some cases the second mate has been signed on the articles as first mate, the proper first mate being called chief officer simply for examination purposes.

It must be clearly understood that the amount of service laid down in the Regulations for each grade of certificate of competency is the absolute minimum that can be accepted, and unless a candidate can show the full amount he must in no case be allowed up for examination.

Age.

6. Should any doubt exist as to the age of a Candidate, he will be required to produce a certificate of birth.

Fraud and misrepresentation.

7. It is provided by section 104 of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894, that any person who makes, assist in making, or procures to be made, any false representation for the purpose of procuring either for himself or for any other person a Certificate of Competency, shall, in respect of each offence, be guilty of a misdemeanour,—the punishment for which is imprisonment for any period not exceeding six months, with or without hard labour, or a fine not exceeding one thousand rupees.

Testimonials required

8. Testimonials to character, including sobriety, and to experience and ability on board ship for at least the twelve months of service immediately preceding the date of application to be examined, will be required of all Candidates, and without producing them no person will be examined.

Penalty for misconduct.

9. Candidates who have neglected to join their vessels after having signed Articles, or who have deserted their vessels after having joined, or who have been found guilty of gross misconduct on board, will be required to produce satisfactory proofs of two years' subsequent service and good conduct at sea, unless the Local Government, after having investigated the matter, should see fit to reduce the time.

Deafness and other physical and mental disabilities.

10. If during the progress of the examination the examiner finds that a candidate is afflicted with deafness, with an impediment in his speech, or with some other physical or mental infirmity, and he is satisfied upon further investigation that the degree of deafness or of the impediment or other infirmity is such as to render the candidate incompetent to discharge the ordinary duties of a mate or master at sea he should not allow the candidate to complete his examination and should return his examination fee but every case in which this action is taken must be reported to the Port officer.

If the candidate subsequently produces a medical certificate to the effect that his hearing, speech, or physical or mental condition has improved or is normal, the Board will take into consideration the question of allowing the candidate to sit again for examination

Foreigners must know English.

11. Foreigners must prove, to the satisfaction of the Examiners, that they can speak and write the English language sufficiently well to perform the duties required of them on board a British vessel (see paragraph 19). In the case of candidates for Home Trade Certificates, the Certificates of Asiatics who may not be able to speak English shall be endorsed to the effect that they are valid only for vessels manned and officered entirely by Asiatics

Issue of certificate.

12. If the Candidate passes, he will receive a Form (Form Exn. 16), authorising the Port Officer to whom it is addressed to issue the Certificate. The Candidate's testimonials and other papers will be returned to him with the Certificate. It is therefore important that the port at which the Certificate is to be issued should be the same on both the Form Exn. 16 and the Form Exn. 2. If circumstances should make any alteration necessary, the Examiner should see that it is made in both Forms, otherwise delay in the issue of the Certificate may be caused.

Service found to be insufficient.

13. If, after a Candidate has passed the examination, it is discovered on further investigation that his services are insufficient to entitle him to receive a Certificate of the grade for which he has passed, the Certificate will not be granted to him; but if the Government is satisfied that the error in the calculation of the Candidate's services did not occur through any fault or wilful misrepresentation on his part, he may either have the fee returned to him, or have it placed to his credit. Should his services entitle him to a Certificate of a lower grade, it may be granted to him, and the difference, if any, between the fee paid by him, for the superior Certificate and the fee payable for the inferior Certificate will be returned to him or placed to his credit. The superior Certificate will not be granted until the Candidate has performed the amount of service in which he was deficient, and has been re-examined in all the subjects unless the Government see fit to dispense with the re-examination.

Failure in examination.

14. In all cases of failure the Candidate must be examined anew. If a candidate fails in Seamanship, he will not be re-examined until after a lapse of six months. Whether the whole or part of this period must be served at sea must depend upon the subjects in Seamanship in which the Candidate failed, but the amount of further sea service to be required will be left to the discretion of the Port Officer, Calcutta.

Examiner's Report.

15. The Examiner, in making his report on Form Exn. 14, should state what amount, if any, of further sea service the Candidate must perform, and he should also insert this information in Form Exn. 2.

Failure in Navigation.

16. If a Candidate fails three times in Navigation within three months, he will not be re-examined until after a lapse of THREE MONTHS from the date of the last failure.

Failure in Extra Examinations.

17. Candidates for Extra Certificates will not be allowed to present themselves for examination more than three times within a period of twelve months.

Candidates failing may be examined for certificate of lower grade.

18. If a candidate fails in his examination for an Ordinary certificate, and the subjects in which he has failed are not included in the syllabus prescribed for a certificate of a lower grade, he may, if he so desires, be examined for the lower grade certificate without further formal application or payment of fee, but he will be required to complete the whole of the work prescribed for such lower grade, that portion (if any) already done standing good.

If a candidate fails for the Extra certificate, he may also, without further formal application on payment of fee, proceed with the examination for the Ordinary certificate, but, in this case, the whole of the examination prescribed for the lower grade will have to be completed irrespective of any work which may have been done under examination for the Extra certificate. The subsequent examination for the lower grade may, if time permits, be taken during the current week, but in this case a fresh set of papers should be issued; should the time be insufficient, the candidate will be allowed to sit at the next following examination.

No part, however, of the fee he has paid will be returned to him, and on presenting himself, when qualified, for re-examination for the higher certificate, he will be required to pay a further full fee.

Failure for spelling, etc.

19. If a Candidate fails for bad spelling or writing, he will not be re-examined until after a lapse of at least three months. If he fails for ignorance of the English language, he will not be re-examined until after a lapse of six months.

Failure in Seamanship.

20. If a Candidate fails in Seamanship so far as regards the management of square-rigged Sailing Vessels, in his examination for an Ordinary Certificate, he may, if qualified as to service without further formal application or further payment of fee, proceed with the examination for a Certificate of Competency for Foreign-going Steamships, or for Fore and Aft-rigged Vessels. And if a Candidate fails in the same manner in his examination for an Extra Master's Certificate, he may, under the same conditions as above, proceed with the examination for an Extra Certificate for Steamships

Fee always paid first.

21. Candidates for examination, in making their application on Form Exn. 2, will be required to pay the examination fee before any step is taken in the way of inquiring into their services or testing their qualifications. If the Candidate is found not to be qualified, the fee will either be returned to him or placed to his credit until he is qualified.

Where to pay fees.

22. The fee for examination must be paid to the Port Officer in the cash office. If a Candidate offers a gratuity to any officer of the Department, he will be regarded as having committed an act of misconduct, and will be rejected, and not allowed to be again examined for twelve months either at the port where the offence was committed, or at any other port.

Fee not returned on failure.

23. If a Candidate fails to pass the examination, no part of the fee will be returned to him.

FIRST AID TO THE INJURED.

25. (1) Every candidate for a certificate of competency of any grade will be required to produce a certificate from the St. John Ambulance Association, the St. Andrew's Ambulance Association or the London County Council to the effect that he has passed an examination in First Aid to the Injured.

* If the examination for the Extra Master's Certificate takes place at the same time as the examination for the Ordinary Master's Certificate, the usual fee for the Ordinary Master's Certificate in addition to the fee for the Extra Certificate must be paid. This rule as to fees also applies to the examinations for certificates as Extra Master of steamships and Yachts and for Extra Certificates of efficiency.

(2) The certificate must be an adult certificate, i.e., obtained by the candidate when sixteen years of age or more, and the examination for it must have been passed not more than three years before the date of the examination for the certificate of competency.

(3) The Government have arranged with the St. John Ambulance Association for special facilities to be provided in Calcutta for the instruction and examination of candidates in this subject, and those desirous of obtaining a certificate from the Association, showing that they have a knowledge of "First Aid to the Injured," should submit their applications to the Port Officer of Calcutta, who will place them in communication with the Local Secretary of the Association. A list of the names and addresses of the local secretaries of the Associations is given in Appendix C, page 1568.

The fee payable by candidates in return for instruction and examination on this subject is Rs. 15.

(4) Besides the courses of instruction which are provided on shore at the ports in the United Kingdom, at which examinations for certificates as Master and Mate are held, courses of instruction given by qualified surgeons on board merchant vessels will be accepted by the St. John Ambulance Association as qualifying the candidate for examination for their certificate of proficiency in First Aid, provided the surgeon certifies that he has followed the syllabus of instruction laid down by the Association.

(5) The St. Andrew's Ambulance Association will also accept instruction by a ship's surgeon on board ship as qualifying a candidate for examination for their certificate of proficiency in First Aid, provided their syllabus is followed. In this case the candidate must previously have enrolled and obtained an attendance card, by applying to the local secretary of the Association, or to the head office at 176, West Regent Street, Glasgow.

(6) It will not be necessary for the candidate for a certificate as Master or Mate in all cases to produce the formal certificate of proficiency in First Aid issued by the Associations. In order to prevent delay in proceeding with the examination for the certificate as Master or Mate and in the issue of the certificate to successful candidates, the special Mercantile Marine linen Certificate issued by the St. John Ambulance Association and duly signed by the Lecturer, the Surgeon Examiner and the Association's local representative, or, in Scotland, a certificate signed by the Local Examiner of the St. Andrew's Ambulance Association to the effect that the candidate has passed the examination for a Certificate of proficiency, may be accepted as showing that the candidate possesses the required knowledge of First Aid.

SIGHT TESTS.

26. Every Candidate for a certificate of competency of any grade must pass the three tests before he can proceed to the examination in navigation and seamanship.

(1) The sight tests are open to all persons serving or intending to serve in the Mercantile Marine, and all such persons are recommended to take the earliest opportunity of ascertaining by means of these tests whether their vision is such as to qualify them for service in that profession.

(2) The three tests are:—

(b) Colour Vision Test (see page 1614).
(c) Colour Ignorance Test (see page 1619).

No Candidate will be examined in the Colour Vision Test until he has passed the Form Vision Test, or in the Colour Ignorance Test until he has passed the Colour Vision Test.

This rule must be observed whether the candidate has or has not on any previous occasion passed the sight tests.

(3) Any person serving or intending to serve in the Mercantile Marine if desirous of undergoing the Form Vision, Colour Vision, and Colour Ignorance Test only, must make application to the Port Officer on the Form Exn. 2A, and must pay a fee of one rupee.

This fee will be payable on each occasion upon which a candidate is examined in Form Vision and Colour tests.

(4) Candidates who fail to pass the Form Vision Test or Colour Ignorance Test can be re-examined at intervals of three months, but Candidates who fail to pass the Colour Vision Test cannot be re-examined. It is open, however, to any Candidate who has failed to pass the Colour Vision Test to appeal to the Government, who may, if they think fit, remit the case to a special Examiner or body of Examiners for final decision.

(5) The expenses of Candidates who are examined by such special Examiner, or body of Examiners, and are reported by them to have passed, will, under certain circumstances, be paid by the Government, at a rate which will be notified to the Candidate; but no payment whatever will be made towards the expenses of Candidates who, upon their own application, are examined by the special Examiners and are reported by them to have failed unless the Government consider that the particular circumstances of the case justify such payment. The special examinations will be held in Calcutta only

(6) When a Candidate fails to pass the Colour Vision Test, the Examiner will point out to him the conditions under which he can appeal. Appeals are to be made through the Examiner, and forwarded to the Government with the Examiner's remarks.

(7) The fee paid for examination for a Certificate of Competency includes the fee of one rupee for examination in Form Vision, Colour Vision, and Colour Ignorance, and if the Candidate fails to pass those tests, this fee will, with the exception of one rupee, be returned to him.

(8) Only Examiners who have themselves passed the Colour Vision Test are to undertake these Examinations.

(9) Whenever the holder of a certificate of competency fails to pass any of the three tests there is reason to believe that he is from incompetency unfit to discharge his duties, and in the public interest the Government may cause an inquiry to be held by a Court, having jurisdiction to cancel or suspend such certificate; but in the alternative the Government may accept the voluntary surrender of the certificate until such time a the applicant succeeds in passing the tests in which he failed.

27. The Government have decided that on and after January 1st, 1914, the standard of form vision in the sight tests shall be raised to that specified in Appendix O on page 1612, subject to the condition that candidates who before the above date shall have obtained any certificate of competency as Master or Mate (foreign-going or home trade), shall have the option of undergoing the present tests and shall not, in order to obtain certificates of higher grades, be required to pass the more severe test.

From March 1st, 1910, it will be possible for any person serving or intending to serve in the Mercantile Marine to be examined with reference to the higher standard and if he passes, he may receive a certificate to that effect, or if he holds a certificate of competency, the fact of his having passed the higher standard may be endorsed upon it

The examiners should in all cases point out to boys and others coming up for the Sight Tests that unless they are in possession of a certificate of competency by the 1st January, 1914, they will after that date be required to pass the new standard of Form Vision as laid down in Appendix O, whether they are coming up for a certificate of competency or for examination in the Sight Tests only.

EXTRA CERTIFICATE.

63. Certificates as Extra Master.—An Extra Master's Certificate will entitle the holder to go to sea as Master of any vessel, sailing or steam. Extra Master, Foreign-going ships.

The examination is voluntary and intended for such persons as wish to prove their superior qualifications and are desirous of having Certificates of the highest grade granted by the Board of Trade.

The extra examination may take place when the Applicant is qualified to go up for examination for an Ordinary Master's Certificate, or at any time subsequent to his having passed the examination for that Certificate.

64. Examination in Navigation.—The Candidate will be required to work out and show the construction of any four of the problems,† prescribed for the Ordinary Certificates and to satisfy the Examiner in the oral subject prescribed Extra Master, Navigation.

* For convenience of calculation the service required is stated in a tabular form in Appendix P, page 1620 for those Certificates. He must also be prepared to be examined in any of the following subjects, showing the construction of all problems* :—

† Either of the chart problems E 8, 9c, or Ex 9d may be given as one of these four problems.

(a) To find the latitude from double altitudes of the sun or of a star.

(b) To determine, from simultaneous observations of two different stars, the position of the ship, and the true bearing of the stars, by Sumner's method. The Candidate may either determine the four longitudes from the two assumed latitudes which will be given, or solve the question in any other way he may choose.

(c) To find the error of a chronometer from the altitude of the sun of a star, observed with an artificial, or with the natural, horizon.

(d) To explain clearly in writing the principles of—(1) Great Circle sailing; (2) Windward Great Circle sailing; (3) Composite Great Circle sailing; and their advantages and disadvantages.

(e) To show approximately on a terrestrial globe the Great Circle track and the distance from one given position to another; also the latitude and longitude of vertex; and the longitude from vertex; and to explain how the track can then be transferred to a Mercator's chart. Occasionally the Candidate will be required to lay the tract down on a chart.

(f) To determine the initial Great Circle course, and the distance, from one given position to another the latitude and longitude of vertex, the longitude from vertex and the latitudes and longitudes through which the Great Circle will pass, laying the track, composite or otherwise, down on a Mercator's chart, and explaining briefly how the course and distance from one point to another on this track is then found. This problem may, subject to the decision of the Examiner, be solved, either by calculation, or by any tables, graphic method, or Great Circle chart, known to and preferred by the Candidate, and it will usually be set so as to leave the choice of method to the Candidate.

(g) To draw a figure, and write down the trigonometrical ratios.

(h) Right-angled plane trigonometry; deducing and writing down the formula for each computation in the problem given.

(i) Oblique-angled plane trigonometry; deducing and writing down the formula, or the rule, for each computation in the problem given.

(j) To give Napier's rules for circular parts for the solution of right-angled spherical triangles, explaining clearly how the different angles and sides are considered in deducing the formulæ.

(k) Right-angled spherical trigonometry.

(m) To construct a plan or chart on Mercator's principle and solve a given problem thereon.

(n) To write an essay on the "Law of Storms." He need not confine himself solely to laws and indications laid down in the various text books, but should supplement his text book knowledge by personal experience.

(o) To give written answers to from six to ten on Naval Architecture, and sketches questions where required.

* Two or three of these problems may usually be omitted, but all those set the examination papers given to the Candidate must be worked.

He will be examined orally on the following subjects:—

(p) The leading principles of the construction of the extant and of the vernier patent logs and leads.

(q) The civil duties of a Shipmaster in which he will be expected to show a more extensive knowledge than a Candidate for an Ordinary Master's Certificate.

He will be required:—

(r) To show practical proficiency in both the Morse and Movable Semaphore methods of Signalling (see Appendix E).

The construction of the problems mentioned above and those in the compass syllabus must be shown as follows:—

(a) A circle should be drawn projected on the plane of the horizon—unless the problem can be shown better otherwise—and a correct figure drawn in it, the magnitude of the sides and angles being estimated approximately by the eye.

(b) The sides and angles used in solving the problem should be marked by distinguishing letters in the figure, and the Candidate should over each fresh computation write down clearly what is given and what he is required to find, together with the formula which he proposes to use.

(c) Opposite each quantity in the computation he should put the letters denoting the part of the triangle which it represents, writing 'comp' before the letters when the quantity is the complement of that part of the triangle.

Candidates will not be required to enter into the mathematical investigation of the rules and formulæ used in the solution of problems, involving oblique-angled spherical triangles, but credit will be given to any Candidate showing such knowledge. When, however, a problem or part of a problem is solved by right-angled spherical trigonometry, the simple process of deducing the formula from the figure, by Napier's rules for circular parts or other method, must be shown.

Where a problem is solved by right-angled plane trigonometry, the simple process of deducing the formula from the figure for each of the computations in it must be shown.

The rule for finding the latitude by meridian altitude must be proved by the figure.

Protractors must not be used in the chart construction problem either for setting off variation or laying off positions. All sketches and drawings required in the paper on Naval Architecture should be neatly done on cartridge paper supplied by the examiner.

Candidates for Commissions in the Royal Naval Volunteer Reserve may also be examined for the Ordinary certificate of Efficiency, but not for the Extra certificate.

The examinations are, in all respects, similar to those passed by Owners of Pleasure Yachts to obtain the Ordinary or Extra certificates as Master of their own Yachts. These certificates of Efficiency are purely honorary, and are not available under the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894, for use in any capacity whatever on board a ship, which is required to carry a certificated officer.

Candidates may be examined at any port where Ordinary examinations are held upon filling up the form of application (Exn. 2) and paying the fee of Rs. 15 (see Appendix E, page 1570).

VOLUNTARY EXAMINATION IN STEAM.†

Examination in steam.

86. These examinations are provided for the purpose of giving Masters and Mates who are possessed of Certificates of Competency an opportunity of undergoing a voluntary examination as to their practical knowledge of the use and working of the steam-engine They are conducted on the premises and under the superintendence of the Port Officer at such times as he may appoint for the purpose; and the Examiners are selected by the Government from the Engineer-Surveyors appointed under the Indian Steam Ships' Act, 1884.

Persons eligible.

87. The examination is open to any person who holds a Certificate of any grade in the foreign or home trade, or as master of his own Pleasure Yacht. Candidates should fill up the Form of application, Form (Exn. 2) at the Port Office, pay the fee of Rs. 15 and deposit their Certificates with the Port Officer. The Port Officer will inform the applicant when and where to attend to be examined. If the Candidate fails to pass, his certificate will be at once returned to him.

How to apply.

Result of Examination.

88. If he passes, the Report (Exn 14) will be sent to the Port Officer and the Certificate together with the Form Exn. 2 will be sent to the Government; the words "certified to have passed in steam," with the date and place of examination, will then be entered on the Certificate and its counterpart, and the certificate will be sent to the Superintendent of the Mercantile Marine Office of the port named in the Form Exn. 2, and be delivered to the Candidate in the usual manner.

In case of failure.

89. If a Candidate fails, he may not present himself for re-examination until the expiration of three months from the date of failure.

Character of Examination.

90. The examination is for the most part viva voce, and extends to a general knowledge of the practical use and working of the steam-engine, and of the various valves, fittings, and pieces of machinery connected with it and of the way in which electric lighting is carried out on board ship. Intricate theoretical questions on calculations of horse power or areas of cylinders and valves, or any of the more difficult questions relating to steam-engines and boilers, will not be asked. The examination will in fact be confined to the duties which a master of a steam-vessel may be called upon to perform in the case of the death, incapacity or delinquency of the Engineer.

Practical knowledge required.

91. Examiners are to satisfy themselves that the Candidates know the names and understand the use of the various parts of engines and boilers and their connecting pipes, valves, cocks, &c. Practical knowledge, as distinguished from theories and abstruse calculations, is to be the test of the Candidate's fitness to have his Certificate endorsed.

Examination on boardship.

92. The Examiner should arrange to conduct part of the examination in the engine-room of a Steamship, unless from circumstances he finds it impossible to do so; but in the event of the Candidate passing, the Examiner should state in writing what circumstances prevented a visit to an engine-room. If an opportunity offer, the candidate should be permitted, under the guidance of the Examiner, to start and stop the engine of some vessel which may have her steam up.

Places of Examination to be reported.

93. The Examiner, in sending in his report of the examination should state where the examination has been held.

Elementary questions to be answered.

94. Candidates will be required to give written answers to sixteen out of twenty questions taken from a book of Elementary Questions published by the Government.* These questions will be altered from time to time without notice. The twenty questions are not to be difficult, theoretical or book questions, but are to be such as any man of ordinary capacity who has any practical knowledge of the use and working of the steam-engine ought to answer.

Answers to be sent to Govt.

95. These questions, with the candidate's answers, should be sent to the Government, with the reports, after each examination.

Copying.

96. If a Candidate refers to any book or paper or memorandum, or obtains information from another Candidate during the examination, he will be treated as having failed, will forfeit his fee, and will not be allowed to be re-examined for a period of three months.

Report on failure.

97. The Examiners will report, in the case of failure, the nature of the question or questions that decided the failure, or the point in the management of the engine in which the Candidate was deficient.

Service on Steamships not essential.

98. There is nothing in the regulations requiring that Applicants for the voluntary examination shall have served on board Steamships; all that is required is that they shall have a practical knowledge of the use and working of the steam-engine. Examiners will not fail to appreciate the fact that practical knowledge is best gained in the engine-room; and the examination of an Officer who does not produce official evidence of service in steamships, and of experience of engines, must necessarily be more searching than in the case of one who produces evidence of such service and experience.

CERTIFICATES OF SERVICE.

Persons qualified.

99. A person who has attained the rank of Lieutenant, Sub-Lieutenant, Navigating Lieutenant or Navigating Sub-Lieutenant in His Majesty's Navy, or of Lieutenant in His Majesty's Indian Marine Service, is entitled to a Certificate of Service as Master of a Foreign-going Ship without examination. This certificate will not entitle the holder to go to sea as Master or Mate, of a Home Trade Passenger Ship.

Form of application.

100. Applications for Certificates of Service must be made on a printed form, Exn. 18, to be obtained free of charge from the Registrar-General of Seamen, Tower Hill, London, E., or from the Port Officer.

How to apply.

101. Applications for certificates of Service by Officers of the Royal Navy on the active list must be made through their Commanding Officers, and applications from officers who have retired from the Royal Navy or who are on half pay must be made to the Secretary of the Admiralty, who in either case will forward the application to the Board of Trade.

AMBULANCE CERTIFICATES AND GOVERNMENT AWARDS.

Ambulance Certificates and Government Awards.

102. An officer in the Mercantile Marine who holds a certificate of proficiency in First Aid to the Injured from the St. John or St. Andrew's Ambulance Association or some equivalent certificate, can have the fact endorsed on his Board of Trade certificate of competency, or certificate granted, by an authority in British Possession abroad, provided the latter was issued before April 1st, 1908, by forwarding the two certificates to the Government through the Port Officer.

Recipients of Government awards can also have the fact stamped on their Certificates on application in a similar manner.

CHAPTER III.

RULES FOR ESTIMATING SEA SERVICE.

Sea service.

103. In these regulations sea service is reckoned from the commencement to the termination of the voyage. The Certificates of Discharge for service in the Foreign Trade will generally be accepted as proof of sea service, but Certificates of Discharge for service in the Home or Coasting Trade must always be sent to the Port Officer for verification. The Port Officer and Examiners will be careful to see that these discharges have not been in any way tampered with, and will report any suspicious cases to the Government.

Sea service for Foreign-going Certificates.

104. For Foreign-going Certificates the term "Sea service" means, unless otherwise stated, service performed in Foreign-going Vessels.

Service in Home Trade.

105. For Home Trade Passenger Ship Certificates, service in the Home or Coasting Trade is regarded as equivalent to service in the Foreign Trade; but for Foreign-going Certificates, it is regarded as only equivalent to two-thirds of the time served in the Foreign Trade, except in the case of Indian Coasting Voyages extending beyond a distance of 500 miles from the port of departure in vessels commanded by Masters holding Foreign-going Certificates, when such service will count as foreign voyages, and will be reckoned as full time; but the time spent in the port of departure or Home Port will not be allowed to count. In all cases the length of service is deemed to commence on the date of sailing from the port of departure or Home Port and to end on the date of arrival at the Home Port. Such service must be vouched for in the form laid down in Appendix V, page 1631.

Certificate, Meaning of.

106. By the word "Certificate" is meant a Certificate of Competency granted by the Board of Trade under the Merchant Shipping Act, or by the Government of a British Possession under an Order in Council issued in pursuance of the Merchant Shipping Act. A list of the Colonial Certificates, referred to, will be found in Appendix T, page 1629. They are of the same force as the corresponding Certificates granted by the Board of Trade.

Colonial Local Certificates.

107. The holder of a Colonial Certificate for Foreign-going Ship not granted under the Merchant Shipping Act, who desires to be examined for an Imperial Certificate of the same grade, must prove that he has performed the amount of service required by these regulations to entitle him to hold such a Certificate. He must also produce satisfactory testimonials as to character for at least the 12 months of sea service preceding his application to be examined.

Foreign-going Certificates.

108. Where a Foreign-going Certificate is required in order to qualify a Candidate for examination, the Certificate may be either an Ordinary Certificate, or a Certificate for Fore and Aft-rigged Vessels, or a Certificate for Foreign-going Steamships.

Pilot defined.

109. The term "Pilot" in these regulations (see paras. 34 and 60) means a pilot who is employed in general pilotage and holds a First Class Pilot's Certificate from some competent authority authorizing him to pilot vessels outside harbour and partially smooth water limits. A Hooghly Master Pilot is for the purpose of this rule to be considered as First Class Pilot.

Officer's service.

110. Officer's Service, to be recognized as qualifying for purposes of examination, must be performed with the requisite Certificate as specified in Appendix P, page 1620. The Officer's service performed by men who have been duly promoted during the course of a voyage (see paragraph 114), or who, in consequence of serving in vessels plying between ports abroad, have been unable to obtain the necessary certificates, may, however, be recognized, provided that it is in other respects satisfactory.

Foreign officers.

111. Foreign Officers who wish to apply for a British Certificate of Competency must in all cases have performed their qualifying Officer's service with the requisite British Certificate. The service may have been performed in Foreign Vessels if the Candidate can produce satisfactory testimonials to conduct and character, and is able to prove that the service has been in the required capacities, and that during the period of service he has held a British Certificate of Competency of the rank required by the regulations (see paragraph 116).

In charge of Watch.

112. When service "in charge of a Watch" in either the Foreign or Home Trade is specified in the Regulations, the Candidate will have to prove that during the whole of the time claimed he had the regular charge of a Watch or Watches, which if in the Foreign Trade, must amount to not less than 8 hours of each 24 hours of service. It must be distinctly understood that this service will only be accepted when the Candidate has kept his full regular watch during the whole voyage, i.e., from port to port and that occasional service in charge of a Watch will not be accepted as Mate's service under the regulations. Great care must be exercised by the Port Officer in regard to such service, and unless the Candidate produces a clear and satisfactory Certificate, specially setting forth the above facts, from the Master or Owner of the Vessels in which the service was performed, it must not be accepted.

Additional Mates.

113. Service as Additional or Auxiliary First or Second Mates, in large Foreign-going vessels when in both cases Third and Fourth Mates are also carried, will count as First Mate's or Second Mate's service, as the case may be, provided that the Candidate was entered on the Articles in one of these capacities, and that he produces the necessary Certificate (see paragraph 112) showing that he was in charge of a watch or watches during the whole time claimed.

Promotion during voyage.

114. Whenever a man has, from any cause, been regularly promoted, on the occurrence of a vacancy in the course of the Voyage, from the rank in which he first shipped, and such promotion, with the ground on which it has been made, is properly entered in the Articles and in the Official Log Book, he will receive credit for his service in the higher grade for the period subsequent to his promotion.

Officer's Service, Home Trade.

115. Service in a lower grade than First or Only Mate in the Home or Coasting Trade will not be recognised as Officer's service towards qualifying a Candidate for examination for a Foreign Trade Certificate.

Evidence as to Service in Foreign Vessels.

116 The testimonials of service of Foreigners and of British Officers and Seamen serving in foreign vessels, which cannot be verified by the Port Officer, must be confirmed either by the Consul of the country to which the ship in which the candidate served belonged, or by some other recognized official authority of that country, or by the testimony of some credible person on the spot having personal knowledge of the facts required to be established. The production, however, of such proofs will not of necessity be deemed sufficient. Each case will be decided on its own merits, and, if the sufficiency of the proofs given appears to be at all doubtful, it must be referred to the Government for decision

Auxiliary screw ships.

117. Service in Auxiliary Screw Whaling Ships and in Vessels with auxiliary steam power, which use their screws only in calms or during light winds, is considered as service performed in Sailing Vessels.

Excursion Steamers.

118. In the case of Excursion Steamers only such service as can be proved to have been performed at sea will be accepted.

Service as Carpenter, Sailmaker, Cook, Steward, etc.

119. Candidates whose service has been performed in capacities other than Apprentice, Midshipman, Cadet, Ordinary Seaman, or Able Seaman, e g., men who have served as Carpenter, or Sailmaker, or as Cook in small vessels where cooking is only a part of a man's duty, will be required to satisfy the Port Officer that they have, during the whole time claimed, performed deck duties in addition to their own particular work, and that they have a good knowledge of Seamanship. These facts may possibly be proved by the production of satisfactory Certificates from the masters with whom the applicant has served; but such service will only be accepted as equivalent to two-thirds of the time served as ordinary deck hand Failing satisfactory evidence, the Applicant will be required to perform additional service in a capacity of Seaman. Service as Cook (under other conditions than the above), or as Steward, or as Purser, will not be accepted.

Service in fishing or Pilot Vessels.

120. Service performed exclusively in Trawlers and other deep sea-fishing vessels or in Pilot Vessels will not qualify a Candidate for examination. He must, in addition, prove the following service :—

(1) For a Foreign-going-Certificate, service for at least eighteen months in an ordinary trading vessel in the Foreign Trade, or the equivalent period (27 months) in the Home or Coasting Trade.

(2) For a Home Trade Passenger ship Certificate service for at least twelve months in an ordinary trading vessel in the Foreign, Home or Coasting Trade.

Service in Yachts.

121. Service in Pleasure Yachts will be accepted as qualifying service under the following conditions :—

(a) It must in all cases be verified by satisfactory proofs, which must set forth clearly and in detail the nature and duration of the service claimed, and it must be distinctly understood that only actual sea service will be accepted, and that service in harbour or port is inadmissible.

(b) Service in foreign-going Yachts will be accepted in full; and service performed within Home Trade limits in Sailing Yachts of not less than 50 tons net register or in Steam Yachts of not less than 80 tons gross register will be accepted in the proportion stated in para. 105; but candidates must also show (1) for a Foreign-going Certificate, service for at least eighteen months in an ordinary trading vessel in the Foreign Trade, or for the equivalent period (27 months) in an ordinary trading vessel in the Home or Coasting Trade; (2) for a Home Trade Passenger Ship Certificate, service for at least twelve months in an ordinary trading vessel in the Foreign, Home, or Coasting Trade.

(c) Service within Home Trade limits in Sailing Yachts of 20 tons net register, or in Steam Yachts of 40 tons gross register, will be accepted towards qualifying a candidate for a Foreign-going Certificate as equivalent to half the same time served in the Foreign Trade, but no amount of such service shall count as more than two years' service in the Foreign Trade, and no such service shall count as Officer's service to qualify Candidates for Foreign-going Certificates.

(d) Service within Home Trade limits in Sailing Yachts of not less than 20 tons net register, or in Steam Yachts of not less than 40 tons gross register will be accepted at the ordinary rate as qualifying service for Home Trade Passenger Ship Certificates, but Candidates must prove that they have in addition served for at least twelve months in an ordinary trading vessel in the Foreign, Home or Coasting Trade.

(e) Service within Home Trade limits in Sailing Yachts of less than 20 tons net register, or in Steam Yachts of less than 40 tons gross register will not be accepted as qualifying service for any class of Certificate.

Service in Tugs.

122. Service performed in Tugs employed in Channel Service or outside partially smooth water limits (see Appendix S, page 1624) may be accepted as sea service for the purpose of qualifying a Candidate for a Mate's or Master's Certificate for Home Trade Passenger Ships only.

Service in dredgers.

123. Service in Steam Hopper Barges may, subject to the provisions of para. 125, be allowed to count towards qualifying a Candidate for a Mate's Certificate of Competency for Home Trade Passenger Ships, provided the Candidate can prove at least two years' service in an ordinary trading vessel in either the Home, Coasting, or Foreign Trade. Service in these Steam Hoppers will not be accepted as Officer's service towards qualifying a Candidate for a Master's Certificate.

Service in Light-ships or Engine-room.

124. Service in Light-ships or in an Engine-room will not be accepted as sea service.

Service on river.

125. Service performed on rivers, no matter of what size, and service performed within smooth or partially smooth water limits (see Appendix S, page 1624) will not be accepted.

Where any doubt whatever exists on this point, the Candidate will be required to produce a Certificate from the Master or Owner of the vessel in which the service was performed before the service can be accepted.

Service on Training Ships.

126. Half the time served on board a training ship will be allowed to count as service at sea up to a limit of one year (i.e., no length of service will be allowed to count as more than one year at sea), provided that the Candidate can produce a Certificate from the Committee that he has conducted himself creditably and passed a good examination in seamanship so far as it is practised in the training ship, as well as in other matters, down to the time of his leaving the ship, but this service will not be regarded as equivalent to service in square-rigged vessels.

Apprentices.

127. The whole of the time claimed under Indentures of Apprenticeship will be accepted as actual sea service to qualify under para. 30 for a second Mate's Certificate provided (a) that the Indentures have not been cancelled through some fault of the Candidate, but are endorsed by the Owner or Master to whom he was bound, to the effect that he has performed his service faithfully during the time he remained as Apprentice; and (b) that the Candidate has served at sea four-fifths of the time claimed, that is to say, has not spent more than one-fifth of the time in Home Ports. In cases where an Apprentice is qualified for examination before the expiration of his Indentures, e.g., where he has had training ship or other sea service prior to being bound, which together with his actual time as Apprentice makes up the required four years, or where his Indentures are for a period of more than four years, a letter from the Owner or Master will be accepted in place of the endorsement referred to above.

In the event of the Candidate being short of the required four-fifths of the time claimed as Apprentice out of the United Kingdom, he will be required to show sufficient additional sea service, either as seaman or junior office, to make up the four-fifths of the time claimed.

Midshipmen and Cadets.

128. The whole of the time served as midshipman or cadet under indentures will also be accepted subject to the same conditions as those laid down for apprentices; and the same will be the case even when not bound by indentures, provided that the service as midshipman or cadet has been continuous, and that on the date of the termination of the period of service claimed in this capacity the candidate was on articles of agreement, and that he is able to comply with the requirements laid down in the matter of serving or making up the four-fifths period at sea during the time claimed.

Light-house tenders.

129. Service performed in the sea-going Steam Vessels of the Trinity House, of the Commissioners of the Northern Light-houses, or of the Commissioners of Irish Lights, or in Irish and Scotch Fishery cruisers will be accepted as sea service for the purpose of qualifying a Candidate for examination for Home Trade Passenger Ship Certificate; but for a Foreign-going Certificate a Candidate must show in addition to this service calculated in accordance with paragraph 105 at least twelve months in an ordinary Trading Vessel. In order to qualify a Candidate for an Ordinary Certificate, this twelve months must have been performed in a square-rigged Sailing Vessel (See para. 105).

Service in Royal Navy and Royal Indian Marine.

130. Officers of the Royal Navy are at liberty to apply for Certificates of Service and to be examined for Certificates of Competency in the Mercantile Marine, but the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty have directed that the applications of officers on the active list should be made through their commanding officers, and that the applications of officers on half-pay should be made to the Secretary of the Admiralty, who, in either case, will forward the application to the Board of Trade. In the case of Royal Indian Marine officers, applications for certificates of service should be made on a printed form, Examination 18, which will be supplied free of charge on application to the Director of the Royal Indian Marine. Applicants on duty in India should submit their claims to the Director for transmission to the Government of India and the India Office. Officers on leave in England should submit their claims to the India Office, on the printed form which may be obtained from that office.

The conditions on which Certificates of service are issued are stated at page 1556.

Qualifications required of Naval and Indian Marine officers.

131. Officers of the Royal Navy or of the Royal Indian Marine who wish to be examined for Certificates of Competency in the Mercantile Marine will be required to prove the following service; and if an officer wishes to obtain the Ordinary Certificate for Foreign-going Ships, he must prove that at least twelve months of this required period was served under sail alone:—

(i) For Second Mate.—The officer must prove four years' service at sea or that he has attained the rank of Acting Sub-Lieutenant.

(ii) For Only Mate.—Five years' service at sea.

(iii) For First Mate or Master.—The officers must prove that he has attained the rank of Sub-Lieutenant in the Royal Navy, or of Lieutenant in the Royal Indian Marine.

Service in Royal Naval Reserve.

132. Lieutenants, Sub-Lieutenants, and Acting Sub-Lieutenants of the Royal Naval Reserve who performed sea service on board His Majesty's ship will, if accompanied by a good report, be allowed to count such service as if it had been performed in Foreign-going Merchant Ships; and the service will rank according to the Certificate of Competency held by the Candidate at the time. Midshipman of the Royal Naval Reserve, possessing a First Mate's Certificate, and temporarily granted the rank of acting Sub-Lieutenant whilst undergoing twelve months' training afloat in the Royal Navy, will only be allowed to count such service as if it had been performed in the capacity of Second Mate of a Foreign-going Merchant Ship with a First Mate's Certificate.

Service in drill and harbour ships.

133 The time spent in drill in the Royal Naval Reserve on board sea-going vessels of the Royal Navy, if accompanied by a good report, will be accepted in full; but if the drill has been performed in Harbour ships of the Royal or Colonial Navies, only half such time will be accepted as sea service and no such service must amount to more than one-fourth of the time required for the particular grade of certificate applied for.

CHAPTER IV.

CONDUCT OF THE EXAMINATIONS.

Commencement and duration of examinations.

134. The examinations will commence early in the forenoon, and will be continued from day to day until all the Candidates whose names appear upon the Port Officer's list on the day of examination are examined.

Candidate to be punctual.

135. Candidates are required to appear at the examination room punctually at the time appointed.

Loose paper and books removed.

136. Before commencing the examination, the tables or desks must be cleared of all scraps of paper or books that are not used in the examination, and care should be taken that the Candidates do not bring into the examination room any book or paper.

No stranger admitted.

137. No person will be allowed in the room during the examination, other than those whose duties require them to be present. No instructors will be allowed on the premises.

Books and papers strictly forbidden.

138. Candidates are prohibited from bringing into the examination room books or papers of any kind whatever. The slightest infringement of this regulation will subject the offender to all the penalties of a failure, and he will not be allowed to present himself for re-examination for a period of three months.

All work to be shown.

139. No Candidate will be allowed to work out his problems on a slate or on waste paper, or to write on the blotting paper supplied for his use in the examination. Violation of this rule will subject the Candidate to all the penalties of a failure.

A sheet of blotting paper should be issued to each Candidate with the first examination paper, and it must be returned to the Examiner when the last paper is completed each day. The Examiner will be careful to see that the blotting paper has not been used by the Candidate in solving his problems or for conveying information to other Candidates.

Instruments are provided.

140. All instruments necessary for use in the examinations are supplied by the Government.

Leaving room or building.

141. No Candidate may leave the examination room without permission and without giving up the paper on which he is engaged. Under no circumstances will a Candidate be allowed to leave the building while the examination is proceeding. Violation of this rule will subject the Candidate to all the penalties of a failure.

Copying, &c., to be prevented.

142. Candidates should be so placed as to prevent one copying from the other, and no communication whatever between the Candidates should be allowed.

Penalty for copying, &c.

143. In the event of any Candidate being discovered referring to any book or paper, or copying from another, or affording any assistance or giving any information to another, or communicating in any way with another, during the time of examination, or copying any part of the problems for the purpose of taking them out of the examination room, he will subject himself to all the penalties of a failure, and will not be allowed to be examined for a period of six months.

Injury to books.

144. If a Candidate defaces, blots, writes in or otherwise injures any book or form belonging to the Board, his papers will be retained until he has replaced the damaged book or document. He will not be allowed to remove the damaged book or document, and will be subjected to all the penalties of a failure.

Silence.

145. Perfect silence is to be preserved in the examination room.

Penalty for breach of rules.

146 Any Candidate violating any of the regulations, or being guilty of insolence to the Examiner, or of disorderly or improper conduct in or about the room, will render himself liable to the postponement of his examination ; or if he has passed, to the detention of his Certificate for such period as the Government may direct.

Examination papers, how to be dealt with.

147. The examination papers of Candidates must in all cases be sent to the Port Officer, Calcutta, for his approval, together with the report of the examination on the Form, Exn. 14. Should the envelope containing the examination papers appear to have been opened, or in any way tampered with, the Examiner should, if he thinks it necessary, defer the examination until the following day. In the event of any case of this kind occurring, a full report of the circumstances, and of the steps taken in the matter, should be immediately forwarded to the Port Officer, Calcutta.

Papers to be issued singly.

148. The examination papers should be issued to the Candidates in half sheets only and one at a time. This will prevent a Candidate from spreading out the sheets on the table so as to enable his neighbour to look over the problems. It will also enable the Examiner to look over and report upon the work on one-half sheet, while the Candidate is at work upon another. When the errors are not too numerous, the incorrect problems may be returned to the Candidate for correction, but in no case should the errors be pointed out by the Examiner, neither should any marks be made which would indicate how far, or to what extent, the work is incorrect. The incorrect problems are not to be returned to the Candidate for correction a second time, and should more than one of the problems—or two, if the errors are only slight—be still incorrect, this would involve a failure. It must be understood, however, that the day's work, latitude by meridian and ex-meridian, altitude of sun and star, chronometer problem by sun and star, and the Summer problem must always be correct.

Extra hour allowed in certain cases.

149. When, from the large number of the Candidates, it may sometimes be found impossible to look over the work on the day of examination during the office hours, an hour in the morning of the following day may be allotted for the purpose of correcting the problems, but in no case should a Candidate have his problem returned to him for correction after he has made the second attempt.

Extra certificates.

150. In the examinations for Extra Certificates for Foreign-going Ships and for Steamships, the Candidate will be required to complete the whole of his problems and other papers, which must not be returned to the Candidate for correction, but will then be dealt with by the Examiner on the mark system. If the Candidate does not obtain 85 per cent. of the total number of marks allotted for the papers, he will be declared to have failed (see Appendix Q, page 1622).

Dictation.

151. The examination will commence with not less than a quarter of an hour's dictation to test handwriting and spelling. This, however, is only to be given to those Candidates who present themselves for examinations for the first time for a Foreign-going Certificate. The spelling must be reasonably and fairly good, and the writing clear and legible. The spelling and writing of all Candidates must be satisfactory, and in cases where there is any doubt about the ability of a Candidate to spell correctly, he will be specially tested by dictation.

Definitions.

152. The paper of definitions (see Appendix D, page 1569) is only for those Candidates who present themselves for examination for the first time for a Foreign-going Certificate. In using this paper, the Examiner will place a mark against the questions which he wishes to be answered, not less than ten questions being so selected. The Candidate will then write against the questions so marked his definition of the terms in a clear and legible hand, and so as to prevent the possibility of any letter being mistaken, and also draw a rough sketch or diagram opposite to each of the questions to which he has given written answers in further illustration of its meaning. The viva voce questions will be asked on the answers given (see para. 163).

Compass deviation.

153. In the questions on the Deviation of the Compass (see Appendix J, page 1598), the Examiner will mark at least twelve of the questions, including the problems. The selected questions will be varied frequently, and no two Candidates will have precisely the same questions. The Candidate will be furnished with sheets of the blank ruled paper which is supplied for the purpose, with instructions that he is to write only on one side of the paper, and to answer in a clear and legible hand each of the questions against which a mark is placed, and to commence each answer by writing down the number of the question to which it relates in the margin. In answering question 39 on the tentative method of compass adjustment, the Candidate will be tested by Beall's Compass Deviascope, and it will not therefore be necessary for him to give the written answer and sketches. A Candidate for an Extra Master's Certificate will not be required to answer the questions on Compass Deviation on Form Exn. 7, but will be examined in the Syllabus shown in Appendix K, page 1600, and with the Compass Deviascope.

Barometer, tides, &c.

154. The examination on the Barometer, Thermometer, and Hydrometer, prevailing winds and currents of the globe, Trade routes and Tides will for the present be conducted orally, and the questions asked by the Examiner, which will be constantly varied, will be confined to and based on the information given in the test-books mentioned in Appendix R, page 1623. Candidates will be required to have a fair and intelligent knowledge of the contents of those books.

Adjustment of sextant.

155. Particular attention should be paid to the adjustments of the sextant, the examination in which subject will be conducted orally and practically. Every candidate will be examined practically as to his knowledge of the adjustments, and the use of the various screws; he must be able to read correctly off the arc, a supposed index error being given by the Examiner, as additive, as well as reading on the arc in the usual way; he must also be able to find the index error both by the horizon and by the sun.

Corrections. 156. Candidates will find it more convenient, both during the examination and at sea, to correct the declination and other elements from the Nautical Almanac by the hourly differences given in that work; they will thereby render themselves independent of any proportional or logarithmic table for that purpose.

Corrections by tables. 157. The corrections by inspection of tables given in some of the works on navigation, e.g., Tables IX, XI, and XXI in Norie's Epitome, will not be allowed; every correction must appear on the papers of the Candidates.

Minor corrections to be shown. 158. All outstanding or minor corrections should appear in the margin of each problem paper, and on the chart papers, and the papers of the Candidate will not be considered complete without these corrections.

Degree of precision required. 159. Degree of precision required in the solution of the problems:—

(a) Candidates are expected to work out their answers to all problems where the answer required is a latitude, longitude or distance within 1½′ of position from a correct result: in finding the ship's position by Sumner's method a margin of 2½′ will be allowed.

(b) In such problems as the "Amplitude" and "Alt-Azimuth", where the bearing, deviations, &c., only are required, a margin of 3′ or 4′ from a correct result will be sufficiently accurate.

(c) Candidates for Ordinary certificates are not required to correct for second differences in taking out the quantities from the Nautical Almanac; and even Candidates for extra Certificates are only required to show that they are acquainted with the method of second differences by correcting the elements for same in the error of chronometer problem.

(d) In solving the Time Azimuth problems an answer not exceeding half a degree from the exact result will be sufficiently near. But in all cases the actual latitude, declination, and time used, together with the exact bearing from the North or South as given in the tables, must be clearly shown by the candidate on his papers.

(e) In computing the time at which a given star will be on the observer's meridian, and the name of the stars near the meridian [sections (b) and (e) of paragraph 35], an approximation only is required, and it will be sufficiently precise if the candidate works throughout with the nearest minute of time. In computing the approximate meridian altitude of a star [section (g)], working throughout with the nearest minute of arc will also be sufficiently close.

(f) In interpolating for the correct deviation to be applied in solving the chart questions, it will usually be sufficient if the candidate works throughout with the nearest degree of deviation taken from the deviation card; and even in cases where the deviations may vary but little, the nearest half degree used throughout will be sufficiently precise. It is not necessary that the candidate should waste his time in solving the course to odd minutes, as is some times done.

(g) In calculating the correction to apply to soundings, the candidate is not required to work to the exact inch, as is sometimes done. It will be sufficient if he brings his answer within half a foot or so of a precise result.

It must be clearly understood in reading the foregoing instructions as to the precision required, that they only apply when the work of the candidate is correct in principle.

160. Examiners should bear in mind that the problems to be solved are required as tests, and for the purposes of an examination, and not for sea-going or practical purposes alone. Problems are tests.

161. The Candidates will be allowed to work out the various problems according to the method and the tables they have been accustomed to use. Candidates may use own method.

162. All the problems given in the examinations, both for the Ordinary and for the Extra Certificates, will be constantly varied; and the mode of stating the times in the astronomical problems, and the mode of wording and setting these and all other problems will be varied in every possible way, so as to ensure that the Candidate has a proper knowledge of the subject. Problems to be varied.

163. Candidates are expected not only to give correct written answers to the questions set in the papers, but also to possess an intelligent knowledge of the various subjects prescribed in the regulations. The Examiner will therefore put a few viva voce questions to the Candidate as the papers are brought up for inspection or during the course of the examination. The questions, which will be based on the papers set, will be such that the Examiner may satisfy himself that the Candidate possesses a real knowledge of what he has written. Supplementary viva voce.

164. When an Examiner finds it necessary to fail a Candidate in this supplementary viva voce test, a statement to that effect will be made on the Candidate's examination papers before they are forwarded to the Port Officer, Calcutta. Failure in supplementary viva voce.

165. A candidate will not be allowed to undergo examination twice in the same week, unless under very special and urgent circumstances the Port Officer should see fit to relax this rule. Where such an extension of time is granted, the case must be fully reported to the Government on the Form Exn. 14.

Viva voce time extra. 175. The periods prescribed in the foregoing paragraphs are not intended to include the time occupied by the viva voce part of the examination.

Viva voce time allowed. 176. In the viva voce examination a reasonable time should be allowed for the Candidate to give his answers. No assistance should be given or leading question put.

Time allowed for navigation. 177. It is anticipated that few Candidates will require the whole of the time allowed for completing the examination in Navigation, but ample time has been given so that candidates may perform their work in a careful, clear and legible manner and to the entire satisfaction of the examiners.

Order of work. 178. Candidates, after finishing the problems required in the various grades on the first day of examination, should proceed, until the end of that day, with such subjects as the definitions, chart, questions relating to cyclones and compass deviation.

Sumner problem. 179. The Sumner problem (Exn. 6C) must on no account be given out to any of the Candidates on the first day of the examination, but should form the commencement of the Candidates' work on the second day. On completion of this problem, if included in the lower grade problems the Candidates for Masters' Certificates should proceed with the problems (a), (b), (c) of the Syllabus for that Grade.

Examination in Signalling.

The examination in Signalling should in all cases and for all grades commence with an examination in the International Code and be followed by an examination in the British Signal Manual, including Morse, Flashing, Flagwaving and Semaphore.

International Code.—Examiners are recommended to frame the examination in the International Code of Signals, upon the instructions and illustrations given at the commencement of Parts I and II of the Signal Book. The information there given will be found sufficient to indicate all the characteristics of the Code.

By the form of the hoist, an observer can at sight understand the nature of any signal he sees flying; the examination should, therefore, tend to elicit a clear knowledge of all the distinctive features of the Code.

With this object in view, the examiners should question the candidates as to the distinguishing forms of the respective hoists, which will be indicated according as a burgee, a pennant, or a square flag is uppermost, and also with regard to the number of flags, and the position of the Code flag when used in the hoist: making the 1, 2, 3 and 4 flag signals with the flags supplied for the purpose, and varying the signals made, showing 2 and 3 flag signals with and without the Code flag included, or a Geographical or a Vocabulary signal, the name of a merchant ship or of a ship of war.

As the two latter signals would not be found in th Signal Book, the candidate should know where to find them and how to look them out.

The candidate should:—(a) Be able to read a signal at sight, so far as to name the flags composing the hoist. (b) Know the use of the Code pennant and of the pennants C and D, "Yes" and "No," also of the two burgees A and B, and the square flags S and P, and the flags used to indicate cholera, plague, &c, on board, and the quarantine flag. (c) Be required to signal some word or words not included in the vocabulary of the Code, either by letters or by the Spelling Table (page 516) or both. (d) Have a knowledge of the Distant Signals, and of their object, and the different modes of signalling therewith. (e) Know the special Morse signals indicated by certain letters as given on page 550. (f) Have a good knowledge of the Distress Signals and understand the penalty which may be incurred by their improper use.

The International Code is used on board His Majesty's ships, and it has been adopted by all the principal Maritime Powers for their public as well as merchant ships.

British Signal Manual.—Candidates will be expected to know the meaning of any or all of the single flag signals given therein, and the signification of the Pilot Jack when incorporated in a hoist. They should also be required to make or read from the Pilot Jack table a hoist given by the examiner. Candidates need not be expected to commit the Pilot Jack table to memory, but there should be no hesitation whatever in making or reading a signal. They should also know how to recognize any of the Special Signals given at the end of the British Signal Manual.

For the ordinary examination candidates should be required to read Morse letters made slowly and with a reasonable interval, say 3 to 5 seconds, between each letter by both flashing lamp and flagwaving, and also be able to read letters made either by hand flags or mechanical Semaphore with the same interval allowed between the letters. They must also be able to make any given letters by any of these methods. A short sentence may be used for both making and reading.

For the Extra Master's certificate and the Voluntary examination in signalling the standard of efficiency required is as follows:—

Candidates must be capable of sending and reading signals made by (1) Semaphore, at a rate of 10 words per minute, (2) Morse, flashing and flagwaving at a rate of 6 words per minute (the average length of a word to be calculated at 5 letters).

The Semaphore test will be a spelling message of 50 words.

The Morse, flashing and flagwaving, test will be a test message (see British Signal Manual), followed by a spelling message of 25 words.

The candidates must attain a decree of accuracy of at least 90 per cent. both in making and reading in each method, i.e., Flashing, Flagwaving and Semaphore.

In the examination in Morse flashing and flagwaving the candidate should be first required to make a test message, followed by a spelling message of 25 words The examiner should then make a test message followed by a spelling message of 25 words to be read by the candidate.

The same procedure must be observed in the Semaphore examination, except that, as a test message is not given, the candidate will be required to make a spelling message of 50 words and then to read a message of 50 words made by the examiner. The Semaphore messages may be made either by hand flags or mechanical Semaphore, or both at the discretion of the examiner.

In the Morse flashing and flagwaving examination, marks will be allotted for the test message in the proportion of 50/78 of a mark for each correct letter (see table at back of test cards), and for the spelling message 2 marks for each correct word or group of figures. The candidate must for a pass gain an aggregate of at least 90 per cent. of the maximum marks in both spelling and test messages.

In the Semaphore examination 2 marks will be allotted for each correct word and 90 per cent. of the maximum must be obtained for a pass.

The spelling message is left to the discretion of the examiner and may be a passage from any book or newspaper in English. When the passage contains figures and the candidate does not choose to spell them out, the examiner should see that the proper signs are made before and after the figures.

The message as read by the candidate should be taken down by another candidate, clerk, or other person according as the examiner may deem expedient.

Candidates should be thoroughly tested in the various signs and the procedure of calling up, sending and answering a signal, as laid down in the British Signal Manual, and this course should always be strictly adhered to.

Particular attention should be paid by examiners to the accurate spacing of the Morse signs, and to the intervals between letters and words, both in flashing and flagwaving, and also to the correct making of the Semaphore signs. Any attempted increase of speed at the expense of accuracy should be discouraged.

The block letter test and spelling message as read by the candidate should be forwarded on the Form Exn. 19*a*, together with the percentage of marks allotted and report on the Form Exn. 19*b* to the Principal Examiner, with any remarks the examiner may have to add with respect to the examination.

Note.—The International Code of Signals, with the Signal Letters of British Ships, is prepared by the Registrar-General of Shipping and Seamen, and may be obtained of the publishers, Messrs. Spottiswoode & Co., 54, Gracechurch Street, London, and the principal booksellers at the various ports, price 4*s.* 6*d.*

The Official Mercantile Navy List and Maritime Directory may be obtained in like manner, price 12*s.*

The British Signal Manual, which in the next edition will be entitled "The British Signal Manual, authorised for use between His Majesty's Ships and British Merchant Vessels, British Merchant Vessels and one another, and certain Signal Stations." may be obtained, either directly or through any booksellers, from Messrs. Wyman & Sons, Fetter Lane, London, E.C., price 1*s.*

APPENDIX F.

REGULATIONS FOR PREVENTING COLLISIONS AT SEA.

1.—Order in Council of November 27, 1896.

SCHEDULE I.

Preliminary.

These Rules shall be followed by all vessels upon the high seas and in all waters connected therewith, navigable by sea-going vessels.

In the following rules every "steam-vessel which is under sail and not under steam is to be considered a sailing vessel, and every vessel under steam, whether under sail or not, is to be considered a steam-vessel.

The word "steam vessel" shall include any vessel propelled by machinery.

A vessel is "under way" within the meaning of these Rules when she is not at anchor, or made fast to the shore or aground.

Rules concerning Lights, &c.

The word "visible" in these Rules, when applied to lights, shall mean visible on a dark night with a clear atmosphere.

Article 1.—The Rules concerning lights shall be complied with in all weathers from sunset to sunrise, and during such time no other lights, which may be mistaken for the prescribed lights, shall be exhibited.

Article 2.—A steam-vessel when under way shall carry—

(a) On or in front of the foremast, or if a vessel without a for mast, then in the fore part of the vessel at a height above the hull of not less than 20 feet, and if the breadth of the vessel exceeds 20 feet, then at a height above the hull not less than such breadth, so, however, that the light need not be carried at a greater height above the hull than 40 feet, a bright white light, so constructed as to show an unbroken light over an arc of the horizon of 20 points of the compass, so fixed as to throw the lights 10 points on each side of the vessel, viz., from right ahead to 2 points abaft the beam on either side, and of such a character as to be visible at a distance of at least 5 miles.

(b) On the starboard side a green light so constructed as to show an unbroken light over an arc of the horizon of 10 points of the compass, so fixed as to throw the light from right ahead to two points abaft the beam on the starboard side, and of such a character as to be visible at a distance of at least 2 miles.

(c) On the port side a red light so constructed as to show on unbroken light over an arc of the horizon of 10 points of the compass, so fixed as to throw the light from right ahead to 2 points abaft the beam on the port side, and of such a character as to be visible at a distance of at least 2 miles.

(d) The said green and red side-lights shall be fitted with inboard screens projecting at least 3 feet forward from the light, so as to prevent these lights from being seen across the bow.

(e) A steam-vessel when under way may carry an additional white light similar in construction to the light mentioned in subdivision (a). These two lights shall be so placed in line with the keel that one shall be at least 15 feet higher than the other, and in such a position with reference to each other that the lower light shall be forward of the upper one. The vertical distance between these lights shall be less than the horizontal distance.

Article 3.—A steam-vessel when towing another vessel shall, in addition to her side-lights, carry two bright white lights in a vertical line, one over the other, not less than 6 feet apart, and when towing more than one vessel shall carry an additional bright white light 6 feet above or below such lights, if the length of the tow, measuring from the stern of the towing vessel to the stern of the last vessel towed exceeds 600 feet. Each of these lights shall be of the same construction and character, and shall be carried in the same position as the white light mentioned in article 2 (a), except the additional light, which may be carried at a height of not less than 14 feet above the hull.

Such steam-vessel may carry a small white light abaft the funnel or aftermast for the vessel towed to steer by, but such light shall not be visible forward of the beam.

Article 4 (a).—A vessel which from any accident is not under command shall carry at the same height as the white light mentioned in article 2 (a), where they can best be seen, and if a steam-vessel, in lieu of that light two red lights, in a vertical line one over the other, not less than 6 feet apart, and of such a character as to be visible all round the horizon at a distance of at least 2 miles, and shall by day carry in a vertical line one over the other, not less than 6 feet apart, where they can best be seen, two black balls or shapes each 2 feet in diameter.

(b) A vessel employed in laying or in picking up a telegraph cable shall carry in the same position as the white light mentioned in article 2 (a), and if a steam-vessel, in lieu of that light, three lights in a vertical line one over the other, not less than 6 feet apart. The highest and lowest of these lights shall be red, and the middle light shall be white, and they shall be of such a character as to be visible all round the horizon, at a distance of at least 2 miles. By day she shall carry in a vertical line, one over the other, not less than 6 feet apart, where they can best be seen, three shapes not less than two feet in diameter of which the highest and lowest shall be globular in shape and red in colour, and the middle one diamond in shape and white.

(c) The vessels referred to in this article, when not making way through the water, shall not carry the side lights, but when making way shall carry them.

(d) The lights and shapes required to be shown by this article are to be taken by other vessels as signals that the vessel showing them is not under command and cannot therefore get out of the way.

These signals are not signals of vessels in distress and requiring assistance. Such signals are contained in article 31.

Article 5.—A sailing vessel under way, and any vessel being towed shall carry in same lights as are prescribed by article 2 for a steam-vessel under way, with the exception of the white lights mentioned therein which they shall never carry.

Article 6.—Whenever, as in the case of small vessels under way during bad weather, the green and red side-lights cannot be fixed, these lights shall be kept at hand lighted and ready for use; and shall, on the approach of or to other vessels, be exhibited on their respective sides in sufficient time to prevent collision, in such manner as to make them most visible, and so that the green light shall not be seen on the port side, nor the red light on the starboard side, nor, if practicable, more than 2 points abaft the beam on their respective sides.

To make the use of these portable lights more certain and easy, the lanterns containing them shall each be painted outside with the colour of the light they respectively contain and shall be provided with proper screens.

Article 7.—Steam-vessels of less than 40, and vessels under oars or sails of less than 20 tons gross tonnage, respectively, and rowing boats, when under way, shall not be obliged to carry the lights mentioned in article 2 (a), (b) and (c), but if they do not carry them, they shall be provided with the following lights:—

1. Steam-vessels of less than 40 tons shall carry:

(a) In the fore part of the vessel, or on or in front of the funnel where it can best be seen and at a height above the gunwale of not less than 9 feet, a bright white light constructed and fixed as prescribed in article 2 (a), and of such a character as to be visible at a distance of at least 2 miles.

(b) Green and red side-lights constructed and fixed as prescribed in article 2 (b) and (c), and of such a character as to be visible at a distance of at least 1 mile, or a combined lantern showing a green light and a red light from right-a-head to 2 points abaft the beam on their respective sides. Such lantern shall be carried not less than 3 feet below the white light.

2. Small steam-boats, such as are carried by sea-going vessels, may carry the white light at a less height than 9 feet above the gunwale, but it shall be carried above the combined lantern, mentioned in subdivision 1 (b).

3. Vessels under oars or sails, of less than 20 tons, shall have ready at hand a lantern with a green glass on one side and a red glass on the other, which, on the approach of or to other vessels, shall be exhibited in sufficient time to prevent collision, so that the green light shall not be seen on the port side nor the red light on the starboard side.

4. Rowing boats, whether under oars or sail, shall have ready at hand a lantern showing a white light, which shall be temporarily exhibited in sufficient time to prevent collision.

The vessels referred to in this article shall not be obliged to carry the lights prescribed by article 4 (a) and article 11, last paragraph

Article 8.— Pilot vessels, when engaged on their station on pilotage duty, shall not show the lights required for other vessels, but shall carry a white light at the masthead, visible all round the horizon, and shall also exhibit a flare-up light or flare-up lights at short intervals, which shall never exceed 15 minutes.

On the near approach of or to other vessels they shall have their side lights lighted, ready for use and shall for flash or show them at short intervals, to indicate the direction in which they are heading, but the green light shall not be shown on the port side, nor the red light on the starboard side.

A pilot-vessel of such a class as to be obliged to go alongside of a vessel to put a pilot on board, may show the white light instead of carrying it to the masthead, and may, instead of the coloured lights abovementioned have at hand ready for use a lantern with a green glass on the one side and a red glass on the other, to be used as prescribed above.

Pilot vessels, when not engaged on their station on pilotage duty, shall carry lights similar to those of other vessels of their tonnage*.

Article 9.—Fishing-vessels and fishing boats, when under way and when not required by this article to carry or show the lights hereinafter specified shall carry or show the lights prescribed for vessels of their tonnage under way.

(a) Open boats, by which is to be understood boats not protected from the entry of sea water by means of a continuous deck, when engaged in any fishing at night with outlying tackle extending not more than 150 feet horizontally from the boat into the seaway, shall carry one all-round white light.

Open boats, when fishing at night, with outlying tackle extending more than 150 feet horizontally from the boat into the seaway, shall carry one all-round white light, and in addition, on approaching or being approached by other vessels, shall show a second white light at least 3 feet below the first light and at a horizontal distance of at least 5 feet away from it in the direction in which the outlying tackle is attached.

(b) Vessels and boats except open boats as defined in subdivision (a), when fishing with drift nets, shall, so long as the nets are wholly or partly in the water, carry two white lights where they can best be seen. Such lights shall be placed so that the vertical distance between them shall be not less than 6 feet and not more than 15 feet, and so that the horizontal distance between them, measured in a line with the keel, shall be not less than 5 feet and not more than 10 feet. The lower of these two lights shall be in the direction of the nets, and both of them shall be of such a character as to show all round the horizon, and to be visible at a distance of not less than 3 miles.

Within the Mediterranean Sea and in the seas bordering the coasts of Japan and Korea sailing fishing vessels of less than 20 tons gross tonnage shall not be obliged to carry the lower of these two lights; should they, however, not carry it, they shall show in the same position (in the direction of the net or gear) a white light, visible at a distance of not less than one sea mile, on the approach of or to other vessels.

(c) Vessels and boats, except open boats as defined in subdivision (a), when line-fishing with their lines out and attached to or hauling their lines, and when not at anchor or stationary within the meaning of subdivision (b), shall carry the same lights as vessels fishing with drift-nets. When shooting lines, or fishing with towing lines, they shall carry the lights prescribed for a steam or sailing vessel under way respectively.

Within the Mediterranean Sea and in the seas bordering the coasts of Japan and Korea sailing fishing vessels of less than 20 tons gross tonnage shall not be obliged to carry the lower of these two lights; should they, however, not carry it, they shall show in the same position (in the direction of the lines) a white light, visible at a distance of not less than one sea mile on the approach of or to other vessels.

(d) Vessels, when engaged in trawling, by which is meant the dragging of an apparatus along the bottom of the sea—

1. If steam-vessels, shall carry in the same position as the white light mentioned in article 2 (a), a tri-coloured lantern so constructed and fixed as to show a white light from right ahead to two points on each bow, and a green light and a red light over an arc of the horizon from two points on each bow to two points abaft the beam on the starboard and port sides respectively; and not less than 6 nor more than 12 feet below the tri-coloured lantern a white light in a lantern, so constructed as to show a clear uniform and unbroken light all round the horizon.

2. If sailing-vessels, shall carry a white light in a lantern, so constructed as to show a clear uniform and unbroken light all round the horizon, and shall also, on the approach of or to other vessels, show where it can best be seen a white flare-up light or torch in sufficient time to prevent collision.

All lights mentioned in subdivision (d) 1 and 2 shall be visible at a distance of at least 2 miles.

(e) Oyster dredgers and other vessels fishing with dredge nets shall carry and show the same lights as trawlers.

(f) Fishing-vessels and fishing-boats may at any time use a flare-up light in addition to the lights which they are by this article required to carry and show, and they may also use working lights.

(g) Every fishing-vessel and every fishing-boat under 150 feet in length, when at anchor, shall exhibit a white light visible all round the horizon at a distance of at least one mile.

Every fishing vessel of 150 feet in length or upwards, when at anchor, shall exhibit a white light visible all round the horizon at a distance of at least one mile, and shall exhibit a second light as provided for vessels of such length by article 11.

Should any such vessel, whether under 150 feet in length, or of 150 feet in length or upwards, be attached to a net or other fishing gear, she shall on the approach of other vessels show an additional white light at least 3 feet below the anchor light, and at a horizontal distance of at least 5 feet away from it in the direction of the net or gear.

(h) If a vessel or boat when fishing becomes stationary in consequence of her gear getting fast to a rock or other obstruction, she shall in daytime haul down the day-signal required by subdivision (k); at night show the light or lights prescribed for a vessel at anchor; and during fog, mist, falling snow, or heavy rain-storms make the signal prescribed for a vessel at anchor. [See subdivision (d) and the last paragraph of article 15.]

(i) In fog, mist, falling snow, or heavy rain-storms, drift-net vessels attached to their nets, and vessels when trawling, dredging, or fishing with any kind of drag-net, and vessels line fishing with their lines out, shall, if of 20 tons gross tonnage or upwards, respectively, at intervals of not more than one minute make a blast: if steam-vessels, with the whistle or syren, and if sailing-vessels with the fog-horn; each blast to be followed by ringing the bell. Fishing vessels and boats of less than 20 tons gross tonnage shall not be obliged to give the above-mentioned signals; but if they do not, they shall make some other efficient sound signal at intervals of not more than one minute.

(k) All vessels or boats fishing with nets or lines or trawls, when under way, shall in daytime indicate their occupation to an approaching vessel by displaying a basket or other efficient signal where it can best be seen. If vessels or boats at anchor have their gear out, they shall, on the approach of other vessels, show the same signal on the side on which those vessels can pass.

The vessels required by this article to carry or show the lights hereinbefore specified shall not be obliged to carry the lights prescribed by article 4 (a), and the last paragraph of article 11.

Article 10.—A vessel which is being overtaken by another shall show from her stern to such last-mentioned vessel a white light or a flare-up light.

The white light required to be shown by this article may be fixed and carried in a lantern, but in such case the lantern shall be so constructed, fitted and screened that it shall throw an unbroken light over an arc of the horizon of 12 points of the compass, viz, for 6 points from right aft on each side of the vessel so as to be visible at a distance of at least 1 mile. Such light shall be carried as nearly as practicable on the same level as the side lights.

Article 11.—A vessel under 150 feet in length, when at anchor, shall carry forward, where it can best be seen, but at a height not exceeding 20 feet above the hull, a white light in a lantern so constructed as to show a clear uniform and unbroken light visible all round the horizon at a distance of at least 1 mile.

A vessel of 150 feet or upwards in length, when at anchor shall carry in the forward part of the vessel, at a height of not less than 20, and not exceeding 40 feet above the hull, one such light and at or near the stern of the vessel and at such a height that it shall be not less than 15 feet lower than the forward light, another such light.

The length of a vessel shall be deemed to be the length appearing, in her certificate of registry.

A vessel aground in or near a fair way shall carry the above light or lights and the two red lights prescribed by article 4 (a).

Article 12.—Every vessel may, if necessary, in order to attract attention, in addition to the lights which she is by these rules required to carry, show a flare-up light or use any detonating signal that cannot be mistaken for a distress signal.

Article 13.—Nothing in these rules shall interfere with the operation of any special rules made by the Government of any nation with respect to additional station and signal lights for two or more ships of war or for vessels sailing under convoy, or with the exhibition of recognition signals adopted by ship-owners, which have been authorized by their respective Governments and duly registered and published.

Article 14.—A steam-vessel proceeding under sail only but having her funnel up, shall carry in day time, forward, where it can best be seen, one black ball or shape 2 feet in diameter.

Sound Signals for Fog, etc.

Article 15.—All signals prescribed by this article for vessels under way shall be given:

(1) By "steam-vessels" on the whistle or siren.

(2) By "sailing vessels and vessels towed" on the fog-horn.

The words "prolonged blast" used in this article, shall mean a blast of from 4 to 6 seconds' duration.

A steam-vessel shall be provided with an efficient whistle or siren, sounded by steam or some substitute for steam, so placed that the sound may not be intercepted by any obstruction, and with an efficient fog-horn, to be sounded by mechanical means, and also with an efficient bell.* A sailing vessel of 20 tons gross tonnage or upwards shall be provided with a similar fog-horn and bell.

* In all cases where the rules require a bell to be used, a drum may be substituted on board Turkish vessels, or a gong where such articles are used on board small sea-going vessels.

In fog, mist, falling snow or heavy rain-storms, whether by day or night the signals described in this article shall be used as follows, viz.—

(a) A steam-vessel having way upon her, shall sound, at intervals of not more than 2 minutes, a prolonged blast.

(b) A steam-vessel under way, but stopped and having no way upon her, shall sound at intervals of not more than 2 minutes, two prolonged blasts, with an interval of about 1 second between them.

(c) A sailing-vessel under way shall sound, at intervals of not more than 1 minute, when on the starboard tack one blast, when on the port tack two blasts in succession, and when with the wind abaft the beam three blasts in succession.

(d) A vessel, when at anchor, shall, at intervals of not more than 1 minute, ring the bell rapidly for about 5 seconds.

(e) A vessel, when towing a vessel employed in laying or in picking up a telegraph cable, and a vessel under way, which is unable to get out of the way of an approaching vessel through being not under command, or unable to manœuvre as required by these rules shall, instead of the signals prescribed in subdivisions (a) and (c) of this article, at intervals of not more than 2 minutes, sound three blasts, in succession, viz., one prolonged blast followed by two short blasts. A vessel towed may give this signal and she shall not give any other.

Sailing vessels and boats of less than 20 tons gross tonnage shall not be obliged to give the above-mentioned signals, but if they do not, they shall make some other efficient sound-signal at intervals of not more than 1 minute.

Speed of ships to be Moderate in Fog, etc.

Article 16.—Every vessel shall in a fog, mist, falling snow, or heavy rain-storms, go at a moderate speed having careful regard to the existing circumstances and conditions.

A steam-vessel hearing, apparently forward of her beam, the fog-signal of a vessel the position of which is not ascertained, shall, so far as the circumstances of the case admit, stop her engines, and then navigate with caution until danger of collision is over.

STEERING AND SAILING RULES

Preliminary—Risk of Collision.

Risk of collision can, when circumstances permit, be ascertained by carefully watching the compass bearing of an approaching vessel. If the bearing does not appreciably change such risk should be deemed to exist.

Article 17.—When two sailing vessels are approaching one another so as to involve risk of collision, one of them shall keep out of the way of the other, as follows, viz —

(a) A vessel which is running free shall keep out of the way of a vessel which is close-hauled.

(b) A vessel which is close-hauled on the port tack shall keep out of the way of a vessel which is close-hauled on the starboard tack.

(c) When both are running free, with the wind on different sides, the vessel which has the wind on the port side shall keep out of the way of the other.

(d) When both are running free, with the wind on the same side, the vessel which is to windward shall keep out of the way of the vessel which is to leeward.

(e) A vessel which has the wind aft shall keep out of the way of the other vessel.

Article 18.—When two steam-vessels are meeting end on, or nearly end on so as to involve risk of collision, each shall alter her course to starboard, so that each may pass on the port side of the other.

This article only applies to cases where vessels are meeting end on, or nearly end on, in such a manner as to involve risk of collision, and does not apply to two vessels which must, if both keep on their respective courses, pass clear of each other.

The only cases to which it does apply are when each of the two vessels is end on, or nearly end on, to the other; in other words, to cases in which, by day, each vessel sees the masts of the other in a line, or nearly in a line, with her own; and, by night, to cases in which each vessel is in such a position as to see both the side-lights of the other.

It does not apply, by day, to cases in which a vessel sees another ahead crossing her own course; or, by night, to cases where the red light of one vessel is opposed to the red light of the other, or where the green light of one vessel is opposed to the green light of the other, or where a red light without a green light, or a green light without a red light, is seen ahead, or where both green and red lights are seen anywhere but ahead.

Article 19.—When two steam-vessels are crossing, so as to involve risk of collision, the vessel which has the other on her own starboard side shall keep out of the way of the other.

Article 20.—When a steam-vessel and a sailing-vessel are proceeding in such directions as to involve risk of collision, the steam-vessel shall keep out of the way of the sailing-vessel.

Article 21.—Where by any of these rules one of two vessels is to keep out of the way, the other shall keep her course and speed.

Note.—When in consequence of thick weather or other causes, such vessel finds herself so close that collision cannot be avoided by the action of the giving-way vessel alone, she also shall take such action as will best aid to avert collision. (See articles 27 and 29.)

Article 22.—Every vessel which is directed by these rules to keep out of the way of another vessel shall, if the circumstances of the case admit, avoid crossing ahead of the other.

Article 23.—Every steam-vessel, which is directed by these rules to keep out of the way of another vessel, shall on approaching her, if necessary, slacken her speed or stop or reverse.

Article 24.—Notwithstanding anything contained in these rules, every vessel, overtaking any other, shall keep out of the way of the overtaken vessel.

Every vessel coming up with another vessel from any direction more than two points abaft her beam, i.e., in such a position, with reference to the vessel which she is overtaking that at night she would be unable to see either of that vessel's side-lights, shall be deemed to be an overtaking vessel: and no subsequent alteration of the bearing between the two vessels shall make the overtaking vessel a crossing vessel within the meaning of these rules or relieve her of the duty of keeping clear of the overtaken vessel until she is finally past and clear.

As by day the overtaking vessel cannot always know with certainty whether she is forward of or abaft the direction from the other vessel, she should, if in doubt, assume that she is an overtaking vessel and keep out of the way.

Article 25.—In narrow channels every steam-vessel shall, when it is safe and practicable, keep to that side of fair way or mid channel which lies on the starboard side of such vessel.

Article 26.—Sailing-vessels under way shall keep out of the way of sailing vessels or boats fishing with nets or lines, or trawls. This rule shall not give to any vessel or boat engaged in fishing the right of obstructing a fairway used by vessels other than fishing vessels or boats.

Article 27.—In obeying and construing these rules, due regard shall be had to all dangers of navigation and collision, and to any special circumstances which may render a departure from the above rules necessary in order to avoid immediate danger.

Sound Signals for Vessels in Sight of one another.

Article 28.—The words "short blast" used in this article shall mean a blast of about one second's duration.

When vessels are in sight of one another, a steam-vessel under way, in taking any course authorised or required by these rules, shall indicate that course by the following signals on her whistle or siren, viz.—

One short blast to mean, "I am directing my course to starboard."

Two short blasts to mean, "I am directing my course to port."

Three short blasts to mean, "My engines are going full speed astern."

No Vessel under any circumstances to neglect proper Precautions.

Article 29.—Nothing in these rules shall exonerate any vessel, or the owner, or master, or crew, thereof, from the consequences of and neglect to carry lights or signals, or of any neglect to keep a proper look-out or of the neglect to any precaution which may be required by the ordinary practice of seamen, or by the special circumstances of the case.

Reservation of Rules for Harbours and Inland Navigation.

Article 30.—Nothing in these rules shall interfere with the operation of a special rule, duly made by local authority, relative to the navigation of any harbour, river, or inland waters.

SCHEDULE II.

*Distress Signals.

Article 31.—When a vessel is in distress and requires assistance from other vessels or from the shore, the following shall be the signals to be used or displayed by her, either together or separately, viz.—

In the day time—

1. a gun or other explosive signal fired at intervals of about a minute;

* If a master of a vessel uses or displays, or causes or permits any person under his authority to use or display, any of those signals of distress, except in case of a vessel being in distress, he shall be liable to pay compensation for any labour undertaken, risk incurred, or loss sustained in consequence of that signal having been supposed to be a signal of distress, and that compensation may, without prejudice, to any other remedy, be recovered in the same manner in which salvage is recoverable [Merchant Shipping Act, 1894, Section 434 (2)].

2. the International Code signal of distress indicated by N. C;
3. the distance signal, consisting of a square flag, having either above or below it a ball or anything resembling a ball;*
4. a continuous sounding with any fog-signal apparatus.

At night—

1. a gun or other explosive signal fired at intervals of about a minute;
2. flames on the vessel (as from a burning tar-barrel, oil-barrel, etc.);
3. rockets or shells, throwing stars of any colour or description fired one at a time, at short intervals;
4. a continuous sounding with any fog-signal apparatus.

2.—ORDER IN COUNCIL OF 7TH JULY 1897.

Schedule.

LIGHTS TO BE CARRIED BY STEAM PILOT VESSELS.

A steam pilot vessel exclusively employed for the service of Pilots licensed or certified by any Pilotage Authority or the Committee of any Pilotage District in the United Kingdom, when engaged on her station on pilotage duty, and in British waters and not at anchor, shall, in addition to the lights required for all pilot boats, carry at a distance of eight feet below her white masthead light a red light visible all round the horizon, and of such a character as to be visible on a dark night, with a clear atmosphere, at a distance of at least two miles, and also the coloured side lights required to be carried by vessels when under way.

When engaged on her station on pilotage duty and in British waters and at anchor, she shall carry, in addition to the light required for all pilot boats, the red light above mentioned, but not the coloured side lights.

When not engaged in her station on pilotage duty, she shall carry the same lights as other steam vessels.

EXAMINATION IN THE REGULATIONS FOR PREVENTING COLLISIONS AT SEA.

All applicants for examination, whether for Certificates as Masters or Mates, are to be examined as to their knowledge of the Regulations each time they present themselves for examination.

Questions suggested by the following heads of examination are to be asked in addition to, and are not to supersede, any other questions, proper and necessary, to be asked by the examiner.

The following questions need not be adhered to literally by the examiner, and are not all to be asked; but the substance of the leading question should be asked, and all that are asked should be satisfactorily answered, before an applicant is reported to have passed his examination. The examiner should make such selection of the questions as each case appears to him to require.

1. Where and by what vessels are the rules to be followed?

The rules are to be followed by all vessels upon the high seas and in all waters connected therewith, navigable by sea-going vessels.

* A further distress signal is provided in the new International Code of Signals. It is a distant signal consisting of a cone point upwards having either above it or below it a ball or anything resembling a ball. This signal has not been sanctioned by order in Council under the provisions of section 431 of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894.

2. When is the steam-vessel considered a sailing-vessel, and when a steam-vessel?

Under the rules every steam-vessel which is under sail and not under steam is to be considered a sailing-vessels, and every vessel under steam, whether under sail or not, is to be considered a steam-vessel.

3. What does the word "steam-vessel" in the rules includes?

The word "steam-vessels" as used in the rules includes any vessel propelled by machinery.

4. When is the vessel considered to be under way by these rules?

When she is not at anchor, or made fast to the shore or aground.

5. What does the word "visible" in these rules when applied to lights, mean?

Visible on a dark night with a clear atmosphere.

6. During what time must the rules concering lights be complied with?

In all weathers from sunset to sunrise, and during such time no other lights which may be mistaken for the prescribed lights shall be exhibited.

7. What light or lights are required by the regulations to be exhibited by sailing-vessels at anchor?

If they are under 150 feet in length, one white light; if of 150 feet or upwards, two white lights, one forward and one aft.

8. What light or lights are required by the regulations to be exhibited by steam ships at anchor?

The same as for sailing-vessels.

9. Where is the anchor light to be exhibited in a vessel under 150 feet in length?

Forward where it can best be seen. It must be placed where there is the least chance of obstruction from spars, ropes, &c., and must not be more than 20 feet above the hull.

10. Where must the two anchor lights be shown in vessels of 150 feet and upwords?

In vessels of 150 feet or upwards in length one light must be carried in the forward part of the vessel at a height of not less than 20 feet and more than 40 feet above the hull; and another light at or near the stern not less than 15 feet lower than the forward light.

11. In what direction or directions must the anchor lights show?

They must show a clear, uniform, and unbroken light, visible all round the horizon.

12. At what distance must they be visible?

At least one mile.

13. What shall be deemed to be the length of a vessel?

The length appearing in the certificate of registry.

14. What light or lights must a vessel aground in or near a fairway carry?

The light or lights prescribed for a vessel at anchor, and in addition the two red lights prescribed for a vessel not under command.

15. What is the number of lights required by the regulations to be carried by sailing ships when under way at night?

Two side lights, and to have in readiness a white light or a flare-up light to show from their stern to any vessel overtaking them.

16. Of what colour are these lights, and how are they to be placed on board the ship?

A green light on the starboard side, and a red light on the port side.

17. What description of lights must be shown from the sides of sailing vessels under way: and over how many points of the compass, and in what directions, and how far, are they required to show?

Each light must be so constructed as to show an unbroken light over an arc of the horizon of 10 points of the compass; so fixed as to throw the light from right ahead to two points abaft the beam on the starboard and port sides, respectively; and of such a character as to be visible at a distance of at least two miles.

18. What lights are they to carry when being towed at night?

The same.

19. Are the side lights required to be fitted with screens; and, if so, of what length, and how?

Yes, on the inboard side; at least 3 feet in length, measuring forward from the light so as to prevent the lights from being seen across the bow.

20. What is the number of lights required by the regulations to be carried by steam-vessels when under way at night?

Three lights, and to have in readiness a white light or flare-up light to show from their stern to any vessel overtaking them.

21. Of what colour are these lights, and how are they to be placed on board the ship?

A white light on or in front of the foremast, or if a vessel without a foremast, then in the forepart of the vessel at a height above the hull of not less than 20 feet, and if the breadth of the vessel exceeds 20 feet, then at a height about the hull not less than such breadth, so, however, that the light need not be carried at a greater height than 40 feet. A green light on the starboard side, and a red one on the port side.

22. Over how many points of the compass in what direction and how far is the foremast-head light of a steam-vessel required to show?

Over 20 points, viz., from right ahead to two points abaft the beam on each side. It must be of such a character as to be visible at a distance of at least five miles.

23. Are the side lights required to be fitted with screens, and if so, of what length?

The green and red lights are to be fitted with screens on the inboard side, extending at least 3 feet forward from the the light, so as to prevent these lights from being seen across the bow.

24. Over how many points of the compass, in what directions, and how far, are the coloured side lights of steam-vessels required to show?

The sidelights must be so constructed as to show an unbroken light over an arc of the horizon of 10 points of the compass, on each side of the ship, i.e., from right ahead to two points abaft the beam on the starboard and port sides, respectively, and of such a character as to be visible at a distance of at least two miles.

25. May a steam-vessel when under way carry any additional light or lights?

Yes. A steam-vessel may carry a similar white light to the masthead light. These two lights must be so placed in line with the keel, that one shall be at least 15 feet higher than the other, and the lower light shall be forward of the upper one, and that the vertical distance between them shall be less than the horizontal distance.

26. What description of lights are steam-vessels required to carry when they are not under steam, but under sail only?

Side lights only, the same as sailing-vessels.

27. What exceptional lights may small vessels carry?

Whenever, as in the case of small vessels during bad weather, the green and red side lights cannot be fixed, these lights shall be kept at hand, lighted and ready for use; and shall, on the approach of or to other vessels, be exhibited on their respective sides in sufficient time to prevent collision in such manner as to make them most visible, and so that the green light shall not be seen on the port side, nor the red light on the starboard side; nor, if practicable, more than two points abaft the beam on their respective sides.

To make the use of these portable lights more certain and easy, the lanterns containing them shall each be painted outside with the colour of the light they respectively contain, and shall be provided with proper screens.

28. Are steam-vessels of less than 40 tons gross tonnage compelled to carry the same lights as other steam-vessels; if not, what lights may they carry instead?

No; but if they do not carry the ordinary lights, they must carry in the forepart of the vessel or on or in front of the funnel where it can best be seen, and at a height above the gunwale of not less than 9 feet, a bright white light to show over the same arc as the ordinary masthead light, and to be visible at a distance of at least two miles. Also a combined lantern shewing a green light and a red light from right ahead to two points abaft the beam on their respective sides, such lantern to be carried not less than 3 feet below the white light.

29. Are small steam boats such as are carried by sea-going vessels, obliged to carry the white light 9 feet above the gunwale?

No; but it must be carried above the combined lantern.

30. What lights may vessels under oars or sails of less than 20 tons gross tonnage carry?

They shall have ready at hand a lantern with a green glass on one side and a red glass on the other, which, in the approach of or to other vessels, shall be exhibited in sufficient time to prevent collision, so that the green light shall not be seen on the port side nor the red light on the starboard side.

31. What lights must rowing boats, whether under oars or sails, carry?

They must have ready at hand a lantern showing a white light which shall be temporarily exhibited in sufficient time to prevent collision.

32. What description of lights are pilot vessels required to carry when on their stations on pilotage duty?

A pilot vessel, when engaged on her station on pilotage duty shall not show the lights required for other vessels, but shall carry a white light at the masthead, visible all round the horizon and shall also exhibit a flare-up light or flare-up lights at short intervals, which shall never exceed fifteen minutes. Also on the near approach of or to other vessels they shall have their side lights lighted ready for use and shall flash or show them at short intervals, to indicate the direction in which they are heading, but the green light shall not be shown on the port side nor the red light on the starboard side.

33. What lights may pilot vessels which are obliged to go alongside of a vessel to put a pilot on board, carry?

They may show the white light instead of carrying it at the mast-head, and may, instead of the coloured side lights, have at hand ready for use a lantern with a green glass on the one side and a red glass on the other, to be used as prescribed for the colour side lights.

34. What description of lights are steam pilot vessels required to carry when on their stations on pilotage duty in British waters and not at anchor?

A steam pilot vessel, when engaged on her station on pilotage duty and in British waters, and not at anchor, shall, in addition to the lights required for all pilot vessels, carry at a distance of 8 feet below her white masthead light a red light visible all round the horizon for at least two miles, and also the coloured side lights required to be carried by vessels under way.

35. What description of lights are steam pilot vessels required to carry when on their stations on pilotage duty in British waters, and at anchor?

A steam pilot vessel, when engaged on pilotage duty in British waters and at anchor, shall carry, in addition to the lights required for all pilot vessels, the red light 8 feet below her white light, but not the coloured side lights.

36. What description of ligts are pilot vessels required to carry when not on their station on pilotage duty?

A pilot vessel, when not engaged on her station on pilotage duty, shall carry lights similar to those of other vessels of her tonnage.

37. What lights are open boats and fishing vessels of less than 20 tons net register required to carry when under way and not actually engaged in fishing?

Open boats and fishing-vessels of less then 20 tons net registered to tonnage, when under way and when not having their nets, trawls, dredgers, or lines in the water, shall not be obliged to carry the coloured side lights; but every such boat and vessel shall in lieu thereof have ready at hand a lantern with a green glass on the one side and a red glass on the other side, and on approaching to or being approached by another vessel, such lantern shall be exhibited in sufficient time to prevent collision, so that the green lights shall not be seen on the port side nor the red light on the starboard side.

38. What lights are fishing-vessels and fishing-boats of 20 tons net register, or upwards, required to carry when under way and not actually engaged in fishing?

They must carry similar lights to those of other ships when under way.

39. What lights are steam trawlers of 20 tons cross register, or upwards, whilst actually engaged in trawling, and not being stationary, required to carry?

All steam-vessels engaged in trawling must carry either one of the two following arrangements of lights:—

(a) The usual green and red side lights, and foremast head light, similar to those carried by other steamships; or

(b) they must carry on or in front of the foremast head, and in the same position as the white light which other steamships are required to carry, a lantern showing a white light ahead, a green light on the starboard side, and a red light on the port side; such lantern shall be so constructed, fitted, and arranged as to show a uniform and unbroken white light over an arc of the horizon of four points of the compass a uniform and unbroken green light over an arc of the horizon of 10 points of the compass, and an uniform and unbroken red light over an arc of the horizon of 10 points of the compass, and it shall be so fixed as to show the white light from right ahead to two points on the bow on each side of the ship, the green light from two points on the starboard bow to four points abaft the beam on the starboard side, and the red light from two points on the port bow to four points abaft the beam on the port side: and (2) a white light in a globuar lantern of not less than eight inches in diameter, and so constructed as to show a clear, uniform, and unbroken light all round the horizon; the lantern containing such white light shall be carried lower than the lantern showing the green, white and red lights as aforesaid, so, however, that the vertical distance between them shall not be less than 6 feet nor more than 12 feet.

40. What lights are sailing trawlers, whilst actually engaged in trawling, and not being stationary, required to carry?

All sailing vessels, of what ever tonnage, whilst engaged in trawling, must carry either one of the three following arrangements of lights:—

(a) They may carry the green and red side lights similar to those of other sailing ships; or

(b) they may carry on, or in front of the foremast head, a lantern having a green glass on the starboard side and a red glass on the port side, so constructed, fitted, and arranged and the red and green do not converge, and so as to show a uniform and unbroken green light over an arc of the horizon of 12 points of the compass, and an uniform and unbroken red light over an arc of the horizon of 12 points of points of the compass, and it shall be so fixed as to show the green light from right ahead to four points abaft the beam on the starboard side, and the red light from right ahead to four points abaft the beam on the port side; and (2) a white light in a globular lantern of not less than eight inches in diameter, and so constructed as to show a clear, uniform and unbroken light all round the horizon; the lantern containing such white light shall be carried lower than the lantern showing the green and red lights as aforesaid, so, however, that the vertical distance between them shall not be less than 6 feet and not more than 12 feet; or

(c) they may carry a white light in a globular lantern of not less eight inches in diameter, and so constructed as to show a clear uniform and unbroken light all round the horizon, and visible on a dark night, with a clear atmoshere, for a distance of at least two miles; and also a sufficient supply of red pyrotechnic lights which shall each burn for at least 30 seconds, and shall, when so burning, be visible for the same distance under the same conditions as the white light. The white light shall be shown from sunset to sunrise, and one of the red pyrotechnic lights shall be shown on approaching, or on being approached by, another ship or vessel in sufficient time to prevent collision.

41. What lights are vessels whilst actually engaged in drift net fishing required to carry?

All vessels when engaged in fishing with drift nets shall exhibit two white lights from any part of the vessel where they can be best seen. Such lights shall be placed so that the vertical distance between them shall be not less than 6 feet and not more than 10 feet; so that the horizontal distance between them, measured in a line with the keel of the vessel, shall be net less than 5 feet and not more than 10 feet. The lower of these two lights shall be the more forward, and both of them shall be of such a character, and contained in lanterns of such construction, as to show all round the horizon, on a dark night, with a clear atmost phere, for a distance of not less than three miles.

42. What lights are vessels whilst actually engaged in the line fishing required to carry?

A vessel engaged in line fishing is required to carry the same lights as a vessel engaged in drift net fishing.

43. If a vessel, when fishing, becomes stationary in consequence of her gear getting fast to a rock or other obstruction, what signal must she make?

She must show the same light, and if a fog, mist, or falling snow or heavy rain storms prevail, she must make the same fog-signal as if she were at anchor.

44. What lights are fishing vessels and open boats required to exhibit when at anchor?

Between sunset and sunrise they must exhibit a white light, visible all round the horizon at a distance of at least one mile.

45. What sound signals are fishing vessels required to make whilst engaged in fishing in thick weather?

In fog, mist, or falling snow, a drift net vessel attached to her nets and a vessel when trawling, dredging or fishing with any kind of drag net and a vessel employed in line fishing with her lines out, shall, at intervals of not more than two minutes, make a blast with her fog-horn and ring her bell alternately.

46 May fishing vessels and open boats use flare-up lights, and if so, at what part or parts of the vessel should they be exhibited?

Yes. Fishing vessels and open boats may at any time use a flare-up in addition to the lights which they are required to carry and show. All flare-up lights exhibited by a vessel when trawling, dredging or fishing with any kind of drag net shall be shown at the after-part of the vessel, excepting that if the vessel is hanging by the stern to her trawl, dredge, or drag net, they shall be exhibited from the bow.

47. Do these regulations referring specially to fishing vessels and boats apply in all parts of the world?

No; with the exception of the first paragraph of article 10 of the Order in Council of the 11th August 1884, they apply only to fishing vessels and boats when in the sea off the coast of Europe lying north of Cape Finisterre.

48. What lights are steamships required to carry when towing other vessels?

A steam-vessel when towing another vessel shall in addition to her side lights carry two bright white lights in a vertical line one over the other, not less than 6 feet apart, and when towing more than one vessel shall carry an additional bright white light 6 feet above or below such lights, if the length of the tow, measuring from the stern of the towing vessel to the stern of the last vessel towed, exceeds 600 feet. Each of these lights shall be of the same construction and character, and shall be carried in the same position as the white light [article 2 (a) [which other steam-vessels are required to carry, except the additional light which may be carried at a height not less than 14 feet above the hull.

49. May a vessel towing carry any other light?

Yes. A small white light abaft the funnel or aftermast for the vessel towed to steer by, but such light shall not be visible forward of the beam.

50. What light is a vessel which is being overtaken by another required to show?

A vessel which is being overtaken by another shall show from her stern to the other vessel a white light or a flare-up light.

51. May the white light be fixed?

Yes. But, if so, it must be so constructed and screened to show an unbroken light over an arch of the horizon of 12 points of the compass, viz., for six points from right aft on each side of the vessel so as to be visible at a distance of at least one mile. This light shall be carried as nearly as practicable on the same level as the side lights.

52. Describe the lights and to the day signals that vessels employed in laying or picking up a telegraph cable are required to carry.

A vessel employed in laying or in picking up a telegraph cable, shall at night carry in the same position as the white light which steam-vessels are required to carry, and if a steam-vessel in place of that light, three lights, in a vertical line over one another not less than 6 feet apart; the highest and lowest of these lights shall be red and the middle light shall be white, and they shall be of such a character as to be visible all round the horizon at a distance of at least two miles. By day she shall carry in a vertical line one over the other not less than 6 feet apart where they can best be seen, three shapes not less than 2 feet in diameter, of which the top and bottom shall be globular in shape and red in colour, and the middle one in diamond in shape and white.

53. Describe the lights and day signals that vessels which from any cause are not under command, are required to carry?

A vessel, which from any accident is not under command, shall at night carry at the same height as the white light which steam-vessels are required to carry, where they can best be seen, and if a steam-vessel, in place of that light, two red lights in a vertical line one over the other, not less than 6 feet apart, and of such a character as to be visible all round the horizon at a distance of at least two miles; and shall by day carry in a vertical line one over the other, not less than 6 feet apart, where they can best be seen, two black balls or shapes, each 2 feet in diameter.

54. Are the abovementioned vessels to carry side-lights?

The above vessels, when not making any way through the water, shall not carry the side lights, but when making way shall carry them.

55. What are the shapes and lights carried by telegraph-ships and ships not under command intended to indicate to approaching vessels?

These shapes and lights are to be taken by approaching vessels as signals that the ship using them is not under command and cannot therefore get out of the way.

56. Do these rules prevent squadrons and convoys from carrying special lights, or vessels exhibiting recognition signals?

No. Nothing in these rules shall interfere with the operation of any special rules made by the Government of any nation with respect to additional station and signal lights for two or more ships of war, or for vessels sailing under convoy, or with the exhibition of recognition signals adopted by ship-owners, which have been authorized by their respective Governments, and duly registered and published.

57. May vessels exhibit any other lights in order to attract attention?

Yes. In addition to the lights which she is required to carry, she may show a flare-up light, or use any detonating signal that cannot be mistaken for a distress signal.

58. What signal must a steam-vessel proceeding under sail only, but having her funnel up, carry in the day time?

She must carry forward, where it can best be seen, one black ball or shape, 2 feet in diameter.

59. What sound signals are steam-vessels and sailing-vessels of 20 tons gross tonnage or upwards required by the regulations to be provided with?

A steam-vessel shall be provided with an efficient whistle or siren sounded by steam or some substitute for steam, so placed that the sound may not be intercepted by any obstructions and with an efficient fog-horn to be sounded by mechanical means, and also with an efficient bell. A sailing-vessel of 20 tons gross tonnage of upwards shall be provided with a similar fog-horn and bell.

60. When are these signals to be used?

In fog, mist, falling snow, or heavy rain storms, whether by day or night.

61. What does a prolonged blast mean?

A blast of from 4 to 6 seconds' duration.

62. On what are the fog signals to be made by steam-vessels under way?

On the whistle or siren.

63. On what are the fog signals to be made by sailing-vessels and vessels towed?

On the fog-horn.

64. What sound signal is to be made by vessels at anchor?

Vessels at anchor shall, at intervals of not more than one minute, ring the bell rapidly for about five seconds.

65. What sound signal is required to be made by a steam-vessel having way upon her?

A steam-vessel having way upon her shall sound at intervals of not more than two minutes, a prolonged blast.

66. What sound signal is required to be made by a steam-vessel under way, but stopped, and having no way upon her?

A steam-vessel under way, but stopped, and having no way upon her, shall sound at intervals, of not more than two minutes, two prolonged blasts, with an interval of about one second between them.

67. What sound signals are required to be made by sailing-vessels when under way?

A sailing-vessel under way shall sound at intervals of not more than one minute, when on the starboard tack one blast, when on the port tack two blasts in succession, and, when with the wind abaft the beam three blasts in succession.

68. What sound signals are required to be made by a vessel when towing a vessel employed in laying or in picking up a telegraph cable, or a vessel under way which is unable to get out of the way, of an approaching vessel through not being under command or unable to manœuvre as required the rules?

A vessel towing, or when laying or picking up a telegraph cable, or when unable to get out of the way, shall, at intervals of not more that two minutes, sound three blasts in succession, viz., one prolonged blast followed by two short blasts.

69. What sound signal may a vessel being towed make?

A vessel towed may give the same signal as a vessel towing, and she shall not give any other.

70. What sound signal must sailing vessels and boats of less than 20 tons gross tonnage make?

If they do not give the signal prescribed for other vessels, they must make some other efficient sound signal at intervals of not more than one minute.

71. Do the regulations require vessels to take any other precaution during thick weather?

Yes. Article 16 says every vessel shall, in a fog, mist, or falling snow or heavy rain-storms go at a moderate speed, having careful regard to the existing circumstances and conditions.

72. What action must be taken by a steam-vessel hearing apparently forward of the beam the fog signal of another vessel the position of which is not ascertained?

She shall, so far as the circumstances of the case admit, stop her engines, and then navigate with caution until danger of collision is over.

73. How can you generally ascertain whether there is risk of collision in approaching another vessel?

By carefully watching the compass bearing of the other vessel, and if it does not appreciably change, such risk should be deemed to exist.

74. When a steam-vessel under way takes any course required by these rules, must she indicate that course to any vessel she has in sight?

Yes. Article 28 provides that in taking any course authorized or required by the regulations, a steam-vessel under way may indicate that course to any other vessel which she has in sight by the following signals on her whistle or siren, viz.—

One short blast to mean "I am directing my course to starboard."

Two short blasts to mean "I am directing my course to port."

Three short blasts to mean "My engines are going full speed astern."

75. What does the expression "short blast" used in the preceding article mean?

It means a blast of about one second's duration.

76. What precaution is to be taken by steam-vessels which are directed by these rules to keep out of the way when approaching another vessel?

They shall, if necessary, slacken speed, or stop and reverse.

77. If you see two white lights in a vertical line, one over the other, what do they denote as regards the vessel carrying them?

They may denote the presence of a steam-vessel end on with her side-lights not within sight on account of distance, fog, &c., or a steam-vessel towing with her side-lights not within sight on account of distance, fog, &c; or a vessel end on to me engaged in drift net fishing, or in line fishing; or it may be a steam trawler end on, or within two points of being end on to me, or a vessel of 150 feet or upwards in length at anchor and end on to me.

78. If you see a green, or a red light with a white light below, what do they denote?

They denote the presence of a steam-vessel engaged in trawling.

79. If you see both the green and red lights with a white light below them, what do they denote?

They denote the presence of a sailing trawler coming end on to me.

80. If you see a white light alone, what does it denote as regards the ship carrying it?

It denotes the presence of a vessel or boat at anchor; or a pilot vessel on her station; or the masthead light of a vessel, under steam with her side-lights not within sight on account of distance, fog, &c; or a fishing vessel stationary through her gear getting fast to some obstruction, or a sailing trawler engaged in trawling, or it may be a light shown from the stern of a vessel which is being overtaken.

81. If you see a green or a red light without a white light, or both a green and a red light without a white light, is the vessel carrying the light or lights seen a vessel under steam or a vessel under sail?

A vessel under sail.

82. How do you know?

Because there is no white mast-head light.

83. If you see a white light over a coloured light, is the vessel a vessel under sail or a vessel under steam?

A vessel under steam. The mast-head light denotes that the vessel is under steam.

[The Examiner will then take one model of a vessel, which he will place on the table, and call it A. He will then take the mast or stand with a white and red ball on it, and place it at the other end of the table, and call it B.

The Examiner should be careful that the model of one vessel only is used when the questions numbered 84 to 89 are asked.]

84. A is a steam-vessel going north, seeing a white light and red light right ahead at B. Are A and the vessel B showing the two lights meeting end on, or nearly end on, or is B passing A, or is B crossing the path of A, and in what direction, and how do you know?

Passing to port, because if I see a red light ahead, I know that the head of the vessel carrying that red light must be pointing away in some direction to my own port or left hand. The vessel showing the red light has her port or left side more or less open to A.

85. If A is going north, within what points of the compass must the vessel B showing the white and red lights be steering?

B must be going from a little W. of S. to W. N. W.

86. How do you know this?

Because the screens being properly fitted, I could not see the red light of B at all with the vessel's head in any other direction.

87. A is a steam vessel going north, and seeing a white and green light ahead. Are A and B meeting, or is B passing A, or is B crossing the course of A, and in what direction, and how do you know?

B is passing to starboard of A, because if I see a green light ahead, I know that the head of the vessel carrying that green light must be pointing away in some direction to my starboard or right hand.

The ship showing the green light has her right or starboard side more or less open to me.

88. As A is going north, within what points of the compass must the vessel showing the white and green lights be steering?

B must be going from a little E. of South to E. N. E.

89. How do you know?

Because the screens being properly fitted, I cannot see the green light at all with the vessel's head in any other direction.

90. If a steam-vessel A sees the three or four lights of another steam-vessel B ahead or nearly ahead, are the two steam-vessels meeting, passing or crossing?

Meeting end on, or nearly end on.

91. Do the regulations expressly require the course of a vessel to be altered to starboard in any case; and, if so, when?

Yes; in the case of two steam-vessels meeting end on, or nearly end on.

92. Do they expressly require the course of a vessel to be altered to starboard in any other case; and, if so, in what other?

No, it is not in any other case expressly required by the regulations.

[The Examiner should see that the candidate places the models in the position indicated by the question 93 and following.]

93. If a steam-vessel A sees another steam-vessel's red light B on her own starboard side, are the steam-vessels meeting, passing, or crossing, and how do you know?

Crossing, because the red light of one is opposed to the green light of the other; and whenever a green light is opposed to a red light, or a red light to a green light, the vessels carrying the lights are crossing vessels.

94. Is A to stand on; and if not, why not?

A has the other vessel B on her own starboard side. A knows she is crossing the course of B because she sees the red light of B on her (A's) own starboard side. A also knows she must get out of the way of B, because Article 19 expressly requires that the steam-vessel that has the other on her own starboard side shall keep out of the way of the other.

95. Is A to starboard or to port in such a case?

A must do what is right so as to get herself out of the way of B; and must, if the circumstances of the case permit, avoid crossing ahead of B.

96. If A gets into collision by porting, will it be because she is acting on any rule?

No; the rule does not require her either to port or to starboard. If she ports, and gets into collision by porting, it is not the fault of any rule.

97. If a steam-vessel A sees the green light of another steam-vessel B on her own (A's own) port bow, are the two steam-vessels meeting, passing or crossing; and how do you know?

Crossing, because the green light of one vessel is shown to the red light of the other.

98. What is A to do, and why?

By the rule contained in Article 21 of the regulations, A is required to keep her course and speed subject to the qualification that due regard must be had to all dangers of navigation and collision; and that due regard must also be had to any special circumstances which may exist in any particular case rendering a departure from that rule necessary in order to avoid immediate danger. The crossing vessel B on A's port side must get out of the way of A, because A is on B's starboard side.

99. A, a steam-vessel, sees the green light of another steam-vessel B, a point on her, A's port bow. Is there any regulation requiring A to port in such a case, and if so, where is it to be found?

There is not any.

100. Are steam-vessels to get out of the way of sailing-vessels?

If a steam-vessel and a sailing-vessel are proceeding in such direction as to involve risk of collision, the steam-vessel is to get out of the way of the sailing-vessel unless the sailing-vessel is overtaking the steam-vessel.

101. What is to be done by A, whether a steam-vessel or sailing-vessel, if overtaking B?

A is to keep out of the way of B.

102. When is a vessel considered to be an overtaking vessel?

Every vessel coming up on another vessel from more than two points abaft her beam, i.e., in such a position, with reference to the vessel which she is overtaking that at night she would be unable to see either of that vessel's side-lights, is an overtaking vessel; and no subsequent alteration of the bearing between the two vessels can make the overtaking vessel a crossing vessel within the meaning of the rules, or relieve her of the duty of keeping clear of the overtaking vessel until she is finally passed and clear.

103. In the day time how do you know when you are an overtaking vessel?

It is often hard to judge with any degree of certainty, but if in doubt assume you are an overtaking vessel and keep out of the way.

104. Have sailing-vessels under weigh to keep out of the way of sailing-vessels and boats fishing?

Yes; they have to keep out of the way of sailing-vessels or boats fishing with nets, or lines or trawls; but this rule does not give to any vessel or boat engaged in fishing the right of obstructing a fairway used by vessels other than fishing vessels or boats.

105. When by the rules one of two ships is required to keep out of the way of the other, what is the other to do?

To keep her course and speed.

106. Is there any qualification or exception to this?

Yes. Due regard must be had to all dangers of navigation and collision, and to any special circumstances which may exist in any particular case, and require a departure from the regulations to avoid immediate danger.

107. Is there any general direction in the steering and sailing rules, and if so, what is it?

Yes, it is this: that nothing in the rules shall exonerate any vessel or the owner, master, or crew thereof from the consequences of any neglect to carry lights or signals, or of any neglect to keep a proper look-out, or of the neglect of any precaution which may be required by the ordinary practice of seamen, or by the special circumstances of the case.

108. Can you repeat Article (- —) of the regulations? I refer to the article containing the rule for (—————).

[The Examiner will repeat this question, naming a different Article each time.]

109. What does the Act of Parliament provide as to the obligation of owners and masters in obeying the regulations respecting lights, fog-signals and steering and sailing?

Section 419 of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894, provides that owners and masters shall be bound to obey the regulations, and it also provides that in case of wilful default by the master or owner, he shall be deemed to be guilty of a misdemeanour for each infringement.

110. What do breaches of the regulations imply?

If an accident happens through non-observance of the regulations, it implies wilful default on the part of the person in charge of the deck at the time, unless it is shown to the satisfaction of the court hearing the case that the special circumstances of the case rendered a departure from the rules necessary.

111. If collision ensues from a breach of the regulations, who is to be deemed in fault for the collision?

The person by whom the regulations are infringed, unless the court hearing the case decides to the contrary.

112. Is there any special rule for steam-vessels navigating narrow channels?

In narrow channels every steam-vessel must, when it is safe and practicable, keep to that side of the fairway or mid-channel which is on the starboard side of such vessel.

113. Do the regulations for preventing collisions at sea apply to sea-going vessels in harbours and in rivers?

Yes; unless there is any rule to the contrary made by a competent authority.

114. Do they apply to British vessels only?

No, to foreign vessels as well, with the exception of paragraphs (a), (b), (c), (d), (e), (f) and (g) of Article 10 of the Order in Council of the 11th August 1884, and Orders in Council of the 30th December 1884, 24th June 1885, and 7th July 1897, which apply only to British vessels.

115. Do you know where the present regulations are to be found?

Yes, in Article 10 of the Order in Council of the 11th August 1884 and in the Orders in Council of the 30th December 1884, 14th June 1885, 27th November 1896 and 7th July 1897.

116. Is one vessel bound to assist another in case of collision?

Yes.

117. What is the penalty for default?

If the master or person in charge of the vessel fails to render assistance without reasonable excuse, the collision is, in absence of proof to the contrary, to be deemed to be caused by his wrongful act, neglect or default.

118. Is there any other penalty attached to not rendering assistance?

Yes. If it is afterwards proved that he did not render assistance, his certificate may be cancelled or suspended by the court investigating the case.

119. Is it not expected that you should understand the regulations before you take charge of the deck of a vessel?

It is.

120. Why?

If I do not understand them and am guilty of default, the consequences will be very serious to me.

121. What would be a serious offence?

To cause a collision by porting the helm or doing anything not required by the regulations and without due consideration.

AIDS TO MEMORY in four verses, by the late Mr. THOMAS GRAY, C.B.

1. Two Steam-ships meeting.

When both side lights you see ahead—
Port your helm and show your RED.

2. Two Steam-ships passing.

GREEN to GREEN—or, RED to RED—
Perfect safety—Go ahead!

3. Two Steam-ships crossing.

[Note.—This is the position of greatest danger: there is nothing for it but good look-out, caution, and judgment.]

If to your starboard Red appear,
It is your duty to keep clear;
To act as judgment says is proper—
To port—or Starboard—Back—or Stop her.

But when upon your Port is seen
A Steamer's Starboard Light of GREEN,
There's not so much for you to do;
For GREEN to Port keeps clear of you.

4. All Ships must keep a good look-out and Steam-ships must stop, and go astern, if necessary.

Both in safety and in doubt
Always keep a good look-out;
In danger, with no room to turn,
Ease her, stop her, go astern.

APPENDIX G.

SIGNALS TO BE MADE BY SHIPS WANTING A PILOT.

In the daytime.—The following signals, numbered 1 and 2, when used or displayed together or separately, shall be deemed to be signals for a pilot in the daytime, viz.:—

1. To be hoisted at the fore, the Union Jack having round it a white border, one-fifth of the breadth of the flag; or
2. The International Code pilotage signal indicated by P. T.
3. The International Code flag S with or without the Code penant over it.
4. The distant signal, consisting of a cone, point upwards, having above it two balls or shapes resembling balls.

At night.—The following signals, numbered 1 and 2, when used or displayed together or separately, shall be deemed to be signals for a pilot at night, viz.:—

1. The pyrotechnic light commonly known as a blue light every fifteen minutes; or
2. A bright white light, flashed or shown at short or frequent intervals just above the bulwarks, for about a minute at a time.

If a master of a vessel uses or displays, or causes or permits any person under his authority to use or display, any of the pilot signals for any other purpose than that of summoning a pilot, or uses or causes or permits any person under his authority to use any other signal for a pilot, he shall for each offence be liable to a fine not exceeding twenty pounds. [Merchant Shipping Act, 1894, Section 615 (3).]

Under what conditions (that is, as regards position of ship whilst building, and the arrangement of iron in the ship) is the north point of the compass needle usually drawn to windward or the high side of the ship in the Northern hemisphere, and if not allowed for, what effect has it on the assumed

* The term sub-permanent magnetism in these questions is used in the original sense as proposed by the late Sir G. B. Airy, to denote the character of the permanent magnetism of an iron ship as distinguished from the permanent magnetism of a magnetised steel bar. The terms "sub-permanent" and "permanent" throughout these questions may, therefore, be considered as synonymous.

34. Under what conditions (as in question 33) is the north point of the compass needle usually drawn to leeward or the low side of the ship in the Northern hemisphere, and, if not allowed for, what effect would it have on the assumed position of the ship when she is steering on northerly, and on southerly courses in the Northern hemisphere?

35. The effects being as you state, on what courses would you keep away, and on what courses would you keep closer to the wind in the Northern hemisphere in order to make good a given compass course (a) when a north point of compass is drawn to windward or the high side of ship; and (b) when drawn to leeward or the low side?

36. Does the same rule hold good in both hemispheres with regard to the heeling error?

Show also how the heeling error can be compensated.

40. As the co-efficient B (capable of being corrected) usually consists of two parts—one due to the permanent magnetism of the ship, and the other to vertical induction in soft iron, how should each of the two parts, strictly speaking, be corrected when compensating the compass?

41. If the whole of co-efficient B be corrected by a permanent magnet, as is usually done, what is likely to ensue as the ship changes her magnetic latitude?

APPENDIX K.

SYLLABUS OF EXAMINATION in the LAWS of the DEVIATION of the COMPASSES of an IRON SHIP, and in the Means of compensating or correcting it.

Candidates for the voluntary examination in Compass Deviation and for Extra Master's certificates will be required to give written answers to 22 of the questions; these will be marked by a cross by the Examiner.

They will also be required to show, by means of Beall's Deviascope, a sound practical knowledge of the Tentative method of Compass Adjustment, and be able to demonstrate experimentally the effect of any given disturbing force upon the Compass, showing under what conditions (if any) it may vary and what steps should be taken to compensate it. Viva-voce questions by the Examiner upon the practical application of any of the questions in the Compass Syllabus must be answered clearly and concisely, and practically demonstrated on the Deviascope where possible. Questions 31, 61, 62, 69, 70, 72 and 92 will be marked by the Examiner in all cases, the other questions being constantly varied.

1. Describe an artificial magnet, and how a steel bar or needle is usually magnetized.

2. Which end of the compass needle, or a magnet, is commonly termed the red, and which the blue pole?

3. Which is the red magnetic pole of the earth, and which the blue; and give their geographical positions.

4. What effect has the pole of one magnet of either name on the pole of the same name of another magnet, and what would be the consequence of the pole of one magnet of either name, being brought near enough to effect the pole of contrary name, if in these cases both magnets were freely suspended?

5. By applying this law to all magnets, natural as well as artificial, describe what would be the result on a magnetic bar or needle, freely suspended, but constrained by weight or by the nature of its mounting to preserve a horizontal position; and what would be the result, if so mounted, but free to move in every direction; the earth being regarded as a natural magnet?

6. What is the cause of the variation of the compass?

7. What is meant by the deviation of the compass?

8. What is meant by the term "local attraction"; under what circumstances have ships' compasses, from recent careful investigation, been found to be affected by it, and name some of the localities in different parts of the world where this disturbance is to be found, and consequently where increased vigilance is necessary.

9. What do you understand by the term "soft" iron; and what are its properties as regards acquiring and retaining magnetism?

10. What do you understand by the term "hard" iron; and what are its properties as regards acquiring and retaining magnetism?

11. Describe the meaning of the term "horizontal force" of the earth; where is it the greatest, and where the least; and what effect has it in respect to the increase or decrease of the directive force of the compass needle?

12. Does the magnetic equator coincide with the geographical equator; if not, state clearly how it is situated?

13. Where can the values of the magnetic dip, the earth's horizontal force, and the variation, be found?

14. State in what parts of the globe lying in the usual tracks of navigation the variation changes very rapidly, and what special precautions should be observed when navigating these localities, also why a "variation" chart is then very useful.

15. Why is a knowledge of the magnetic dip and the earth's horizontal force important in dealing with compass deviations?

16. Describe the meaning of the term "vertical force of the earth"; where is it the greatest and where the least?

17. Would you expect a compass to be the more seriously affected by any given disturbing force when near the magnetic equator, or near the poles, and state the reason.

18. State briefly (a) the essentials of an efficient compass; and (b) what you would consider a good arrangement of the needles (that is, whether long or short, single or double, etc.) with the view to good compensation.

19. In stowing away spare compass cards or magnets, how would you place them with regard to each other, or what might be the probable consequence?

20. State briefly the chief points to be considered when selecting a position for your compass on board ship, and what should be particularly guarded against.

21. What is meant by transient induced magnetism?

22. Which is the red and which the blue pole of a mass of soft vertical iron (for of any soft iron not in a horizontal position) by induction, and what effect would the upper and lower ends of it have on a compass needle in the Northern hemisphere.

23. Which is the red and which the blue pole of a mass of soft vertical iron by induction, and what effect would the upper and lower ends of it have on the compass needle in the Southern hemisphere?

24. What effect would a bar of soft vertical iron have on the compass needle on the magnetic equator?

25. Describe what is usually termed by the sub-permanent* magnetism of an iron ship, and state when and how it is acquired, and which is the sub-permanent red and which is the blue pole, and why it is called sub-permanent magnetism.

26. What is meant by "the composition of forces" and "the parallelogram of forces," and show how the knowledge of these is valuable in ascertaining and compensating the sub-permanent magnetism of an iron ship?

27. Describe the nature of the co-efficients B and C plus (+) and minus (−), and the different magnetic forces they represent; also why they are said to produce semicircular deviations.

28. Can semicircular deviations be produced by any other force than the sub-permanent magnetism of the ship? If so, by what?

29. On what points by compass bearings of the ship's head does + B give westerly deviation, and on what points does it give easterly; also on what points does − B give westerly, and on what points easterly?

30. On what points does + C give westerly deviation, and on what points easterly; also on what points does − C give westerly, and on what points easterly deviation?

31. The value of either co-efficient B or C being given also the magnetic direction of the ship's head while she was being built, determine by the traverse tables the approximate value of the other co-efficient C or B and the value of both these co-efficient being given, determine approximately the direction by compass of the ship's head whilst being built, assuming, of course, that these co-efficients resulted altogether from sub-permanent magnetism.

32. Would you expect the greatest disturbance of the needle from the effects of sub-permanent magnetism alone to take place when ship's head is in same direction as when building, or when her head is at right angles to that direction, and in what direction of the ship's head would you expect to find the least disturbance?

33. Describe quadrantal deviation, and state what co-efficients represent it; also on what points of the ship's head, by compass, each of these co-efficients gives the greatest amount of deviation, and why it is called quadrantal deviation?

34. On what points of the compass will each of the co-efficients, D and E, + and −, give easterly, and on what points westerly, deviation?

35. What conditions of the iron of a ship will produce + D and what − D?

* The term "sub-permanent" magnetism in the Syllabus is used in the sense proposed by the late Sir G. B. Airy to denote the character of the permanent magnetism of an iron ship as distinguished from the permanent magnetism of a magnetised steel bar. The terms "sub-permanent" and "permanent" throughout the Syllabus may therefore be considered as synonymous.

36. State clearly which end of horizontal iron running athwartship (such as beams, etc.), and of horizontal iron running fore and aft of a ship, acquires red and which blue polarity, by induction, when ship's head is at N.E., S.E., S.W., and N.W., respectively.

37. Describe the nature of the deviation represented by co-efficients + A and − A, and describe the errors in the construction of the compass, and other causes, that frequently produce it.

38. What is the object of compensating the compass by magnets, etc., and what are the general advantages of a compensated compass over an uncompensated one?

39. Before adjusting the compass of an iron ship, what it is desirable to do with the view to eliminating, as far as possible, what may be termed the unstable part of the magnetism of the ship?

40. Describe clearly the tentative method of compass adjustment (that is, the compensation of co-efficients B, C, and D, with ship upright) as generally practised by compass adjusters in ships of the Mercantile Marine.

41. State at what distance, as a general rule, the magnets and soft iron correctors should be placed from the compass needles, and what will be the consequence if they are placed too near the needles?

42. Is it necessary that the magnets used for compensating co-efficients B and C should be placed on deck? If not, state where they may also be placed, and the rules to be observed in placing them into position.

43. Does the B found on board ship usually arise altogether from sub-permanent magnetism, or does part of it usually arise from some other cause or causes?

44. If the part of B due to induced magnetism in vertical soft iron, as well as the part due to sub-permanent magnetism, are corrected by a magnet alone, as is generally the case, what is frequently the consequence on the ship changing her magnetic latitude and hemisphere?

45. How should each of these two parts of B, strictly speaking, be compensated?

46. Assuming, for the sake of clearness, that your steering compass is unavoidably placed very near to the head of the sternpost (and other vertical iron at the stern), thereby causing a very large − B from induced magnetism; describe briefly any method by which the approximate position for the compensating vertical iron bar (Flinder's or Rundle's) could be estimated in order to reduce the error; describe also how you would proceed, in order to improve, if not, to perfect, its position after observations have been made on the magnetic equator.

47. State if standard compasses, as well as steering compasses, are generally subject to this disturbance from induced magnetism in vertical iron; also whether the attraction in all cases is found to be towards the stern; and if not, state the conditions under which it might be towards the bow, and how the compensating soft iron bar should then be placed.

48. Generally speaking, does the magnetism induced in vertical iron usually have any effect of producing the co-efficient C, ship upright, or is it generally produced by sub-permanent magnetism alone? State also your reasons for saying so.

49. Provided the needles of your compass are not so long and powerful, and so near, as to cause the soft iron correctors to become magnetised by induction, would the co-efficient D, if properly compensated as you have described (Ans. 40), be likely to remain so in all latitudes and both hemispheres? If so, state the reason why.

50. Under what circumstance does the character of A and E so change as to render it desirable that these co-efficients should be disregarded or modified?

51. Supposing your compasses were allowed to remain uncompensated, explain clearly what would be the probable changes (ship upright, in the deviations produced separately by (1) the sub-permanent magnetism of the ship alone; (2) by the induced magnetism in vertical soft iron; (a) on reaching the equator; (b) in the southern hemisphere?

52. Assuming you were able to arrive at the proper proportions to be corrected, and were then to exactly compensate the sub-permanent magnetism of the ship by means of a permanent magnet, and the induced magnetism in the vertical iron by a soft iron bar, would you expect any deviation to take place in your compass as the ship changed her latitude and hemisphere? And state your reasons for saying so.

53. Supposing the co-efficient D from horizontal soft iron were allowed to remain uncompensated, would you or would you not, expect the D to differ in name or amount on the ship changing her magnetic latitude and hemisphere? And state the reason.

54. Describe how you would determine the deviation of your compass (1) by reciprocal bearings; (2) by figures on the dock walls; (3) by bearings of a distant object.

55. Describe, in detail, how you would determine the deviation of your compass by the bearings of the sun. Also by a star or planet.

56. Describe the uses to which the Napier's diagram can be applied, and its special advantages.

57. Describe clearly how the Napier's diagram is constructed.

58. For accuracy, what is the least number of points to which the ship's head should be brought for constructing a complete curve of deviations, or a complete table of deviations?

59. Nearing land, and being anxious to check your deviations on a few courses you may probably require to steer, what is the least number of points it will be necessary to steady the ship's head upon, if making use of a Napier's diagram, in order to ascertain the deviation on each of the points, say in a quadrant of the compass and describe clearly how you would do this at sea?

60. Supposing you have no means of ascertaining the magnetic bearing of the distant object when swinging your ship for deviations, how could you find it, approximately, from bearings of the object taken with the ship's head on equi-distant compass points, and how far, as a rule, should the object be from the ship when swinging or steaming round.

61. Example.—Having taken the following compass bearings of a distant object, find the object's magnetic bearings, and thence the deviations:—

(a) MAGNETIC BEARING REQUIRED:—

Ship's head by Standard Compass.	Bearing of distant object by Standard Compass.	Deviation required.	Ship's head by Standard Compass.	Bearing of distant object by Standard Compass.	Deviation required.
1	2	3	4	5	6
North.	S 75° W.		South.	S. 34° W.
N. E.	S. 64° W.		S. W.	S. 31° W.
East.	S. 56° W.		West.	S. 49° W.
S. E.	S. 50° W.		N. W.	S. 71° W.

(b) Construct a curve of deviations on a Napier's diagram with the deviations as above, and give the courses you would steer by the Standard Compass to make the following courses magnetic —

Magnetic courses—N.N.W., S.S.E., W.N.W., E.S.E.

Compass courses required.

Compass courses—N.N.E., E.N.E., S.S.W., W.S.W.

Magnetic courses required.

Compass bearings—S. E. by S. and N.N.W.

Magnetic bearings required.

62. Assuming the deviations observed with ship's head by compass to be as follows [or as in question 61, whichever may be given], determine the value of the co-efficients A, B, C, D, and E, and from them construct a complete table of deviations (or for as many points as the Examiner may direct):—

Deviation at North	[ ]	South	[ ]
N. E.	[ ]	S. W.	[ ]
East	[ ]	West	[ ]
S. E.	[ ]	N. W.	[ ]

63. When swinging your ship, if it be required to construct deviation tables for two or more compasses situated in different parts of the vessel, describe the process, and how you would employ the Napier's diagram for this purpose.

64. State your rule for determining whether deviation is easterly or westerly.

65. Is a knowledge of the value of the various co-efficients of any advantage? If so, state why.

66. Describe (a) what is commonly known by the term "retentive" or "retained" magnetism, and how the ship acquires it when in port and at sea; (b) its effect on the compass needle whilst ship's head continues in the same direction; (c) the immediate consequence when the direction of the ship's head is altered, and (d) the special precautions to be invariably observed at sea on the alteration of the ship's course.

67. Describe a "Dumb-card" or "Pelorus" and its use (a) in compensating a compass, (b) in determining the deviation.

68. If you determine the deviation by an azimuth or an amplitude of a heavenly body, it is then combined with variation which together is sometimes called the correction for the compass. State when the deviation is the difference between the variation and the correction, and when the sun; and when it is of the same name as that of the correction, and when of the contrary name.

69. In observing azimuths of heavenly bodies, the best method is by "time azimuths," since these can be observed without an altitude when the ship is in port, or when the horizon cannot be defined from any cause. Given the sun's declination, the hour or the day, and the latitude, to find the true bearing of the sun.*

70. By night, if it be desirable to observe the correction of the compass. Given the day of the year, and time at ship, also the latitude of the place, to determine what stars will be in good position for this purpose.

71. If your correcting magnets are so mounted that their positions can be altered, describe the process by which on open sea you can place the ship's head magnetic N. (or S.), and magnetic E. (or W.), and can make the correction perfect.

72. Given the name of a star, the time, the place of ship, the variation of the compass, and the bearing of the star by compass, determine the deviation, and name it east or west.

* The process of finding time azimuths by the ordinary formulæ of spherical trigonometry is tedious, and since on board an iron ship these observations should be often repeated, the candidate will be allowed to use any table or graphic or linear method that will solve the problem within a half of a degree, the altitude of the heavenly body not being given.

73. Would you expect any change to be caused in the error of your compass by the ship heeling over either from the effect of the wind or the cargo?

74. Describe clearly the three principal causes of the heeling error on board an iron ship.

75. Towards which side of the ship would that part of magnetism induced in continuous transverse iron (which was horizontal while ship was upright) help to draw the north point of the needle when ship heels over (a) in the Northern hemisphere, (b) in the Southern hemisphere?

76. Supposing the compass were placed between the two parts of a divided beam or other athwartship iron, towards which side of the ship would iron so situated help to draw the north point of the needle when ship heels over (a) in the Northern hemisphere, (b) in the Southern hemisphere?

77. Would you expect that part of the magnetism induced in iron exactly perpendicular to the ship's deck, such as stanchions, bulkhead etc, if below the compass, to cause any part of the heeling error when ship heels over, and if so, towards which side of the ship (a) in the Northern hemisphere, (b) in the Southern hemisphere?

78. If an ordinary standard compass placed higher than the iron top sides be compensated whilst the ship is upright, what co-efficient will be effected by heeling?

79. Under what conditions (that is, as regards position whilst building and the arrangement of iron in the ship) is the north point of the compass needle usually drawn to windward, or the high side of the ship, in the Northern hemisphere?

80. Under what conditions, as a rule, is the north point of the compass needle usually drawn to leeward, or the low side of the ship, in the Northern hemisphere?

81. State to which side of the ship, in the majority of cases, is the north point of the compass drawn when ship heels over in the Northern hemisphere; and when this is the case, and it is not allowed for, what effect has it on the assumed position of the ship when she is steering on northerly and also on southerly courses?

82. On what courses would you keep away, and on what courses would you keep closer to the wind in both the Northern and Southern hemispheres, in order to make good a given compass course (a) when north point of compass is drawn to windward, or the high side of ship, and (b) when drawn to leeward or the bow side?

83. If a ship is beating to windward, when she tacks, under what circumstances will the heeling error retain the same name, and under what circumstances will it take the contrary name?

84. If a ship is placed on the opposite tack by the change of wind, the ship's course being the same by compass will the heeling error change its name?

85. In which direction of the ship's head does the heeling error attain its maximum value, and in which direction does it generally vanish?

86. Explain clearly how that part of the heeling error due to the permanent part of the magnetism of the ship varies as the ship changes her geographical position, and what is the reason of this?

87. Explain clearly how that part of the heeling error due to the induction in transverse iron (which was horizontal when ship was upright), and iron vertical to the ship's deck, varies as the ship changes her geographical position.

88. What, then, would be the probable nature of the heeling error, that is, whether to high or low side of the ship, and whether the error would be equal to the sum or difference, etc., of the forces given (1) in high north latitudes, (2) on magnetic equator, (3) in high south latitudes? Assuming the polarity of the sub-permanent magnetism of the ship under, and affecting, the compass, to be as given below; the vertical induction in soft iron, of course, obeying the ordinary laws in the above geographical positions (1), (2), (3)—

(b) Where the effect of red vertical sub-permanent magnetism is greater than that of the vertical induction in the soft iron.

(c) Where the effect of red vertical sub-permanent magnetism is less than that of the vertical induction in the soft iron.

(d) Where the effect of blue vertical sub-permanent magnetism is equal to that of the vertical induction in the soft iron.

(e) Where the effect of blue vertical sub-permanent magnetism is greater than that of the vertical induction in the soft iron.

(f) Where the effect of blue vertical Sub-permanent magnetism is less than that of the vertical induction in the soft iron.

89. Can the heeling error be compensated? If so, state the means to be employed, and how the compensation may be effected?

90. Can the compensation of the heeling error be depended on in every latitude? If not, state the reason?

91. Do the soft iron correctors used for compensating the co-efficient—D have any effect on the compass needle when the ship heels over, and if so, do they draw the needle towards the low or the high side of the ship, and do they counteract, or otherwise, the effect produced by the vertical induction in the soft iron, (a) in the Northern hemisphere, (b) in the Southern hemisphere; and what is the reason of this?

92. Given the heel, the direction of the ship's head by compass, and the heeling error observed, to find the approximate heeling error, with a greater or less given heel, and with the ship's head on some other named point of the compass, the ship's magnetic latitude being in both cases the same.

93. Describe any instrument to show the ship's heel (generally called a clinometer), and state how and where it should be fixed.

94. Should the clinometer be observed when the ship is swung to determine the deviation when the ship is upright? If so, state the reason why?

95. Would you expect the table of deviation supplied by the compass adjuster from observations made in swinging the ship to remain good during the voyage, or would you expect the deviations to change? If so, state under what circumstances?

96. Is it desirable that a record of your observations for deviations should be kept as a guide for any subsequent voyage in case the ship should be in the same locality, or for further correction of the compass? If so, describe some suitable form for keeping such record.

97. Would you under any circumstances consider it a safe and proper procedure to place implicit confidence in your compasses however skilfully they may have been adjusted? If not, what precautions is it your duty to take at all times?

APPENDIX L.

DEVIATION OF THE COMPASS.

For Masters' Certificates for Home Trade Passenger Ships.

The applicant must answer in writing, on paper given him by the Examiner, all the following questions, numbering his answers to correspond with the numbers of the questions:—

1. When taking a meridian altitude, how do you know when the sun is on the meridian; or, in other words, when it is noon?

2. How does the sun bear (true and magnetic) when on the meridian of an observer in these latitudes (Home Trade Limits)?
3. What do you mean by deviation of the compass, and how is it caused?
4. Having determined the deviation, how do you know when it is easterly, and when westerly?
5. Supposing the sun when on the meridian bore by your compass_____, what would be the deviation of that compass for the direction of the ship's head at the time, the variation given on the chart being_____?
6. How could you find the deviation of your compass when in port, or when sailing along a coast?
7. Name some suitable objects by which you could readily obtain the deviation of your compass, when sailing along the coasts of the channel you have been accustomed to use.
8. The bearing of two objects when in a line with each other was found on the chart to be _____ magnetic; but when brought in a line on board they bore_____by your compass; required the deviation of your compass for the direction of the ship's head at the time.
9. What means are there for checking the deviation of your compass by night?
10. Supposing the North Star (Polaris) bore_____ by your compass, what would be the deviation (approximately) of that compass for the direction of the ship's head at the time, supposing the variation given on the chart to be_____
11. Do you expect the deviation to change? If so, state under what circumstances.
12. What is meant by the variation of the compass, and what is the cause of it?

APPENDIX M.

COMPASS ADJUSTMENT.

It is of the utmost importance that Masters of ships should thoroughly understand the tentative method of compass adjustment as generally practised in merchant ships, and Examiners are therefore directed to fully satisfy themselves that all candidates for Masters' certificates have this particular knowledge. It should be tested in connection with the Form Exn. 7 with the aid of Captain Beall's Deviascope, and candidates will be required to prove (1) their knowledge of the laws of deviation, and the tentative method of compass adjustment; (2) that they understand the practical application of the answers given by them to any of the other questions on Form Exn. 7 that the Examiner may ask.

A concise statement of the present method of tentative compass adjustment is appended for the use of Examiners. It is, however, distinctly to be understood that the Board of Trade are not in any way advocating the correction of that part of co-efficient B which arises from vertical induction in soft iron by a permanent magnet instead of by a soft iron bar. The Board have no authority to interfere with the methods in use amongst compass adjusters for the adjustment of compasses in iron ships, but the Examiners must satisfy themselves that Masters are acquainted with the ordinary method as at present practised.

The TENTATIVE METHOD of COMPASS ADJUSTMENT as generally practised by COMPASS ADJUSTERS in SHIPS of the MERCANTILE MARINE.

Before describing the practice, it will be as well to briefly state the co-efficients used to express the different magnetic forces:—

Co-efficient A represents a constant quantity.
" B " semicircular deviation due to fore and aft magnetic forces.

Co-efficient C represents a semi-circular deviation due to transverse magnetic forces.

" D " quadrantal deviation due to horizontal induction in soft iron.

" E " quadrantal deviation due to horizontal induction in soft iron unsymmetrically distributed.

SIGNS AND EFFECTS OF CO-EFFICIENTS A, B, C, D AND E.

Co-efficient A represents a constant deviation of the same nature and amount on all points of the compass; + A signifying easterly, and — A, westerly deviation.

Co-efficient + B represents an attraction towards the ship's head, and causes easterly deviations with ship's head in the eastern semi-circle of the compass, and westerly deviations in the western semi-circle, attaining a maximum value on the east and west points, decreasing to zero on north and south points, by compass.

Co-efficient — B represents an attraction towards the ship's stern, and causes easterly deviations with ship's head in the western semi-circle, and westerly deviations with the ship's head in the eastern semi-circle, with a maximum value on the east and west points, decreasing to zero on the north and south points, by compass.

Co-efficient + C represents an attraction towards the starboard side of the ship, and causes easterly deviations with ship's head in the northern semi-circle, and westerly deviations in the southern semi-circle, attaining a maximum value on the north and south points, decreasing to zero on the east and west points by compass.

Co-efficient — C represents an attraction towards the port side of the ship, and causes westerly deviations with ship's head in the northern semi-circle, and easterly in the southern semi-circle, attaining a maximum value on the north and south points, decreasing to zero on the east and west points, by compass.

Co-efficient + D gives easterly deviations with ship's head between N. and E. and S. W.; and westerly deviations between S. and E. and N. and W.

Co-efficient — D gives results exactly the reverse to + D.

Note—Both + D and — D have a maximum value on the four quadrantal points, and become zero on the cardinal points by compass

Co-efficient + B gives easterly deviations with ship's head between N. E. and N. W. and S. E. and S W.; and westerly deviations between N. E. and S. E. and N. W. and S. W.

Co-efficient—E gives results exactly the reverse to + E.

Note.—Both + E and — E have a maximum value on the cardinal points, and become zero on the four quadrantial points, but are usually very small in amount in compasses placed in the middle line of the ship

Heeling Error.—The heeling error arises partly from vertical induction in transverse iron, and iron vertical to the ship's deck, and partly from the vertical component of the sub-permanent magnetism of the ship. In the Northern hemisphere in the majority of cases the N. point of the compass needle is drawn to windward or the high side of the ship, with, as a rule, a maximum heeling error on N. and S. points, and zero on E and W. points by compass. If the compass is not properly placed in the ship, there may be a sensible heeling deviation on E. and W. courses.

TENTATIVE CORRECTIONS.

To correct co-efficient C.—With ship's head north or south magnetic place a bar magnet (or more than one if necessary) horizontally and exactly athwartship, either on the deck or on any convenient platform with its centre on the fore and aft line passing through the centre of the compass card, placing its red or marked end to starboard if the N. point of the needle deviates to the starboard side, or to port if it deviates to the port side of the ship, moving the maguet to or from the compass until it points correctly.

Note.—The deviation represented by co-efficient C varies inversely as the earth's horizontal force, provided the iron is symmetrically arranged on each side of the compass.

To correct co-efficient B.—With ship's head east or west magnetic place a bar magnet (or more than one if necessary) horizontally and exactly parallel to the fore and aft midship line of the ship, either on the deck or on any convenient platform, with its centre on the athwartship line passing through the centre of the compass, the red or marked end of the magnet being directed aft if the N. point of the compass needle deviates towards the stern, or forward if it deviates towards the bow, moving the magnet to or from the compass until it points correctly.

Note.—The co-efficient B consists of two parts; one is due to the permanent magnetism of the ship, which varies inversely as the earth's horizontal force; the other to vertical induction in the soft iron, which varies as the tangent of the dip. As ships in the Merchant service are rarely built with a view of providing a satisfactory position for the standard compasses, it is very difficult in many ships to find a position for it where it will not be affected by vertical iron. It follows, therefore, that if this deviation be compensated, as is customary, by a fore and aft permanent magnet instead of by a vertical soft iron bar, the poles of the magnet may in some cases require to be reversed in high southern latitudes.

To correct co-efficient + D.—With ship's head on one of the quadrantal points magnetic the + D is generally corrected by boxes of small chain, cylinders of soft iron, or soft iron globes, placed athwartships on the same level, and at equal distances, on the port and starboard sides of the compass, with the centre of their mass on a level with the compass needle, move them to or from the compass till the needle points correctly.

To correct co-efficient − D.—Co-efficient − D, which is of very rare occurrence, is corrected by placing the above correctors on the fore and aft sides of the compass.

Note.—When once the co-efficient D is properly corrected by soft iron, it is correct for all magnetic latitudes, provided the distribution of the iron in the ship is not materially changed, and provided the magnetism of the soft iron has not been affected by the compass needles. With short needles having small magnetic power, such, for instance, as Sir Wm. Thomson's, there will probably be no change; but when a compass with long and powerful needles is employed, soft iron correctors placed very near it become magnetised by induction according to the power of the needles, and the resulting correction will not remain strictly perfect in all latitudes.

To correct Heeling Error.—The heeling error is corrected for any given magnetic latitude by placing a vertical magnet exactly under the centre of the compass card, with its N. or red pole uppermost if the heeling error is to windward or to the high side of ship, or its S or blue end uppermost if to leeward or to the low side of ship, moving the magnet to or from the compass until the heeling error is corrected.

Note.—The heeling error due to the permanent part of the magnetism varies inversely as the earth's horizontal force, and consequently is greatest in high latitudes, diminishes as the ship approaches the magnetic equator and increases again, still retaining the same name as the ship recedes from the magnetic equator in the Southern hemisphere. The heeling error due to transverse and vertical soft iron decreases as the ship approaches the magnetic equator, where it is zero, and is of a contrary name in the Southern hemisphere. It is probable that the poles of the vertical magnet may require to be reversed in high southern latitudes.

A divided scale should be marked or fitted outside the tube or some other convenient place so as to show the proper position for the correcting magnet as found in any given magnetic latitude, and the same recorded as a guide for approximately placing the magnet in position on any subsequent voyage in the same locality, and especially on the return of the ship to the United Kingdom.

Candidates should understand that the object of tentative adjustment is to bring the deviations within manageable limits and also to equalise the directive force of the needle so far as is practicable on all courses; but no system of adjustment whatever is sufficiently reliable in character to absolve the navigator from the necessity of using every precaution, and especially of ascertaining the deviation on every available opportunity by observations of the sun by day and the other heavenly bodies by night.

APPENDIX N.

Examination of a Master or Mate in Steam.

The regulations under which these examinations are conducted are printed at pages 1554 and 1555.

A candidate for this examination is required to have a thorough grasp of the construction of the steam-engine and boiler, to enable him to understand the nature and importance of any defect which may be reported to him by the Engineer and work in harmony with the Engineer in affording time and facilities for disconnexions, inspections adjustments, and repairs.

To have a knowledge of what the principal repairs are which are needed in engines and boilers and pipes, and how these repairs are usually accomplished.

To be able to form an independent opinion as to a breakdown and the consequent propriety or impropriety of proceeding under reduced steam with temporarily repaired or defective machinery. To understand how to estimate approximately the reduction of fuel required for reduced speed, and consequently to sanction such reduction of speed as may seem to him to be warranted by the report of the Engineer, and to satisfy himself before leaving port that there is sufficient coal for the voyage.

To have an intelligent grasp of the general run of pipes and connexions in the engine-room, the marking of cocks, the opening and closing of cocks and valves, how mistakes of importance may be made in the confusion of an accident and how best to guard against such mistakes

To be capable of being left in charge of the feeding of a set of boilers, to understand the working of the water-gauge and to be able to guard against being misled by false indications of the gauge glass.

To understand about blowing down and surfacing, the reasons for doing so, and the danger which may result from the neglect of these under certain circumstances. A Master or Mate presenting himself for examination in steam must be understood to have made up for his want of practical experience by reading up about the steam-engine. He ought, therefore, to show that he has given his mind to intelligently understanding the rationale of the action of the steam-engine. Under this head he should therefore be able to state approximately the quantity of heat required in the formation of steam, the remarkable, relation of "latent" heat to "sensible" heat, how much steam can be raised by the combustion of one pound of coal, what horse-power measure is, what indicated horse-power is what is the action of the slide valve, the course of the steam through the engine, and the advantage of working expansively, and how the expansive action is shown by the indicator diagram. To know the uses of various parts of the engines and dynamos used for electric lighting, and how they and the cables are fitted in the hull: how wires are jointed insulated and cased; why it is desirable that they should be led along places which are dry and accessible; what is "sparking" and what are the causes which produce it; what is its danger in coal bunkers and petroleum-carrying steamers; what are the uses of switches and cutouts, and why is it so important to prevent short-circuiting taking place.

The candidate has to answer in writing 16 out of 20 questions selected from the book of Elementary Questions* Selections for this examination are given on the alphabetic sheet for "Steam" Generally, these answers are given by candidates as learned by rote from a book; the candidate should therefore, be asked such viva voce questions as will necessitate his giving his answers in different words, so as to discover whether he has the root of the matter in him.

The principal part of the viva voce is the examination on board a steamer, preferably one with which he is unacquainted He is told to look about and try to find out the run of the machinery without the assistance of any one; the Examiner to be in the engine-room to see that this independent examination is properly carried out. When the candidate reports that he thinks he knows the whole arrangement of the machinery, the Examiner will then question him on the uses of the parts, get him to point out the different cylinders, pumps, valves, condenser, etc., also the dynamo, its field magnets, armature commutators, brushes, cables, etc. He must show that he understands the run of the pipes in the bilges not necessarily that he has gone over every one of them, but he ought to be directed to trace, at least, one important range of pipes, and to thoroughly satisfy the Examiner that he could be safely trusted to manipulate the valve or cocks in connection therewith It will not often be practicable for the candidate to be asked to actually work engines under steam, but he must satisfy the Examiner that he knows how to do so, and that he is aware what precaution have to be taken in regard to water in the cylinder, etc. It is most important that a candidate should show that, in the event of an accident depriving him of the assistance of engineers, he knows what to do to safely take his vessel to an anchorage, or to stop the engines and proceed under sail alone.

The examination of a Mate in steam is the same as that of a Master. The knowledge required has no reference to the Mate's position. A Mate may be examined, but such examination implies that the Mate will one day be a Master when the possession of the knowledge will be an advantage to him in the discharge of his duties as Master.

APPENDIX O.

THE SIGHT TESTS.

These tests must be conducted under the strict personal supervision of the Examiner. A careful record must be kept of all mistakes made by the candidate in the form vision test, and on no account whatever must a candidate be allowed to make his selections in the colour vision test during any temporary absence of the Examiner.

Each Examiner must keep a record of all candidates passed by him for reference when required.

1.—Form Vision Test.

Test for form vision to be passed first.

(1) The test for form vision is the first test which the candidate is required to undergo, and until he has passed this test he cannot be allowed to proceed further with the examination. (See paragraph 26, page 1538.)

Tests to be used.

(2) The test to be used is the letter test on Snellen's principle, for all candidates.

The sets of tests which have been supplied to the Examiners consist of eight sheets of letters

Object of the tests.

(3) The chief object of the tests for form vision is to show whether the candidate posse ses eyesight of sufficient strength and acuity, or in other words they are means of discovering whether the candidate has good or bad sight.

They also afford a means of detecting whether a candidate is suffering from that form of colour blindness which is caused by the excessive use of tobacco, and by illness or similar affections. All candidates who are suffering from colour blindness arising from causes of that nature will be found to be incapable of passing the tests for form vision.

General conduct of the tests.

(4) Candidates will be tested with each eye separately, and they must not be allowed to use spectacles or glasses of any kind.

The set of tests is to be hung on the wall in a good light, at a height of about five or six feet from the ground,

Conduct of the letter test.

(5) The candidate should be placed at a distance of exactly 16 feet from the letter test sheets, and exactly opposite them. The distance should be carefully measured, and never varied under any circumstances whatever.

One of the eight sheets of letters should then be exposed, and the candidate should be asked to read the letters, beginning at the top and going downwards. If he can read correctly nine of the twelve letters in the sixth line from the top and eight of the fifteen letters in the seventh line with one eye, and the whole of the eight letters in the fifth line with the other eye, he may be considered to have passed the test. If he cannot do so his case should be submitted to the Principal Examiner of Masters and Mates.

(6) All candidates must be tested with at least two sheets of letters, viz., one to each eye, and the order of the test sheets must be varied with different candidates. In cases of candidates failing to reach the required standard, they should be tested with at least eight sheets, viz., four to each eye and the result noted on the Form Exn. 17B.

Tests to be varied.

(7) The Examiner must take care, by varying the test sheets in form vision, and by every other means, to guard against the possibility of any deception on the part of the candidates.

Pellet test.

(8) Every candidate who fails to pass the form vision test is to be examined with the pellet test as follows:—

> The pellets should be placed on a white plate, and the first test pellet (which is of the same colour as the first wool test skein) should then be placed a little distance from the box on another white plate. The candidate should be required to pick out and lay by the side of the test pellet all pellets of the same colour. The same should be done with the other test pellets, and the examination should proceed in the same way as the wool test.

(9) Should the candidate pass the pellet test, the Form Exn. 17 B, properly filled up, together with the remarks of the Examiner, is to be forwarded to the Port Officer for his instructions as to whether the candidate is or is not to be regarded as having failed in form vision.

(10) Should, however, the candidate fail in the pellet test, thus indicating that the defective form sense is due to disease, etc., it will not be necessary to submit the case to the Port Officer, but the Examiner should report the candidate as having failed in form vision, and in forwarding the usual papers a description of the colours of the pellets incorrectly selected as matches in the respective tests, with any remarks, should be given on the Form Exn. 17C, in the space allotted for the incorrect wools.

Result of tests to be reported.

(11) The result of every test in form vision is to be reported to the Government, on the Form Exn. 2, and to the Port Officer, on the Form Exn. 14, when the candidate is up for examination for a certificate: and to the Government on the Form Exn. 2 A, when the candidate is up for examination in colours only.

All cases of failure to pass the test are also to be reported to the Port Officer on Form Exn. 17 B.

2.—Colour Vision Test.

Nature of the test.

(1) The colour vision of candidates is to be tested by means of Holmgren's wools.

The wools are always to be kept in the tins provided for the purpose, except when in use at an examination, in order that they may not become faded or dirty. Each set contains about 135 skeins of wool.

General instructions.

(2) Before the examination commences the skeins should be separated from one another, but each separate skein should be kept tied up as when first received.

The five test skeins which must always be used at each examination, and in the order named, are labelled respectively I (light green), II (pink), III (red), IV (purple), and V (yellow).

Care must be taken that the labels do not get detached.

The colour vision test should be held only by daylight. If a good natural light is not obtainable the test must be postponed. When the weather is dark or foggy, and a candidate cannot be examined in colours before his examination in navigation commences, he may be allowed to proceed with the examination in navigation provided he is examined in colours on the first available opportunity.*

Full instructions as to the conduct of the examination will be found on pages 1615 to 1619.

Course to be followed if incorrect selections are made by candidates.

(3) The Examiner, as the examination proceeds, should carefully place on one side the skeins, the selection of which by the candidate seems to indicate a defect in colour vision, taking care to discriminate between those selected as matching each of the five test skeins.

The skeins, which have been correctly selected, should be returned to the general heap on the completion of each of the five tests.

Pieces of the wools incorrectly selected by a candidate who fails are to be sent to the Principal Examiner of Masters and Mates.

(4) In every case in which the Examiner rejects a candidate, or is in doubt as to whether he should reject him or not he is, when the examination is finished, to cut a small piece (say, an inch) off every one of the actual skeins incorrectly selected by the candidate, and to stitch the pieces cut off on to Form Exn. 17 C, keeping the pieces cut off the skeins selected as matches to the first test skein in one line, the pieces cut off the skeins selected as matches to the second test skein in a second line, and the pieces cut off the skeins selected as matches to the third test skein in a third line, and similarly for the fourth and fifth tests. The Form Exn. 17 C) with the pieces of wool attached to it is then to be forwarded to the Port Officer with the Examiner's report, on Form Exn. 17 B.

* When the examination in navigation precedes the colour tests the candidates should be informed that the examination in navigation will be cancelled if they should fail to pass the colour tests.

The greatest care must be taken that the pieces forwarded are cut off the actual skeins selected by the candidate, in order that there may be a reliable record of the actual selections made by the candidate if any question should subsequently arise.

Pieces need not be cut off the test skeins, but only off the skeins incorrectly selected by the candidate.

(5) The Examiner should also note any incorrect skeins selected and withdrawn or seriously handled or compared with the test skein by the candidate, and should when this occurs submit the case with similar portions of the incorrect skeins and his remarks on Form Exn. 17 C, together with the Form Exn. 17 B, to the Port Officer for his decision as to whether the candidate should be passed or failed.

(6) In cases in which the candidate passes the test, pieces need not be cut off the skeins he has selected.

(7) During the colour vision test the Examiner should avoid naming the colours of any of the wools, and should explain to the candidate that he does not require them to be named to him.

Candidates are not required to name the colours of the wools.

In the test for colour ignorance the candidate has to name three colours (see page 1619.)

(8) As soon as the skeins become discoloured, or unduly reduced in size (say by one-third), owing to pieces having been cut off, the matter should be reported to the Government.

(9) In the remarks which follow reference is made to different kinds of colour blindness (red blindness and green blindness), but the Examiner is not required to form any conclusion as to th kind of colour blindness from which the candidate suffers and should not offer the candidate any opinion on this point.

Examiners are not required to decide from what form of colour blindness an unsuccessful candidate is suffering.

All that is required, is that the Examiner shall conduct the examination according to the rules laid down, the nature of the candidate's colour blindness being immaterial.

(10) The result of every test should be reported to the Government on the Form Exn. 2, and to the Port Officer on the Form Exn. 14, when the candidate is up for examination for a certificate of competency: and to the Government on the Form Exn. 2 A, when the candidate is up for examination in colours only.

Result of tests to be reported.

All cases of failure should also be reported to the Port Officer on Form Exn. 17B, to which should be attached Form Exn. 17C, containing the pieces of the wools incorrectly selected by the candidate. (See paragraph 4, page 1614.)

METHOD OF TESTING FOR COLOUR.

The method of testing consists in asking the candidate to select from variously coloured objects those which appear of the same colour as one which the Examiner selects The most suitable objects and at the same time the most readily obtainable are skeins of wool, which can be procured of almost every desired hue and tone. An advantage of skeins of wool, besides their portability, is that, owing to their want of gloss, they appear of approximately the same tone from whichever side they are viewed The colours of the skeins to be selected include reds, oranges, yellows, yellowish-greens, pure greens, blue-greens, blues, violets, purples, pinks, browns, and greys. Several shades of each colour, with at least five graduations of each tint, are provided, from the deepest to the lightest greens and grey. Varieties of pinks, blues, and violets, and of light grey, together with shades of brown, yellow, red, and pink, are well represented. The test skeins with which the examinees are to compare the other skeins are five in number:—(1) a light green; (2) a pink; (3) a bright red; (4) a purple; and (5) a yellow. These five colours will suffice to indicate approximately the amount and kind of colour blindness which may exist. The light green skein, which is a tolerably pure green mixed with a large proportion of white, is chosen as the colour which closely matches the spectrum colour which the red and green blind distinguish as white or grey. It is chosen of a pale tint, as it then becomes puzzling to the colour blind to distinguish its colour by luminosity. A light grey or drab skein will represent the same brightness to him that this pale colour does, and although he may be trained to distinguish bright colours by their relative luminosities, in the case of these pale varieties he will be unable to do so. The pink is chosen for similar reasons, and in fact it is nearly a complementary colour to the green. The pink is, according to the Young-Helmholtz theory, a mixture of two fundamental colours, the blue and the red, and as in the green blind it excites both the blue and red sensations it may be confused with grey, or with a green. In the red colour blind it excites in excess the blue sensations mixed with what they call white. A blue or violet may therefore be matched with it.

Method of Examination and Diagnosis.

The wools are placed in a heap on a large table covered by a white cloth or white paper, and in broad daylight. The first test skein is taken from the pile, and laid far enough away from the others not to be confounded with them during the examination. The person examined is requested to look carefully at the test skein and then to select other skeins from the pile most nearly resembling it in colour, and to place them by the side of the sample. At the outset, it is necessary that he should thoroughly understand that he is required to search the heap for the skeins which make an impression on his chromatic sense or sense of colour, similar to that made by the test skein, and quite independently of any name he may give the colour. The examiner should explain that resemblance in every respect is not necessary; that there are no two specimens exactly alike; that the only question is the resemblance of the colour; and that, consequently, the candidate must endeavour to find something similar in shade and something lighter and something darker of the same colour.

If the person examined cannot succeed in understanding this by a verbal explanation, resort must be had to action. The Examiner should himself pick out the skeins, thereby showing in a practical manner what is meant by a shade, and then restore the whole to the pile, except the sample skein. This should always be done before a candidate is reported as failed.

As it would require too much time to examine every individual in this way, it is advisable, when examining large numbers, to instruct them all at once, and to ask them to attentively observe the examination of those preceding them so as to become more familiar themselves with the process. This saves time, and there is no loss of security, for no one with a defective chromatic sense will be able to find the correct skeins in the heap the more easily from having a moment before seen others looking for and arranging them. He will make the same characteristic mistakes; but the normal observer, on the other hand, will generally accomplish his task much better and more quickly after having seen how it has to be done.

The coloured plate shows the test colours, that is, those which the Examiner presents to the persons examined.

As to the similarity between the confusion colours and the wools which the colour blind take from the heap, reliance must be placed simply on the hue, and not their brightness or degree of colour saturation.

We can now pass directly to the test itself. The following are the directions for conducting it, and for making a diagnosis of the results:—

TEST I.—The green test skein, which is labelled Test No. I in the bundle, is placed before the candidate. This sample is the palest shade (the lightest) of very pure green, which is neither a yellow-green nor a blue-green to the normal eye, but fairly intermediate between the two, or at least not verging upon yellowish-green.

Rule.—The examination must continue until the examinee has placed near the test skein all or nearly all the skeins of the same colour, or else, with these or separately, one or more incorrect skeins, or until he has sufficiently proved that he can easily and unerringly distinguish the correct colours, or else has given unmistakable proof of a difficulty in accomplishing it.

Diagnosis.—An examinee who places with the test skein "incorrect colours"—that is to say, who thinks that they resemble the "test colour"—is colour blind, whilst if he evinces a manifest disposition to do so, though he does not absolutely do so, he has a feeble chromatic sense or sense of colour.

TEST II.—The pink skein, which is labelled No. II, is placed before the candidate. The colour is midway between the lightest and darkest. It only approaches that given as II of the plate, as the colour of the wool is much more brilliant and saturated, and bluer.

Rule.—The trial must be continued until the examinee has placed all or the greater part of the skeins of the same colour near the test skein, or else, together or separately, several incorrect skeins. If he is colour blind he will probably select either the light or deep shades of blue and violet, especially the deep, or the light or deep shades of one kind of green or grey inclining to blue.

TEST III.—The red skein labelled No. III is placed before the candidate. It is necessary to have a vivid red colour, like the red flag used as signals on railways. The colour should be that of III of the plate, rather towards yellowish-red.

Rule.—This test should be continued until the person examined has placed beside the test skein the greater part of the skeins belonging to this hue, or else several "incorrect skeins."

TEST IV.—The purple skein labelled No. IV is placed before the candidate.

Rule.—This test should be continued until the person examined has placed beside the test skein all or nearly all of the skeins belonging to that colour, or else several incorrect skeins. If he is colour blind, he will most probably select any shade of blue or green, also pinks and greys.

TEST V.—The yellow skein labelled No. V is placed before the candidate.

Rule.—This test should be continued until the person examined has placed beside the test skein all or nearly all of the skeins belonging to that colour, or else several incorrect skeins If he is colour blind he will most probably select greenish-yellows, light yellow-greens, fawns and pinks.

Remark.—Every case of comparatively complete colour blindness does not always give precisely the same mistakes. Instances occur of persons who are not completely colour blind, or of completely colour blind persons who have been practised in the colours of signals, and who endeavour not to be discovered. They usually confound at least green and brown, but even this does not always happen.

Mono-chromatic Vision.—The absence of every colour sensation except one will be recognised by the confusion of all the hues, which will appear to be of the same intensity of light or brightness.

SPECIAL INSTRUCTIONS TO EXAMINERS.

In the conduct of the colour test the sole question under consideration is whether or not the candidate has normal colour vision, and in order to answer this question satisfactorily no pains must be spared by the Examiner to make the candidate fully understand what he is expected to do. As the result of the local examination often hinges upon the adequacy or otherwise of the instruction given to the candidate together with the intelligent interpretation of the rules laid down for the guidance of the Examiner, it is very important that Examiners should be able to modify their mode of procedure with different candidates in order to gain the best results from the varied types which come up for examination in these tests.

Before going into the question of how to treat different cases, Examiners should always bear in mind that no amount of verbal explanation is equivalent to practical instruction, and as the test is in no wise vitiated by being seen beforehand, opportunity should be given, when possible, to prospective candidates to see others tested. Candidates undergoing the colour tests may be broadly divided into two classes irrespective of whether they are colour normal or not, viz. (a) those who make a rapid selection of a large number of skeins to the required test; and (b) those who are slow and hesitating.

In the majority of cases the simple request by the Examiner for the candidate to "pick out from the heap of wools all those skeins which are of the same colour—both lighter and darker—as the test skein" will be found sufficient, but where a candidate shows a tendency to pick out a large number of skeins which even remotely resemble the test skein in colour as in (a) he should at once be stopped, and be given to understand that it is not desired that the original test colour should be graded of into another, i.e., by his introduction of, say, yellow-green skeins into the first test, he can easily be shown that a simple graduation of shade will speedily land him in yellow, or a very near approach to it. This can best be demonstrated by the Examiner taking one of the shades of yellow green verging on yellow and placing it beside the test skein at the same time asking the candidate if it is the same colour, when, if the candidate is colour normal, he will very likely at once remark that it is too yellow. The candidate should then be told to return the whole of his selections to the heap, and, after reshuffling them, be made to commence afresh, when in all probability he will understand what is required and the test will be rapidly completed. The same remarks apply to cases where the blue green range of skeins is introduced.

It will be seen that the introduction of these mixed green skeins need not be taken as a positive indication of defective colour vision, as the chances are that these selections are made through ignorance of what is required. Should, however, the candidate introduce amongst the selections any obviously incorrect skeins, i.e., skeins in which there is no green, the Examiner must proceed carefully, noting at the same time any tendency to handle incorrect skeins and to compare them with the test skein. In cases of this kind when there are other candidates up for examination it is best to postpone the trial until the candidate has had an opportunity of seeing what is done by others or, failing this, the Examiner himself should pick out all the correct skeins to the test, showing the candidate what he is expected to do. If the candidate has defective colour vision the same characteristic mistakes will be made. The second case (b)—where a candidate is slow and hesitating—may be due to several causes, nervousness, anxiety as to result, real or fancied defective colour vision, etc. All candidates, the latter especially, must be tactfully dealt with, in order to get the best results from the examination. Candidates of this latter type often evince a tendency to obstruct their own work by gathering up handfuls of the skeins with one or both hands and turning them over without any result, at the same time bending over the wools in a more or less strained position. The Examiner should then quietly tell the candidate to stand back a moment, and having spread out the skeins again tell him to put his hands by his side, look at the heap of wools, and when he thinks he sees a skein of the required colour to pick it up and place it beside the test skein, at the same time showing him practically what he means him to do. This will tend to reassure him, and at the same time give him a chance of seeing the skeins required, and the test should be continued until all or nearly all the correct skeins have been picked out. Again, candidates will be found who show a tendency to compare skeins with the test skein, and if not exactly the same shade (though perhaps quite correct in colour) to reject them. This is very likely due to failure to understand the instructions given by the Examiner, and the candidate should then be reminded that he will find no exact match, but that several shades of the same colour both lighter and darker are to be found in the heap. Should he, however, evince a tendency to compare obviously incorrect skeins with the test skein, careful note should be taken of the colours. Candidates of this type whose colour vision is defective, and who may be aware of the defect, will probably select few wools on the chance that what they pick out may be correct. It is accordingly essential that in all cases a fair number of skeins to each test should be required, as the colour-blind candidate may of course pick out correct skeins as well as incorrect ones, since all look more or less alike to him. The experienced Examiner can usually recognise such cases by the tentative manner in which the various skeins are handled; and although the candidate may not actually compare incorrect skeins with the test skein, the fact that he has seriously handled them with a view to selection should be carefully noted.

When the candidate has successfully passed the first test, as a rule, the other tests will be passed easily; but the same care must be taken to see that the test colour and that only is selected, or if incorrect colours are seriously handled or compared with the test skein, a careful note of them must be taken as before.

In no case should an Examiner pick up incorrectly selected skeins and ask the candidate "Do they match the test"? If the Examiner is not satisfied that the candidate knows what he is expected to do, the whole of the wools should be returned to the heap and the test commenced anew, when, if the candidate is really defective in colour sense, the same characteristic mistakes will be made.

Examiners should bear in mind that these tests should always be conducted in a good light. The skeins of wool should be placed on a table covered with a white cloth or paper of sufficient size so that ample room is given for the candidate to search the heap and place his selections well clear of both the heap of wools and the test skein. It is also advisable that the table should be placed so that a strong sunlight should not fall directly on the wools and white table cover, as this has rather a dazzling effect upon the eyes.

In view of the extreme importance of the proper and efficient conduct of these colour tests Examiners should strictly adhere to the rules laid down, and on no account should candidates be passed who make incorrect selections though they may be subsequently withdrawn, or who seriously handle or compare incorrect skeins. All such cases should be submitted to the Principal Examiner for his decision.

3.—Colour Ignorance Test.

(1) The object of this test is simply to ascertain whether the candidate knows the names of the three colours—red, green, and white—which it is important for every seaman to be acquainted with, and the test is to be confined to naming those colours. Object of test for colour ignorance.

(2) One or two of the purest red and green skeins should be selected from the set of wools, and the candidate should be required to name their colours. He should also be required to name the colour of any white object, such as a piece of white paper. Manner in which the test is to be conducted.

Grounds on which candidates should be treated as having passed or failed.

(3) If he answers correctly he should be considered to have passed the test. If he makes any mistake he should be failed.

(4) The result of every test should be reported to the Government on the Form Exn. 2, and to the Port Officer on the Form Exn. 14, when the candidate is up for examination for a certificate of competency: and to the Government on the Form Exn. 2 A, when the candidate is up for examination in colours only.

All cases of failure should be reported to the Port officer on Form Exn. 17B.

APPENDIX Oa.

The standard in form vision to be required of all candidates prior to January 1, 1914, except when they elect to take the higher standard and thereafter in the case of candidates who already hold certificates of competency is as follows:—

If the candidate can read correctly five of the eight letters in the fifth line from the top of the sheet of letters he may be considered to have passed the test. If he cannot do so, his case should be submitted to the Principal Examiner of Masters and Mates.

Candidates may use both eyes or either eye when being tested for this standard, but the candidate should be tested with at least two sheets of letters, and the test should be conducted in other respects in accordance with the general instructions in Appendix O.

The colour vision and colour ignorance tests are the same for both standards.

Note.—The Examiners should in all cases point out to boys and others coming up for the sight tests that unless they are in possession of a certificate of competency by the 1st January 1914 they will after that date be required to pass the new standand of Form Vision as laid down in Appendix O, whether they are coming up for a certificate of competency or for examination in the Sight Tests only.

Approach to Spencer Gulf—Breakers reported.

No. 494 (first publication).—The President of the Marine Board, Port Adelaide, has given Notice (No. 18 of 1910) that Captain Balliene, of the S.S. Flinders, reports a heavy break about every two minutes in lat. 35° 15′ S. and long. 135° 37′ E. approximately, with Cape Wiles bearing N. ½ E., distant 18½ miles

A break in this locality has often been reported, and was at one time marked on the Admiralty charts, but after an examination of the place by the Admiralty Surveyors during the survey of 1873-1879 it was expunged.

The break having been reported several times afterwards, Captain Weir, in the Marine Board steamer Governor Musgrave, examined the locality, but found no shallow water. It is therefore probably a tide rip which breaks only during a heavy south-west swell.

GENERAL DEPARTMENT.

NOTIFICATIONS.

No. 4915.—The 21st November 1910.—In the year 1903 His Majesty's Secretary of State for India sanctioned as a provisional measure the institution of certain number of scholarships, tenable by natives of India, in Europe or America. The purpose of these scholarships was to provide for natives of India that higher technical education which might qualify them to assist in promoting existing native industries and developing new industries, wherever this might be possible. Technical education for this purpose was defined as (a) the study of the scientific methods and principles underlying the practice of any handicraft, industry or profession, and (b) the application of these methods and principles to the handicraft, industry or profession in question. Law, medicine, civil engineering, forestry and veterinary science, being already provided for, were not included among the subjects to be studied by the holders of the technical scholarships, and agriculture was excluded from the scope of the scheme.

2. The Government of India have decided to award, during the year 1911, one scholarship to each province, provided that the Local Government or Administration concerned has a suitable candidate to nominate, and that its recommendation is submitted in accordance with the principles which are stated in paragraph 5 below, and that the industry to be studied is either already developed or in the process of development.

3. It may, however, happen that owing to the dearth of eligible candidates in certain provinces, two or more scholarships may on occasion be available for allotment to other provinces. If, therefore, a Local Government is in a position to recommend confidently more than one candidate, such recommendation may be submitted to the Government of India. In such cases the candidates need not necessarily be selected for the same industry.

4. As regards the next year, it has been decided that one candidate will, if possible, be recommended for a scholarship in connection with Mechanical and Electrical Engineering. If a second scholarship is allotted to Bengal, a second candidate may be recommended in the same subject. The selection will depend largely on the character of the applications received.

5. The principles in accordance with which recommendations for scholarships will be submitted to the Government of India are as follow:—

(a) In making selections Government will bear in mind the fact that it will be necessary for the students to have a competent knowledge of English, or of the language of any other country to which they may be sent.

(b) Government will also be guided by considerations of the capacity and intelligence of applicants, and of the practical interest shown by them in the industries selected, as also the assurance which they may afford that they will continue to devote themselves to the industries selected on their return in India. These being matters which cannot be decided by competition, it is to be understood that the scholarships are not to be regarded as prizes, for which every one has a right to claim an equal opportunity of competing.

(c) As a general rule, a scholar, before being nominated, should have received the best technical education available in the province in the particular industry which he proposes to study. The standard of this education differs in different industries, and each may be considered on its own merits. Even if the standard of technical education in a particular industry is low, the scholar may be nominated, if he has availed himself of the best facilities obtainable, and shown an interest in the industry selected.

(d) No age limit is fixed for scholars, but an age limit may, at the discretion of Government, be fixed for any particular scholarship for which it invites applications.

6. The following are the conditions and terms on which the scholarships are tenable :—

(a) The value of the scholarships has been fixed at £150 a year, exclusive of fees payable to the institutions, where the scholars will study, and travelling expenses; but in special cases Government will consider proposals for increasing the amount of the scholarships.

(b) In ordinary circumstances the period for which a scholarship is tenable will be two years, but in special cases it may be increased to a third year, or, on the other hand, it may be reduced below even two years.

(c) The scholarships are tenable in foreign countries as well as in Great Britain, and are payable from the date on which a scholar reports his arrival in the country which he may have selected for the purpose of study.

(d) The scholarships are tenable by persons who are natives of India within the meaning of section 6, Statutes 33 and 34 Vic., Cap. 3.

(e) The scholars, while in England or elsewhere, will be under the supervision and control of the Secretary of State. The conditions under which they will hold the scholarships are given in the "Rules for Indian Government Technical Scholars in England," a copy of which is attached to this notification.

7. It is essential, not only in the interests of the scholars themselves, but also in order to avoid unnecessary extensions of scholarships, that the beginning of the period of the scholar's residence in England should coincide with the opening of the academical session of the institution which they propose to enter. It has accordingly been arranged, in consultation with the Secretary of State, that scholars shall report themselves in England not later than the middle of September. It has also been ascertained that it is of no advantage to them to reach England earlier than this, and that consequently they should not ordinarily leave India before the middle of August.

8. The special attention of candidates is invited to the fact that scholars must depend upon their own exertions when they return to India, and that the Government cannot, and does not, undertake to provide them with employment.

9. All applications for scholarships to be awarded during the year 1911 must reach the Director of Public Instruction on or before the 25th February 1911.

10. Applicants for scholarships must file certificates as to (1) moral character and antecedents, (2) educational qualifications, (3) knowledge of the language of the country in which the scholarship is to be held, and (4) physical fitness. Candidates must name the country to which they propose to proceed and the course of studies which they propose to take up while in receipt of scholarships. They should also state whether they have had any actual experience of the industry or industries for which the scholarships are offered.

11. If more than one duly qualified candidate is available, endeavour will be made to reserve one nomination for a Hindi-speaking candidate. If, however, no such candidate is forthcoming, some other qualified candidate who may apply will be recommended.

RULES FOR INDIAN GOVERNMENT TECHNICAL SCHOLARS IN ENGLAND.

1. Every scholar shall, on reaching England, at once present himself to the Secretary, Judicial and Public Department, at the India Office, and report his arrival in writing.

2. Every scholar shall, without any unnecessary delay, inform the Secretary of State to which University or College he is about to proceed, and shall at once take steps to enter himself thereat.

3. Every scholar shall, within four weeks of reaching England, submit, for the approval of the Secretary of State, a statement showing the general course of study he proposes to follow; and the course approved shall not be changed without the sanction of the Secretary of State.

4. Every scholar shall, at the end of each term of residence at a University or College, submit to the Secretary of State a certificate from the proper University or College authority showing that his residence, conduct and progress in study have been satisfactory during the term.

5. Every scholar shall at all times obey such instructions as he may receive from the Secretary of State.

6. Subject to a due compliance with the above conditions, the allowance, at the rate of £150 a year, for two years, or three years, if so determined, will be paid quarterly in advance by the India Office, commencing from the date of the scholar's reporting his arrival in England; but this allowance shall be reduced by the amount of any other sum which may become payable to him out of the revenues of India in respect of residence at a University or College during the same period or any part of it, but not in respect of University or College fees, the cost of which will be separately defrayed by the Secretary of State.

The necessary travelling expenses of scholars, by second class, or by third class, if no second class be available, will also be separately defrayed by the Secretary of State; these should be claimed on forms obtainable from the Accountant-General, India Office, S. W.

Charges for hotel bills are not defrayed.

7. Every scholar will forfeit his scholarship who, not being disabled by illness or prevented by any other cause which the Secretary of State may consider sufficient, fails to complete the required term of residence in England according to the terms and conditions approved by the Secretary of State under rule 3, or who is guilty of misconduct or disregard of the orders of the Secretary of State. If a scholarship be forfeited, the scholar will lose his claim to a free return passage to India, and will further become liable to refund the cost of his fee passage to England.

8. The scholars will be under the special supervision and charge of the Political Aide-de-Camp to the Secretary of State, through whom the necessary orders will be given and to whom all reports and other communications respecting them should be sent.

A break in this locality has often been reported, and was at one time marked on the Admiralty charts, but after an examination of the place by the Admiralty Surveyors during the survey of 1873-1879 it was expunged.

The break having been reported several times afterwards, Captain Weir, in the Marine Board steamer Governor Musgrave, examined the locality, but found no shallow water. It is therefore probably a tide rip which breaks only during a heavy south-west swell.

Approach to Spencer Gulf—Breakers reported.

No. 494 (third publication).—The President of the Marine Board, Port Adelaide, has given Notice (No. 18 of 1910) that Captain Balliene, of the S S. Flinders, reports a heavy break about every two minutes in lat. 35° 15′ S. and long. 135° 37′ E. approximately, with Cape Wiles bearing N. ½ E., distant 18½ miles.

A break in this locality has often been reported, and was at one time marked on the Admiralty charts, but after an examination of the place by the Admiralty Surveyors during the survey of 1873-1879 it was expunged.

The break having been reported several times afterwards, Captain Weir, in the Marine Board steamer Governor Musgrave, examined the locality, but found no shallow water. It is therefore probably a tide rip which breaks only during a heavy south-west swell.

This affects Admiralty chart No. 1061.

RESOLUTION.

READ—

The Embankment and Drainage Reports for the year 1909-10.

The expenditure incurred on works and repairs (exclusive of book charges for establishment and tools and plant) during the year amounted to Rs. 7,72,827, against an average of Rs. 8,93,679 for the four previous years.

2. The total length of embankments of all classes maintained by Government in this Province is 2,156 miles 978 feet, and these protect an area of 8,658,700 acres. During the year under review 3,884 feet of new embankment were constructed in the Orissa Circle. In the South-Western Circle the Schedule D embankments of the Nadia Rivers Division were all resurveyed and measured, and it was found that the length, owing chiefly to errors in previous totals, was as compared with last year's return greater by 10 miles 1,498 feet. There was no change in the Gandak and Northern Circles. These embankments are generally effective against ordinary high floods, but in the South-Western Circle a few are liable to be overtopped and breached during exceptionally high floods.

3 Floods.—The floods during the year were moderate except in the South-Western Circle, where the floods in the Cossye at Midnapore and in the Selye at the end of August rose 9" above the highest previously recorded. At the same time the floods in the Darkeshwar and the Damodar were unusually high. This resulted in the filling up of the basin into which all these rivers spill. Consequently the Chetua Circuit Embankment, the Mohankhally Circuit Embankment and the upper portion of the Rupnarain Left Embankment were all over-topped and breached in places and the crops suffered much damage. In the Damodar river there were four high floods; that on the 31st August reached the highest record of 1907 and the embankment at Naskerpur was breached. A high tidal flood in the Bidyadhari river caused breaches in the Bantra retired line then under construction, and some damage to the Canning Railway. The flood in the Hooghly on the 1st September was the highest on record. In the Orissa Circle the floods were moderate, and no serious damage, except two minor breaches, was done to any of the embankments. In the Gandak Circle the floods were moderately high in all the rivers except the Ganges, but no serious damage resulted.

4. Breaches.—Owing to the unusually high floods in the Midnapore district, two hundred and forty-four breaches occurred in the embankments of this Circle, viz., 67 in the Selye Left Embankment, 50 in the Mohankhally Circuit, 32 in the Panna Circuit, 35 in the Ghatal Circuit, 15 in the Sheikpur Circuit, 43 in the Chetua Circuit and 12 in the Khasbar Circuit embankments, 10 in the takavi embankments, 3 in the Rupnarain embankment and 4 in the Darkeshwar embankments. In the Orissa Circle there were only three minor breaches and none in the Gandak and Northern Circles.

5. Surveys and Investigations.—The following new works were surveyed or investigated during the year:—

Orissa Circle.—The survey of the Subarnarekha river was completed, and preliminary investigations were made for fixing the height and section to which embankments may be constructed in the Bichitrapur estate.

South-Western Circle.—(a) A survey was made of the Chetua Circuit and adjacent rivers in connection with the scheme for lessening the damage done by the floods in the Selye and Damodar rivers.

(b) Gauges were erected for observation of the floods in the spill area of the Damodar in the Gadghat subdivision.

(c) All the Schedule D Embankments in the Cossye Division were surveyed.

(d) Surveys in connection with the following drainage schemes were made: the drainage of the Arapanch Basin into the Peali river; the drainage of the Hara Basin; the drainage of the Ampta Basin and excavation of the Purana khal; the drainage of the town of Berhampore and improvement of the Gobra nala.

6. Original works.—The outlay under this head during the year was Rs. 42,097; this was chiefly expended on the following works:—

Orissa Circle.—Three permanent escapes were completed in the Dya Left Embankment. The raising of the crest of Sea Embankment No. 7 B in the Balasore Division was half completed.

Four embankment sluices were constructed during the year and twelve others were in progress.

South-Western Circle.—The sluice and outfall channel at Sridharpur in the first mile of the Panchthupi Left Embankment was completed.

Northern Circle.—The remodelling of the Gupta embankment was practically completed during the year.

Ganaak Circle.—No original works were done during the year.

7. Ordinary Repairs.—The expenditure during the year was Rs. 3,98,923, which is about normal. But for the numerous breaches in the South-Western Circle, the total expenditure would have been below the normal.

8. Retired lines.—During the year the amount spent on retired lines was Rs. 70,659, against an average of Rs. 67,803 for the four years previous. This excess is chiefly due to heavy expenditure in the South-Western and Orissa Circles. No retired lines were constructed in the Northern Circle.

9. Works undertaken under the provisions of the Drainage Act, VI (B. C.) of 1880.—The Dankuni, Howrah, Rajapur and Burrajolla Drainage Works, in charge of the Executive Engineer, Northern Drainage and Embankment Division, were maintained in good order during the year at a cost of Rs. 29,043 as compared with an average of Rs. 12,819 for the five preceding years. This heavy increase was due to silt clearance of the Rajapur and Baidyabati inner channels, the rebuilding of the out-houses at Seijberriah and the bridge over the Burrajolla channel at Ghoraghatta.

10. Works undertaken under the provisions of the Sanitary Drainage Act, VIII (B. C.) of 1895.—The only work which has as yet been carried on under this Act is the Magra Hât Drainage Scheme in the 24-Parganas district, the object of which is to drain swamps in an area of 290 square miles round Magra Hât in centre of the tract enclosed by the 24-Parganas embankments. This work is estimated to cost Rs. 20,98,898, and the expenditure on it up to date amounts to Rs. 16,74,505, of which Rs. 2,68,474 were spent during the year.

The working of the Diamond Harbour sluice, which was completed during the year and opened in June, has been most successful, and a very large area of what was formerly swamp land has now been drained and excellent paddy crops obtained.

The area of swamp land and land which previously produced no crops is estimated at 100 square miles. This area before the construction of the sluice merely produced a nominal crop. The introduction of the sluice has given over this area a crop which is estimated at 10 maunds of paddy per bigha. At Rs. 2 per maund, the value of this crop would amount to Rs. 38,40,000; the value to the tenantry of the crops on the reclaimed land in only one year approximates to twice the cost of the scheme.

11. Drainage works carried out under the provisions of the Embankment Act, II (B.C.) of 1882.—In the Orissa Circle the Argowal Drainage khal with outfall and sluice was completed at a cost of Rs. 1,43,697. A large number of sluices in the Schedule D Embankments are maintained under the provisions of this Act at the cost of the estates benefited.

12. Drainage works carried out at the cost of Government, but not under the provisions of any Act.—No new works of this description were carried out during the year, but the Bagjolla Drainage Scheme was under consideration, and an estimate for the main drain, amounting to Rs. 1,28,439, was sanctioned towards the end of the year.

Maintenance and Repairs.—The Bullee Bhil Drainage Works in the 24-Parganas district and the Balliaghye branch main and drains and 22 khas tahsil khals in the Midnapore district were maintained by this Department.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of the Resolution be published in the Supplement to the Calcutta Gazette, and that a copy thereof and of the Appendices be submitted to the Government of India, Public Works Department, for information.

Ordered, also, that copies of the Resolution and of its Appendices be forwarded to the Revenue and Financial Departments of this Government, the Secretary to the Board of Revenue, Lower Provinces, the Commissioners of the Presidency, Burdwan, Patna, Tirhut, Bhagalpur, Chota Nagpur and Orissa Divisions, the Director-General of Commercial Intelligence, the Superintending Engineers, Orissa, South-Western, Sone, Gandak and Northern Circles, and the Accountant-General, Bengal, for information.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

RESOLUTION ON THE ADMINISTRATION REPORT OF THE HOWRAH BRIDGE FOR THE YEAR 1909-10.

No. 2803Marine.

Government of Bengal.

MARINE DEPARTMENT.

Dated Calcutta, the 25th November 1910.

RESOLUTION.

Administration Report of the Howrah Bridge for the year 1909-10.

READ—

The Administration Report of the Howrah Bridge for the year 1909-10.

The income of the Bridge during the year amounted to Rs. 2,29,410 and the expenditure to Rs. 2,18,700, as against Rs. 2,24,769 and Rs. 2,30,253, respectively, in 1908-09. There was, therefore, a surplus of Rs. 10,710 on the year's working as compared with a deficit of Rs. 5,484 in the previous year.

2. The receipts from Railway traffic, which constitute the bulk of the income, rose from Rs. 2,01,065 to Rs. 2,07,209 during the year.

The previous year showed a rise in the expenditure, chiefly due to increases under the heads "Establishment" and "Maintenance and Repairs." During the year under review, the expenditure was normal. The Bridge generally is in an excellent state of preservation.

3. The following is a statement of the vessels that passed through the Bridge during 1909-10 and the previous four years:—

	1909-1910.	1908-1909.	1907-1908.	1906-1907.	1905-1906.
